500 Negro Marchers Arrested In Jackson

New Appeal For A-Test Ban Is Told

Proposes Study To Determine Need Of Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Kennedy-Macmillan test-ban appeal to Premier Khrushchev was reported Friday to have proposed a scientific study to determine whether on-the-spot inspections are needed to detect sneak atomic explosions.

The messages from President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to the Soviet leader, delivered in Moscow Friday, mark a continuing Western effort for a breakthrough in the long-deadlocked issue of a nuclear test ban.

The last Kennedy-Macmillan plea, sent to Khrushchev April 24, produced no progress. And U.S. sources hold no great optimism that Khrushchev will respond any more warmly now. The Russians have shown a declining interest in a test ban.

KEEP TRYING

Nonetheless Kennedy was described as believing that the worth of an East-West agreement to halt atomic explosions would be so great that the West should keep on trying for it.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave a clue to the U.S.-British approach, it was understood, in his news conference remarks two days ago.

Rusk said the U.S.-Soviet divergence over whether existing nuclear detection means are adequate is "subject to factual clarification. We think this is something which can be explored scientifically and technically to a positive result."

The inspection issue has featured much of the long test-ban debate. Objecting to inspections inside their territory as a form of espionage, the Russians have contended that any violations of a test ban could be spotted by outside detection systems. The West says on-site inspections are needed.

The question is important at this stage of the debate because the Russians, while agreeing to two or three on-site inspections a year, portray the figure as a matter for political horse trading.

Traffic Sets Memorial Day Record Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The number of persons killed in traffic accidents across the nation during the Memorial Day observance set a record for the one-day holiday.

The final count of highway fatalities showed 159 lives were lost during the 30-hour period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday, local time, and ended at midnight Thursday.

The toll far exceeded the National Safety Council's estimate that 90 to 130 persons would die in traffic accidents during the 30-hour span.

The 19 deaths this year compared with 107 during the 1962 holiday, also a period of 30 hours. In another one-day observance of Memorial Day, in 1951, traffic deaths totaled 81. That is the record low for any one-day holiday.

Latest figures compiled by the council show traffic crashes accounted for 11,630 deaths in the first four months of this year, an average of nearly 100 a day.

While millions of motorists traveled highways during the one-day observance, most workers in states which observe Memorial Day returned to their jobs Friday, precluding an extended weekend holiday. Some Southern states do not recognize the day as a legal holiday.

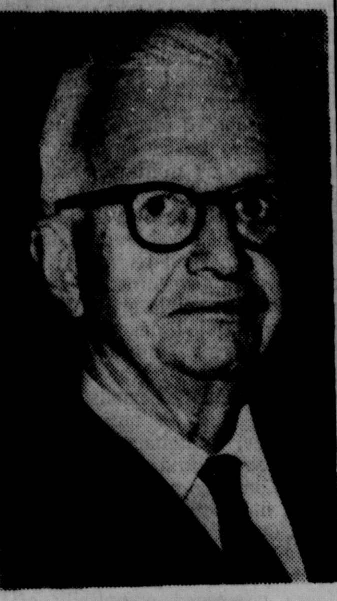
Castro Shown Soviet Rockets

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev was reported Friday to have shown visiting Cuban leader Fidel Castro some of the Soviet Union's strategic rockets which could retaliate against any invasion of Cuba.

The communist Party newspaper Pravda announced the two had visited an unidentified strategic rocket base, believed to be in the Caucasus.

The two leaders left Moscow at the end of the last week for a Black Sea holiday in this region after Khruschev publicly warned that the Soviet Union is committed to defend Cuba, and an invasion could bring the world to a nuclear-missile "catastrophie."

His words were formalized by the Soviet-Cuban communique May 25, which closed the official part of Castro's Soviet visit.



REP. WALTER

Rep. Walter, 69, Victim Of Leukemia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., co-author of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act and long one of the most powerful members of the House, died Friday of leukemia.

He succumbed at 6 p.m. EDT, after being in a coma most of the day.

Walter, 69, had served in the House since 1933 and at his death ranked seventh in seniority among Democratic members.

Walter was chairman of the House judiciary subcommittee on immigration and of the Committee on Un-American Activities, both of which made him powerful and also controversial. As an added bit of power within the House, he was chairman of the Democratic Patronage Committee which dispenses Capitol jobs.

PRESTIGE

Since 1961, he also had been chairman of the House Democratic caucus, a prestige post.

Walter was considered an expert parliamentarian, and often was selected to preside when the House debated its most intricate bills. He was a trusted confidant of the late speaker Sam Rayburn who confided to a friend 10 years ago that Walter was his choice to succeed him.

"Tad" Walter was a study in contradictions. Many members considered him an extremely able, moderate Democrat of valued judgment. Others said he seemed obsessed sometimes with internal security and with defense of his Committee on Un-American Activities. Earlier, he had favored a plan to abolish this committee, and to substitute an internal security subcommittee within the Judiciary Committee.

"He was a devil to the liberals and a hero to the conservatives and they were both wrong," said a a liberal colleague who knew Walter well.

Birthdays

Thursday was more than just Memorial Day to West Monroe's Jeff Burnett, we understand. His biggest memorial may have been the fact that he arrived in this land of opportunity on that date, an undetermined number of years ago.

What we're trying to say is that it was his birthday.

And that's not all, from a West Monroe birthday point of view. Friday was R. P. McKay's.

Monroe birthdays included Police Maj. H. B. Johnson

Sub Photos Reveal Boat With 'Rent'

Found In One Piece At Depth Of Some 8000 Feet

BOSTON (UPI) — First photographs of the sunken submarine Thresher show the vessel apparently in one piece resting on the bottom of the Atlantic at a depth of 8,500 feet, it was disclosed Friday.

The photographs, taken by the research vessel Conrad Thursday, were described by Capt. Frank A. Andrews, commander of the task force conducting the search for Thresher, and Dr. J. Lamar Worzel, assistant director of the Lamont Geological Observatory of Columbia University and senior civilian scientist at the scene.

NOT MADE PUBLIC

Andrews and Worzel arrived in Boston aboard the Conrad Friday. The photographs, which were not made public, were immediately dispatched to the Pentagon and to a Navy court of inquiry investigating the Thresher disaster at Portsmouth, N.H., naval shipyard.

Thresher, a $45 million nuclear attack submarine, vanished in waters 220 miles off the new England Coast on April 10, carrying 129 Navy men and civilian technicians to their deaths in history's worst submarine disaster.

Andrews said the spot where Thresher was found was three-tenths of a mile southwest of latitude 41-44 north, longitude 64-57 west, or in approximately the same area where the submarine tender Skylark last heard from her April 10.

Both Andrews and Worzel agreed that the photographs definitely showed "a rent" in the hull of the submarine. Andrews said the craft still was apparently in one piece and did not break apart.

The pictures, covering an area 20 feet by 30 feet, were among a total of some 300 taken at the scene by a special underwater camera from the Conrad. "We took very thorough pictures at the area," Worzel said.

Worzel told a dramatic story of the tracking down of the doomed submarine. He said Thresher was found by following a trail of debris along the ocean floor and by the discovery of a large groove in the sand where Thresher had been swept along by undersea currents.

He said Conrad's crew had great difficulty in following the trail due to the severe undersea tides and currents in the area.

Andrews said the first solid clue to Thresher's whereabouts came 10 days ago when the research vessel Atlantis II of the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution, photographed some promising debris.

Dredging operations then turned up additional debris which definitely belonged to Thresher, Andrews said.

Then, said Andrews, "We found the track of some object dragging along the sand and followed it." It was Thresher.

The Navy announced the bathyscap Trieste would be dispatched to the area Sunday.

Trieste will probably make her first dive next Thursday after spending about three days en route to the scene.

AT NEXT MEETING

Drennan To Resign As Board Member

Charles G. Drennan of Sterlington said Friday he would resign his post as ward one representative to the Ouachita Parish School Board at the board's next meeting Tuesday night.

Drennan said he is "half-way moved" to West Monroe where he operates a drug store.

"I've enjoyed my work on the board, but the law reads that a member must live in the ward he represents.

"I will be moved in completely by next Tuesday and I intend to submit my formal resignation at the board meeting that night."

Drennan is making his new home at 402 Ferndale in West Monroe.

A member of the school board since 1959 when he was named to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. B. E. Spencer, Drennan was elected to the post last August.

Approximately five and one-half years remain on his present term.

He was elected president of the board in January of 1962, but resigned the job unexpectedly at the last meeting May 21, giving as his reason the increased amount of time taken up in business.

It was Drennan who made the proposal early in May that the city and parish educational systems here establish firmer boundaries, suggesting as a possibility the use of the Ouachita River to divide them. The State Department of Education has been asked in a resolution to review the merits of the proposal.

Drennan attacked the dual operation as wasteful of taxes.

Solons Ask Clear Word On Policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — GOP congressional leaders said Friday should be asked for a "clear and concise" explanation of its policy on major world issues.

"No one seems to know," the joint Republican leadership complained in a statement critical of any "wait and see" policy toward the Communist bloc.

They said House and Senate committees dealing with foreign policy should try to find the answers.

"We have always encouraged a bipartisan approach to foreign policy should try to find the answers.

BIPARTISAN PLAN

"We have always encouraged a bipartisan approach to foreign policy and want to continue to do so," the GOP leaders said. "However, one of the major problems in Washington today is discovering what the Kennedy administration's foreign policy is."

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., House Leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind. and their leadership colleagues said "no one seems to know" that the Kennedy policy is toward Russia and its satellites, Cuba or the Kennedy-Khrushchev Cuban on-site inspection agreement, or toward "Communist - threatened" Laos, Brazil, Venezuela and Guiana.

The Republicans also said:

"President Kennedy's so-called grand design for Europe is now inoperative and has been for many months.

"The administration's policy of concessions to the Soviet Union in the nuclear test ban negotiations has only resulted in the Russians becoming bolder in blocking a treaty.

"The NATO alliance, despite a modest recovery attempt last week at Ottawa, is a doubtful condition, and most of its members, including Britain, France, Canada, the Netherlands, Belgium and Portugal, have been aggrieved by one policy mishap or another sponsored by the Kennedy administration."

Sen. Cleveland Is Dismissed Of Indictment

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La. (AP) —Dist. Judge John R. Rarick ruled Friday he had no jurisdiction to try State Sen. W. J. Cleveland on a public contract fraud and dismissed him from the west Feliciana Parish grand jury indictment.

Dist. Atty. Richard Kilbourne said he would appeal the judge's ruling to the State Supreme Court.

Cleveland, a top legislative leader for the administration of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, had been accused of using his position to influence the sales of tires and tubes to the state penitentiary at Angola.

The star witness at Friday's hearing was Guy Martin; state purchasing officer, who testified Cleveland did not use his influence on him.

Martin told the court he always made it a practice in filling purchase orders to give them to "people that would be friendly to this administration."

Martin testified that he handled $23 million in state purchases during the year in which Cleveland was accused of selling to the state.

After Judge Rarick decided the senator had to go to trial, the defense began seeking consideration of 52 motions, including efforts to obtain dismissal of the case on various technicalities.

Dist. Atty. Richard Kilbourn said the "defense turned a preliminary hearing into a virtual trial."

Kilbourn said testimony by both the prosecution and defense showed that Cleveland's firm sold at least $10,000 worth of tires and tubes to the prison during the year's span.

The defense argued that the tires and tubes actually were sold to the prison by Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. and that payment went to the company.

Sharp Split Reported In Common Mart

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Western Europe's Common Market split sharply Friday on whether it should work closely with Britain in the hope that Britain one day will be able to join.

France opposed such cooperation. The other five nations, led by West Germany, pressed for it hard, but in vain.

Lugwig Erhard, the man expected to be West Germany's next chancellor, left the meeting of market cabinet ministers saying: "I don't give up hope, but no agreement was possible today."

TO MEET AGAIN

The ministers decided to discuss the matter again June 18, but Erhard told newsmen: "I don't think the problem will be ripe for discussion then."

President Charles de Gaulle plans to see Erhard in Bonn June 5. It will be the first top-level policy consultation between France and West Germany under their new treaty.

The treaty was signed shortly after De Gaulle had vetoed British entry into the six-nation Common Market last January. What to do next about cooperation with the British has been an issue between France and West Germany ever since.

The intervening six months have seen a virtual standstill in the work of the Common Market, which seeks to unify the economies of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxenbourg. All but France wanted Britain to join.

Partly Cloudy, Warm Predicted

Still the same forecast for today and Sunday, reports our weatherman.

Sunday's forecast is for a few afternoon or evening thundershowers.

REGAINS CONSCIOUSNESS

Pope John Wages Fight Against Death

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII waged a stubborn fight against death Saturday. The pontiff, 81, sank into a coma, and a medical bulletin sid he was dying slowly, but shortly thereafter the Vatican announced he had regained consciousness and blessed relatives in his sick room.

The Vatican Radio held out no hope for the Pope's recovery.

But news of his resistance to death and his sudden regaining of consciousness was carried to the press room by Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state, who was in the Pope's bedroom at the time.

The archbishop said the Pope was conscious long enough to give his blessing individually to relatives and prelates in the room.

However, a Vatican broadcast a short time earlier had said "every human hope of a comeback was excluded."

The Vatican Radio indicated the Pope had lapsed back into coma, it said: "On the condition of the Holy Father, there is nothing new regarding its gravity, notwithstanding the very brief regaining of sensws which took place about 3 a.m. (9 p.m. EST Friday), allowing him to recognize and bless his own relatives and to invoke repeatedly the holy names of Jesus.

"About the brief regaining of consciousness, the judgment of the doctors remains what it was previously, that is, confirming the extreme gravity of the moment."

A Vatican source said the period of consciousness had continued for less than an hour and the Pope then lapsed into alternating peri-

Ecuador Rejects Rusk's Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) —Ecuador rejected Friday Secretary of State Dean Rusk's plea for release of two seized U.S. tuna boats to pave the way for friendly settlement of the U.S.-Ecuadorean fishing dispute.

Instead, the State Department reported, Ecuador said it had taken the two San Diego-based boats—the Ranger and the White Star—into the port of Salinas where they will be subject to the procedures of Ecuadorean law.

JOINS WITH MILLIONS

Red Chief Wishes Recovery For Pope

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev joined millions east and west of the Iron Curtain Friday in wishes for the recovery of Pope John XXIII.

Khrushchev cabled the pontiff "from the bottom of my heart" his hopes for a quick recovery and praised the Pope's efforts for peace.

The Soviet press front-paged Khrushchev's cable as millions of Catholics in Eastern Europe joined other Catholics, Jews and Protestants in prayers for the Pope's recovery.

Europeans were stunned by the news that what early editions of their afternoon newspapers had told them was an improvement in the Pope's grave condition suddenly suffered a reverse.

Patriarch Alexis, head of the Russian Orthodox Church in Moscoe, telephoned the Vatican asking for news of the Pope's fight for life two days ago, Vatican officials said.

"With deep sorrow we learn about the worsening condition of your health. This news has caused us serious concern," Khrushchev said. "I wish from the bottom of my heart you will get well and the further successful continuation of your fruitful activities for strengthening of peace and peaceful cooperation between peoples."

East and West Berliners first learned of the sudden weakening of the Pope through Western radio broadcasts.

The East German news service ADN and East Berlin Radio carried a brief report the condition of the Pope had worsened and also reported Khrushchev's cable to him.

In Paris, President Charles de Gaulle sent word to the Vatican Friday that he and the French people are praying for the Pope.

Youths Stage First Mass Race Protest

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) —Some 500 chanting Negro youths staged a civil rights march Friday through a business district but were arrested after two blocks when they ran into a human barricade of helmeted police.

Still chanting, the Negroes were loaded into garbage trucks, water department trucks, city labor trucks and hauled off to a vast stockade to join about 100 other Negroes arrested earlier.

It was the first march conducted by Negroes who began a series of anti-segregation demonstrations in this capital city Tuesday.

The first boy to reach the barricade scuffled briefly with policemen when they took away from him a small American flag. He was tossed into a truck. The others climbed peacefully aboard the vehicles still chanting "we want freedom" and "we shall not be moved."

75 POLICEMEN

Some 75 blue-helmeted policemen standing two and three deep formed across the street and sidewalks to halt the march, which began with a gathering at a Negro church.

As the wholesale arrests were being made, the state highway patrol was sent into action in the city. Some 60 troopers, wearing helmets and carrying riot guns, marched into the area to assist police.

The students were hauled away in nine trucks which made return trips to carry the Negroes to a jail at the state fairgrounds.

About 100 other Negroes were already in the stockade. They were arrested earlier Friday.

At Tallahassee, Fla., another of the South's racial hot spots, a circuit court judge dismissed contempt of court charges against the 220 Negroes who had been arrested for demonstrating. Judge Ben C. Willis said the young Negroes could continue their picketing of two segregated theaters

Work Rushed On Package Of Rights Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Justice Department attorneys rushed work Friday on a two-part civil rights legislative package aimed at desegregating schools and just about all business establishments open to the public.

President Kennedy may send the proposed legislation to Congress by the middle of next week, but the timetable still was uncertain.

One bill is designed to wipe out racial barriers in public facilities. It was said to cover, with some exceptions, hotels, motels, retail stores, sports stadiums, movie houses, legitimate theater, restaurants and exhibition halls.

The exceptions would be small hotels, motels stores and restaurants which are family-owned or have a low volume of business.

The second bill is designed to reduce delay in school integration. It would allow the attorney general to file suits on behalf of Negroes, cutting down the time spent on litigation. It would encourage communities to adopt integration plans with federal help.

Anniversary Of Tragic Atlanta Crash Recalled

ATLANTA (UPI) — Fifty - two Sundays ago, newly elected Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen was relaxing on his farm in the suburbs before plunging into the problems of his new administration.

In the city, children and their parents were preparing for Sunday school and church on a brilliant early summer morning down South.

For many families, it was an especially important day. It was homecoming day for 122 Atlanta art lovers who were flying in from Paris after a month of touring European art centers and points of ancient historical interest.

Letters home had described the trip in ecstatic terms, but loved ones were waiting with keen anticipation to get all the details from the homebound travelers.

Shortly before 7 a.m. EDT, first details began to hit the city of a massive tragedy that wrenched the lazy summer day from lethargy to agony. The Air France charter jet bringing the Atlanta group home had crashed on takeoff from Paris. The death toll: 134.

Allen had to throttle down his tractor to hear the telephoned information that was brought to him. He leaped into his car and sped into town. He was en route to Paris before the day was over.

Clergymen, preparing for Sunday sermons, shifted to the task of consoling the bereaved families.

Almost in a daze, the city moved through that first day with the sheer magnitude of the tragedy serving almost as an anasthetic.

The crash, as Atlanta Art Association President James V. Carmichael pointed out, wiped out almost all the leadership of the then struggling association, plus many of the city's cultural prime movers.

Sunday afternoon traffic was heavy on the city's fashionable North Side where most of the victims lived. Friends went from one home to another to express sympathies for the victims of this crash had been closely knit interlocking set of friends.

"I knew most of them closely," Allen said. "We were young together."

That was June 3, 1962, the date of the world's worst single air disaster.

In the year that has passed, time has smoothed some of the sharp emotional edges of the tragedy. But some of the scars remain.

A home, disrupted and put up for sale after two of its residents were killed, still has a "for sale" sign. Some families have never reconciled their lives to the new status produced by the tragedy.

But out of the deaths there also came new life — renaissance it's called in France where the crash occurred.

The Atlanta Art Association, long an organization propped up by the enthusiasm of a few wealthy art lovers, suddenly became the visiting place for thousands. Art treasures from other lands began turning up on loan.

A financial campaign, tried before without notable success, became fairly easy. People whose art tastes had stopped at country landscapes and who had known none of the plane victims contributed to the fund.

The tragic events of a year ago became the springboard for a complete reorganization of the Art Association and its Atlanta School of Art.

The art association is now thinking in terms of a $3 million fund to finance a new art school and endowment. Such a figure would have been unthinkable a year ago. The crash spurred membership to a present 3,000, an all-time high.

Ripples from the wave of tragedy produced humanitarian as well as cultural results.

Milton Bevington, 35-year-old owner of an air conditioning firm and father of three young boys, lost his wife and her mother in the crash at Orly Airport. On impulse, he had flown to France on the last stages of the art tour and had joined his wife, Betsy, for a few gala days and nights in Paris before they went to the airport.

The two had agreed earlier that both would never fly together. In event of an accident, they didn't want their children to become orphans. Bevington was to take a plane home that left Orly an hour after the chartered "Chateau de Sully" (Sully's House) was to take off with the art group.

Bevington witnessed the crash, stayed through the agonizing hours that followed, then returned home to pick up the pieces of life for himself and his three sons.

Without an organized campaign, more than $100,000 has been given or pledged to the foundation.

AT TALLAHASSEE

Contempt Charges Against 222 Negroes Are Dismissed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A state judge dismissed contempt of court charges against 222 Negro segregation protesters Friday and recognized their right to picket and protest peacefully.

The decision by Circuit Court Judge Ben C. Willis came after a conference with attorneys for the Negroes and the two white theaters which had been the target of the demonstrations for the past 10 evenings.

In a statement later, Tobias Simon of Miami, attorney for most of the Negroes, told the group which packed the 450-seat courtroom: "We have achieved a great and sweeping victory, a tremendous victory. This is the first and only time in a Southern state has the right of a Negro to picket a white establishment been recognized and put into an order.

"I predict it (the protests) will be effective and the day of segregated theaters in Tallahassee will come to end very shortly."

"We now demand that the theater doors be opened to all, regardless of race, color or creed."

In addition, Simon announced plans to file damage suits against the theaters in behalf of Negroes arrested in the demonstrations on grounds the theater action in obtaining the restraining order was illegal.

"A lawsuit will be instituted for the arrests, indignities and humiliations the silly segregationists have subjected you to," he said.

"Today's action is an excellent example of the fact that the courts are color blind," he said.

In closing, Simon urged the Negroes to obey the judge's order calling for peaceful picketing and limiting pickets to 18 before the Florida Theater and 10 before the State Theater, where the sidewalk is narrower.

Other restrictions the court placed upon picketing included:

No derogatory or defamatory signs or signs urging boycott of the theater.

No interference with the operations of the theater.

No blocking of the doors or sidewalk.

No entering the theater without permission.

Judge Willis issued his restraining order Thursday upon request of the manager of the two white theaters.

Two hours later Negroes massed before the theater quietly. They did not block the door, but they picketed on the sidewalk with "freedom" signs. Included in the group were 33 juveniles under age 17 and Harold D. Taylor of Tallahassee, a white Florida State University sophomore.

There was no violence but the more than 200 demonstrators were arrested after a warning, then released either upon identification by school officials or upon $100 bonds.

Three kept overnight for lack of identification or bond were released from the contempt charges Friday after they had told the judge they were unaware of his order and promised to obey it.

One, a waiter, said he was a spectator caught up in the mass arrests.

When Circuit Court opened nearly 500 students marched in a line five blocks long from the university campus a mile away and jammed the courtroom.

Shortly before leaving the campus, a student leader told the group: 'If the court ruling is favorable, we will consider before taking further action. If it is not, demonstrations will continue. Be confident."

Because attorneys for the arrested Negroes had no time to confer over the issues, Willis permitted several delays in the hearings. Each time he cautioned the Negroes against creating disturbances.

About an hour after the first mass arrests Thursday some 200 Negroes gathered on the university campus and marched toward town.

When the marches ignored orders to halt, the police broke up the demonstration with tear gas.

Mayor Sam Teague said 37 had been arrested in this group and charged with unlawful assembly and refusal to obey a police order. They will be tried in City Court Monday.

In racial developments elsewhere:

Violence broke out in Philadelphia again Friday, the third and worst outbreak at a city school construction site. Two policement were slashed on the wrists, four other officers were hit, and seven demonstrators were injured.

The melee was followed by the announcment of an agreement settling a dispute over alleged job discrimination. Four Negroes—a plumber, steam fitter, and two electricians—were given jobs on the project.

About 500 Negroes cheered as the four men marched through wire gates to join other workmen on the school job.

In Sacramento, Calif., 20 persons, mostly white, slept for the second night in the rotunda of the Capitol. The demonstrators, sponsored by the Congress of Racial Equality, said that they planned to continue their activity until "a strong, fair housing bill" is enacted.

Northeast Frat Set To Present Study Award

The Northeast State Scholarship Foundation is to be presented a $400 scholarship by Zeta chapter of Pi Sigma Epsilon, national sales, marketing and sales management fraternity.

The purpose of the award is to promote sales, marketing and sales management as a career. Louisiana high school seniors registering in this field at Northeast are eligible for the award.

This is the first scholarship given by a student organization at Northeast, according to Garland Shell, president of the Northeast Scholarship Foundation.

Funds for the award are provided by the chapter's sales projects, which are designed to give actual marketing experience to members.

The chapter will work along with the Foundation in selecting candidates.

BY BRITISH LABOR PARTY LEADER

Administration Is Urged To Slow Joint Navy Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Labor party leader who could be Britain's next foreign minister is urging President Kennedy and other administration leaders to slow down their drive to organize a new kind of jointly owned and manned nuclear navy among Britain, West Germany and other allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The arguments presented to the President by Patrick Gordon Walker reflect considerable opposition to the U.S. multinational force program in Britain as well as uncertainty about the outcome of the next British election.

The arguments are rooted in a Labor party policy of trying to get rid of Britain's independent nuclear force and at the same time gain a powerful new voice for the major European allies in determination of U.S. nuclear strategy.

Walker spent about 40 minutes talking with Kennedy at the White House on Wednesday. He is also conferring with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The Kennedy administration presently is committed to a program of trying to get the new nuclear force proposal into treaty form around the first of next year. This represents a delay of three or four months from earlier, hopeful estimates that a treaty might be ready for presentation to the Senate around the first of September this year.

This delay seems to be due to the fact that the United States has had to take more time than it originally allowed to persuade West Germany, Italy and Britain that the proposed force of 200 Polaris missiles based on 20 or 25 surface ships is militarily practical and worth the estimated cost of around $5 billion over 10 years.

Despite considerable opposition to the plan in West Germany, the West German government has approved it in principle and is ready for more detailed negotiation.

The Kennedy administration sees the proposal as an alternative to expected demands someday for a German national nuclear force, matching those of France and Britain. But the administration does not want a U.S.-German nuclear partnership even as it is opposed to a French-Germa, nuclear merger.

Kennedy is aiming therefore at a force composed essentially of the United States, West Germany, Italy and Britain.

Washington hopes for participation also by Canada, Greece, Turkey, Belgium and the Netherlands. But Italian or British participation is presently considered essential.

The outgoing Italian government of Premier Amintore Fanfani seems disposed to approve the proposal. The prospective new government resulting from last April's elections will need time to form a policy. This makes Britain's position critical for U.S. planning.

So far, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government has taken the position it is favorably inclined to a multinational nuclear force but wants to know all the details before making a commitment. Diplomats say there is strong opposition in the British navy which does not like surface ships as much as Polaris submarines and deplores the idea of mixed manning of the nuclear navy.

Walker argues that there is an even more powerful reason for the United States to slow its campaign. The present British government must hold elections by October 1964. The present betting is that Macmillan will call for the voting next May although he might act even earlier, perhaps in October of this year as Walker and his Labor associates see the prospect.

What Walker has asked U.S. officials to consider is stalling off a final commitment to give more time for discussion set up a schedule which would put off the signing of a treaty until after British elections.

There was no evidence of any administration interest in a slowdown. The Defense Department is sending Adm. Claude V. Ricketts vice chief of naval operations, to London next week to try to persuade the British that all the military problems can readily be solved.

IN PHILADELPHIA

Job Discrimination Racial Strife Ends

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A week of racial strife over alleged job discrimination by some labor unions was ended Friday by an agreement, but not before police and Negro demonstrators had clashed anew at a school construction site.

Eight policemen and at least seven of the pickets posted by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People were slightly hurt in a brief melee. Police were escorting workmen onto the site, and, as throughout the series of demonstrations, the pickets tried to stop them.

Friday's outbreak of violence was described by authorities as the sharpest since the trouble began.

The settlement—reached by the NAACP, the Philadelphia Building Trades Council, and the Board of Education — opened the door to union membership to four Negro workmen — a plumber, a steamfitter, and two electricians' helpers. The four were promptly put to work on the school project.

Jubilantly swinging their lunch kits, the four trooped through the gates as demonstrators cheered, cried out "amens," or sang Gospel hymns.

Cecil B. Moore, local director of the NAACP, making the announcement of settlement at the site, said: "Your efforts, patience, forebearance, suffering and pain are about to bear fruit."

"We think," he added "that this is the first step toward solving the problem of economic deprivation of the Negro."

The agreement was forged in an all-night meeting. The only dissent came from a Steam Fitters Union Local which withheld ratification. This did not, however, keep the Negro steam fitter from employment of the school project.

Conditions Of Four Injured Are Unchanged

The conditions of four Twin City residents severely injured in recent automobile accidents was reported unchanged or showing slight improvements Friday.

Two of the persons, injured in a train-car wreck at Riverton a week ago, are in St. Francis hospital while the remaining two are in Glenwood hospital in West Monroe.

In the West Monroe hospital, Charles G. Wall Jr., real estate and insurance businessman and former president of the Ouachita parish school board, was reported "holding his own." He is still in critical condition, suffering multiple injuries from a two-car collision on Highway 80 late Tuesday. The other victim of the wreck, Mrs Margie Lipsey, 29, of 109 New Natchitoches Rd., also in Glenwood, is still in serious condition and will be in the hospital "for some time," according to her family.

In Monroe, Mrs. Joyce Turpin Brakefield, 505 Roselawn Ave., Monroe, is reported to be showing some improvement, but remains in critical condition. The second injury in the train-car wreck, Mrs. Malise Mapp Russell, also remains in serious condition, but is possibly showing some slight improvement.

Pope John Wages Fight Against Death

ods of unconsciousness and clarity.

While crowds in majestic St. Peter's Square kept an anxious vigil—kneeling on the ancient cobblestonesl praying, weeping—the Pope rallied long enough to talk with one of his doctors, Dr. Pietro Valdoni.

"With death a new life starts, the glorification of Christ," the Pope was quoted by the Vatican Press Office as telling the doctor.

There was one report that the Pope also had conversed with a niece, asking her about his home village, Sotto Il Monte, in northern Italy.

A nephew of the Pope, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Giovanbattista Roncalli, said Mass in a room next to the pontiff's.

A Vatican broadcast said there was no hope for recovery.

At 4:30 a.m. (10:30 p.m. EST Friday) a Vatican Press Office communique said the Pope had been lucid, had sat up in his bed and kissed a crucifix. It said he talked with his brothers in the Italian dialect of Bergamo, his home district, and that later he sipped coffee from a cup he held in his own hands.

Repeatedly the Pope recited phrases from the Scriptures.

The communique concluded, however, that doctors have made known "that such a rally is common in peritonitis cases."

"This, therefore, must not raise any illusions. The condition remains grave."

The Vatican Radio announced at 5:30 a.m. (11:30 p.m. EST Friday) that there were no developments in the Pope's condition. It indicated it felt the immediate urgency had passed.

"Vatican Radio is going off the air," the announcer said. "We shall return when an emergency arises."

"Despite the long agony which has lasted almost four hours with the loss of consciousness and difficulty in breathing," the Vatican Radio said, "the pulse remains strong and regular. The strong fiber of the Pope resists the extreme assaults of his sickness."

The Italians use the word agony to describe the final throes before death, and it does not necessarily mean pain is involved.

The Pope was reported periodically unconscious throughout much of the long nighttime vigil at his deathbed.

The stout heart of the pontiff battled stubbornly with death, but [illegible]ican officials appeared to have [illegible]en up hope from the moment [illegible]e Pope slipped from pain into merciful unconsciousness.

The Pope, 81, was brought to the edge of death by peritonitis, which aggravated his condition, already severely weakened by an internal stomach growth which could have been a tumor or cancer. This had caused bad hemorrhaging.

An English-language Vatican Radio broadcast at 2:30 a.m. (9:30 p.m. EST Friday) referred to the Pope's stomach growth as a tumor. It was the first time a Vatican authority had been so specific about his ailment.

The broadcast said infection spread by the tumor had brought on the Pope's condition.

The radio said the Pope had been placed under an oxygen tent Friday afternoon, that he had lost consciousness at 8:40 p.m.

At 1:45 a.m. Saturday (7:45 p.m. EST Friday) the Vatican Press Office said the Pope's breathing was labored. Oxygen had been administered as long before as Friday afternoon.

But the spiritual 3rd graf tarl.

But the spiritual ruler of the world's half billion Roman Catholics clung to life. His heart was reported beating strongly 24 hours after his gravest crisis had struck.

Throughout a long, tense day the supreme pontiff of the Catholic Church hovered between life and death while the world outside joined in prayers for him.

At 10:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. EST) Friday the Vatican Radio said the Pope had "entered into agony," the final throes before death. It said "he suffers no more—he is passing away."

Those who saw him on his cast-iron bed in the apostolic palace said his face was serene and that he did not show his suffering.

A half hour later Vatican press officials reported the Pope's pulse still was good and his breathing calm. They said he might live for hours.

The pontiff, who had described himself as "very ready" for death, was brought to its tnreshold by peritonitis that struck when he was already weakened by an internal stomach growth.

The dread infection came suddenly after Thursday midnight, bringing his doctors rushing to his bedside. Hours before they had reported him rallying strongly.

Shortly after noon Friday the Vatican revealed the Pope's perilous condition. About the same time he requested and received extreme unction, the last rites of the church.

The word went out to the world's Roman Catholic millions: "Pray."

In Rome people went by the thousands to St. Peter's Square. Through the afternoon, through the golden Roman sunset, through the night they stood in the square and occasionally kneeled on the cobblestones to pray.

Vatican officials reported they had administered oxygen to bolster him and had given him tranquilizers to ease his pain.

Bit by bit the reports told a story of decreasing hope.

But as he lived into the new day, officials said, Pope John was resisting and perhaps could go on for hours.

As the night wore on the crowds swelled in ancient St. Peter's Square. Some knelled on cobblestones to pray. Some wept.

Many huddled about portable radios to listen for news of the Pope's condition.

In the apostolic apartment overlooking the square the cardinals, princes of the church, visited singly, and in groups Friday.

Among the prelates at the bedside was Archbishop Josyf Slipyi, primate of the Roman Catholic Ukrainians. The bearded archbishop was released last February after 18 years of confinement in Siberia. His release came amidst new contacts between the Vatican and the Communist world, contacts that had been fostered by Pope John in an effort to ease the plight of Catholics behind the Iron Curtain.

Late in the evening Friday when the Pope was near unconsciousness, his closest relatives, three brothers an a widowed sister, entered his room. They had sped to Rome from Sotto Il Monte in northern Italy on hearing of the Pontiff's relapse.

At first, said Vatican sources, the Pope did not recognize his relatives but then realized for an instant who they were. The brothers and sister did not leave the papal apartment, and the doctors remained at the bedside doing what they could for the dying Pope.

A Vatican informant said there was little that could be done.

Around the Eternal City churches remained open late into the night, and parishoners came to pray.

At the Pope's birthplace in Sotto Il Monte dozens of his relatives went to the tiny parish church to pray for the man they knew as Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli.

In Milan's great cathedral priests took turns leading people in prayers.

The Vatican Radio announced it would remain on the air through the night.

An early Saturday Vatican broadcast said the pontiff's "slow agony is continuing in an absence of consciousness and sensibility."

The broadcast added the doctors had confirmed "the slow approach of the inevitable event," and one Vatican broadcast in German referred to the Pope's bedroom as his "death chamber."

Ambassadors accredited to the Vatican gathered in a hail outside the apartment. Giovanni Cardinal Urbani, patiarch of Venice and one of the Pope's closest friends, entered the papal apartment after midnight. The cardinal came to Vatican City from Venice, where Pope John himself had been patriarch before his elevation in 1958.

A Vatican Curia member, Bishop Giovanni Battista Scapinelli di Leguigno, emerging from the pontiff's apartment, said the dying Pope's face was "very, very serene."

An Irish-born member of the Curia, Michael Cardinal Browne, was shown into the Pope's apartment and remained there to pray.

Italian Saturday morning newspapers told of the Pope's struggle. The Communist paper, L'Unita, bannered the news.

Late Friday night Raimondo Manzini, director of the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano, said there appeared nothing more could be done for the pontiff.

The 81-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff suffered a grave relapse Friday and the Vatien press office nnounced t 6:45 p.m. there hd ben a further deterioration in his condition.

A Vatican source said the Pope, who had been talking clearly, had difficulty with his speech in the evening. This informant reported that the Pope, as his condition worsened, prayed to himself.

To those around the bed he said that, "on thepoint of leaving," he wished to thank them again. He repeated wishes he haduexpressed earlier for success of the Ecumenical Council which is now in recess, the Church and peace.

An unconfirmed report said the Pope later lost consciousness.

A medical bulletin issued by the Vatican press office said the crisis was caused by peritonitis, an inflammation of abdominal tissue.

This complicated effects of Hemorrhaging from an abnormal growth in the stomach that had bothered the Pope for a year. The growth has been diagnosed as heteroplasia, which could mean a benign tumor, a cancer, or an overgrowth of normal tissue.

so long as they limited the number of pickets, not carry signs derogatory to the theaters and not interfere with the entrance and exit of customers.

About 600 students who boycotted classes at Florida A&M University to sit in on the hearing gave a cheer when the judge rendered his decision.

An estimated 150 state troopers and county officers have moved into Jackson in the past few days. About 100 of these are reported to be highway patrolmen especially trained in riot control.

More than 500 students at a Negro junior-senior high school staged a rowdy demonstration in Jackson Thursday, pelting police with rocks and bottles. Two arrests were made at the school and 25 other demonstrators were taken into custody in the downtown area.

Police took no chances Friday. They had six paddy wagons and six trucks ready to haul off demonstrators. The state fairgrounds has been converted into a temporary prison and city officials say they now could handlc up to 10,000 prisoners.

The attempt to serve a subpoena on Gov. Wallace was carried out by three U.S. marshals, who were blocked by helmeted state troopers and two bodyguards who ringed the governor.

The subpoena directs Wallace to appear Monday at a federal court hearing on a government suit to enjoin him from interfering with the admission of two Negroes to the University of Alabama.

In other developments Friday, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy sent Burke Marshall, his top aide in the civil rights field, to Birmingham to argue the government's case for an injunction to block Wallace from interferring with the University of Alabama desegregation, and the university itself announced it has set up news centers to help newsmen in their coverage of the event.

TWO OFFICERS on the Monroe Police Department retired Friday after more than 21 years with the force. Capt. Allen Corbin, (left) had been with the department for 22 years, while Maj. Jack Davis (right) served 21 years. The department gave a party in honor of the two men Friday at the police lounge and presented the men with a momento of their service. Davis was given a watch, while Corbin was presented with a .16 gauge automatic shotgun. Corbin and Davis are shown talking with Police Chief James C. Kelly. Davis was in charge of traffic and maintenance in the department, and was presented by the motorcycle division of the force with a flyrod, automatic reel and tackle box. Corbin, in charge of the morning shift, recalled working a 12-hour, seven-day week when he came on the force, noting the advanced growth of the department. (Staff photo by Art Smith)

Negroes To March In Protest In Detroit In July

By JAMES STICKFORD

DETROIT (UPI) —Negroes plan a massive protest march in downtown Detroit next month and expect 100,000 persons to take part in the peaceful demonstration.

The demonstration is scheduled to be held June 23 in sympathy of the plight of southern Negroes. It also marks the 20th anniversary of a vicious race riot that ripped the Motor City and left 35 dead before it was brought under control.

Racial tension is a part of the everyday life of the nation's fifth largest city where the Negro population has increased to 30 per cent of the total.

Some Negroes say the unrest is reaching the critical point and others say they frankly do not know. Police Commissioner George Edwards said that "the thing normally termed as racial tension is not too great in Detroit."

But he added, "This is a big city and the possibility of trouble always exists."

Negro leaders agree that anything can happen.

"We can't project with any certainty a serious outbreak of racial conflict in Detroit but we have potential for serious trouble," Arthur L. Johnson, executive director of the Detroit chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), said.

Francis A. Kornegay, executive director of the Detroit Urban League, echoed his sentiments.

"It seems to be an explosive situation," he said. "For years things have not been well and Negroes have swallowed things that should not exist. When fires are set off in other parts of the country things sometimes get set off here. It's a chain reaction. I frankly don't know what's going to happen."

A look at statistics could best explain the situation:

—In 1950, the total population of Detroit was 1,849,568 persons, and 300,506 were Negroes. But the 1960 census showed the population of the city dropped to 1,670,144 and the Negro population rose to 482,222.

—About two-thirds of the men and women prosecuted for criminal offenses in Detroit are Negroes.

—About 80 per cent of the persons on relief in Detroit are Negroes.

—Seventeen per cent of the city's Negro population is unemployed compared with about 5 per cent of the white population.

—At the last count, when the Negro population of the city was 350,750, almost one-third, 105,000 of them, were jammed into a small area on the near East Side. Johnson said he expected the proportion would be valid today.

Many Visitors

The West Monroe Kiwanis Club had another good meeting last week evidently. They again drew a goodly number of visitors, at any rate.

Over the Monroe Club were James Brooks, Pascal Norris, Ben Parnell and John Adair, while from the North Monroe Club came Fred Brownlee and Tony Lewis.

Fond Farewell

Two young ladies said farewell to the many friends they had made at the Ouachita Parish sheriff's office Friday after having worked for almost nine months at the department.

The pair, graduating seniors from West Monroe High School, have been working half a day at the office under a school sponsored office education program. Jes Ramblin takes this opportunity to wish both of them luck in their future plans. They are Misses Donna McClung and Rita Mann.

JFK Programs Opposed

Proof of the mounting frustrations of the citizens of this country with Kennedy's New Frontier programs was shown graphically in polls conducted on a number of the leading issues of today.

The polls were those conducted by some Republican members of Congress.

One fact that may surprise those in the north was that the poll revealed that 64.6 per cent of the people are opposed to the Kennedy administration's handling of civil rights. The poll was taken before the mass demonstrations in Birmingham, before the Kennedys announced their intention to use troops, if necessary, to prevent Birmingham citizens from resisting trespassing and intrusion and before the United Supreme Court issued its shocking decision that Negroes have a right to trespass on private property if they do so in the cause of integration. It was also issued before Negroes announced plans for mass integration drives in the north. Undoubtedly, opposition to the Kennedy civil rights program will shoot up even higher on the basis of these appalling actions against individual rights of citizens.

Among other things, the questionnaire asked: "What do you consider the most important problem, either foreign or domestic, confronting the nation today?" Responses included: The menace of communism, Cuba, fiscal irresponsibility, creeping socialism, government centralization, inflation, government competition with private business and the Kennedy dynasty.

Actually all of those things could be summed up in two answers: The danger from Russia and the danger from the Kennedy administration. If we wanted to boil it down even further our one answer would be: The danger from the Kennedy administration. Therein lies the greatest threat from Russia, because of Kennedy's attitude of appeasement and non-resistance, as exemplified by our desertion of and sacrifice of Cuba. Therein also lie the greatest dangers of fiscal irresponsibility, creeping socialism, government centralization, inflation and government competition with private industry, as well as the danger of losing civil rights for the white people while giving special privileges to Negroes. Not since the carpetbag days of the post - Civil War period has the government so denuded justice and espoused violation of state and local laws.

A percentage breakdown on the results of the polls follows:

1 — Do you believe the U. S. should support a free Cuban government in exile? Yes, 76.2; No, 23.8.

2 — Should the Federal Government create a Domestic Peace Corps to help with social problems at home? Yes, 15.9; No, 84.1.

3 — Should the Congress provide for a Government-supervised secret ballot for union members before a strike can be called? Yes, 74.8; No, 25.2.

4 — Should Government spending be cut to compensate for any tax reduction? Yes, 93.3; No, 6.7.

5 — Do you favor stronger action, such as an effective blockade, to counter the threat of Communist subversion and military buildup in Cuba? Yes, 94.8; No, 5.2.

6 — Do you favor medical care for the aged by:

(a) Increasing Social Security taxes to finance such care? Yes, 8.3; No. 91.7.

(b) Expanding present Federal-State (Kerr - Mills) legislation? Yes, 34.5; No, 65.5.

(c) Or do you favor private, voluntary medical plans with no Federal participation? Yes, 91; No, 9.

7 — Do you believe the time has arrived to provide for reduction of the national debt? Yes, 94; No, 6.

If so—(a) By increasing taxes? Yes, 9.7; No, 90.3.

(b) By reducing non-defense Federal spending? Yes, 96.3; No, 3.7.

8 — Do you believe the foreign aid program should be—

(a) Maintained at present levels? Yes, 10.2; No, 89.8.

(b) Reduced substantially? Yes, 88.5; No, 11.5.

(c) Expanded in Latin America? Yes, 50.5; No, 49.5.

(d) Continued to nations with Communist governments? Yes, 6.2; No, 93.8.

About the most conclusive statement that can be made on the results of these polls is that they show, in no uncertain terms, that the people of this country are not ready to turn the world over to Russia and are not ready to turn the United States over to Kennedy, socialism and the Negroes.

Postmen And People

Ordinarily, a postman is just about the most helpless thing in the world when it comes to defending himself against biting dogs.

He could fight back but his boss, the government, won't let him. He could give the dog a taste of his foot with a heavy shoe or caress it with a stick or massage it with an electric cane or throw some rocks for it to chase, but regulations forbid it.

There's only one other situation in which the government says an individual must take whatever is dealt out, without resistance, as far as we know. That is when integrationists, as in Birmingham, knock them down in the streets or in individual places of business and the government says those who are pushed around can't strike back because they would be guilty of violence.

There used to be an old saying that one should fight fire with fire, but President Kennedy, Attorney General Robert Kennedy and the United States supreme court put out the white people's fire while they let the Negroes blaze burn fiercely without interference.

But back to the postman and the dogs.

One postman out in Fremont, Calif., out-smarted government regulations which forbid him to retaliate when bitten, because he came up with a new kind of defense it hasn't yet thought of regulating.

After Postman Ken Lencicome was bitten six times in two weeks, "he got himself a bigger set of teeth," as one story described it. Now accompanying Lencicome is a big German shepherd dog called Schann. Schann weighs 102 pounds — only 50 pounds less than his master — and other dogs don't bother him — or his master.

Now back to Birmingham. There is also a slick way to put down condoned lawlessness in the south. It can be done by piling up a mountain of votes against Kennedy when he runs for president again next year.

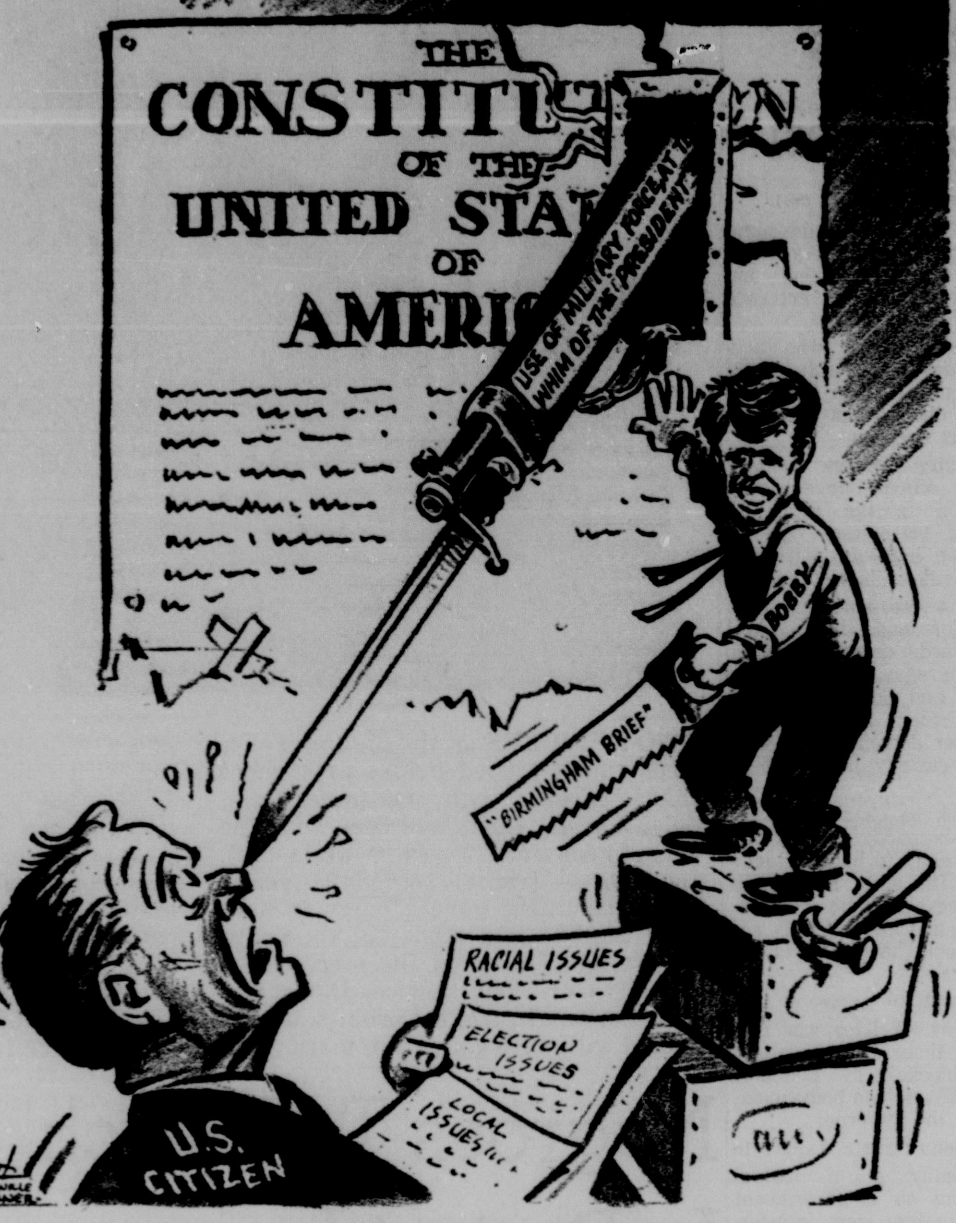
Ninety-eight per cent of American homes are wired for electricity.

American girls get an early start in earning and managing money, a teen-age magazine survey shows. Before their 11th birthday 57.5 per cent have earned at least some of their spending money.

Measles continues to rank as the most prevalent communicable disease affecting this country, according to the Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The center estimates there are in excess of four million cases of measles annually.

Rice, the staple of the Asian diet, is the principal daily food for more of the world's peoples than any other food crop.

And There You Have It!



ALLEN AND SCOTT

'Right To Lie' Man Nipped

Arthur ("News Management")Sylvester, Assistant Secretary Of Defense, Is Being Held Down

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur ("news management") Sylvester is being significently hobbled — obviously to keep him from causing more embarrassing furores.

Several months ago the inside word was that the turbulent Pentagon press chief, whose blustering justifications of official "news management" are still reverberating, was to be "kicked upstairs." That's what happened to former Assistant Secretary Roger Tubby, bumbling State Department press head, who was gotten rid of by shelving him in an innocuous diplomatic job in Geneva.

But Sylvester's close ties with the White House "Mafia" (the inner clique of long-time assistants of the President; apparently has saved him for the time being. He is remaining in the Defense Department, but in a definitely clipped role.

While retaining his title and salary, he has been stripped of two key functions — and there may be others. Following is what has happened:

The all - important authority over censorship has been taken out of Sylvester's hands and assigned to a new agency — the Directorate for Classification Management.

Orville Splitt, able and well-liked long-time director of the Pentagon's news office, has been made a special assistant for the express purpose of handling press inquiries regarding the explosive TFX plane contract, and to assist Defense Secretary McNamara in preparing his presentations to congressional committees on this stormy issue.

Newsmen have ready access to Splitt. They have been told to take up "special problems," particularly relating to McNamara, with Splitt. This is a big improvement for reporters.

George MacClain, veteran civilian Air Force employee with considerable experience in the security field, is the head of the new Classification Management agency. He will function directly under Walter Skallerup, Jr., Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary for Security Policy.

Effect of this change is to take censorship policy away from Sylvester and turn it over to others.

HOW SYLVESTER WAS CLIPPED — Significantly, this major curbing of Sylvester was ordered by Secretary McNamara.

The hobbling was handled by Adam Yarmolinsk, special McNamara assistant.

J. R. Loftis, administrative assistant to McNamara, explained it under questioning by the House Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the multi-billion dollar Defense budget. The lawmakers were particularly curious about the new Directorate for Classification Management.

Representative George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman, wanted to know "what benefits you expect to derive from this new unit?"

"The hope is that it will make some improvement in the selectivity of what should be classified (censored)," replied Loftis. "While there is a great deal of information that has been given out that we perhaps think should not be given out, there is also a vast amount of information that is over - classified and which should be given to the public . . . I might add that the best decisions have not always been made. There has not always been consistency."

Representative Gerald Ford, R.-Mich., pointed out that the "tendency" has been to over-classify, and in many instances classification involved opinion and not information that had anything to do with security.

"Personally I'm delighted to see this new office established," said Ford. "It was long overdue."

Representative Harold Ostertag, R-N. Y., closely questioned Loftis to definitely establish that censorship policy has been taken out of Sylvester's hands.

"Are you taking it away from the office of Public Information?" asked Ostertag.

"We are taking the declassification function away from that office and placing it under the office that has responsibility for security policies," said Loftin. "That is right."

STILL PLAYING POLITICS — Attorney General Robert Kennedy is still balking at naming James Doyle, prominent Madison, Wis., attorney, to fill a long-pending vacancy on the federal bench. Doyle has been endorsed by the Bar Association and has the vigorous support of Wisconsin's two Democratic senators and other party leaders. But Bobby is refusing to name Doyle because he supported Adlai Stevenson in 1960.

Worry Over Diet

Man Losing Much Enjoyment Because Wife Limits His Food

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My wife keeps after me to be careful about my intake of fat in my diet. I think this dieting business is being overdone to prevent coronary trouble.

I am 42, normal weight, don't smoke, take only an occasional drink, don't overwork, don't overworry, take vacations and am generally a well - balanced citizen.

Yet, whenever I take a glass of whole milk (which I enjoy) or have a good steak, or take butter on my toast, or make myself an ice cream sundae, she becomes actually hysterical.

I appreciate that this shows she loves me and wants me to be healthy, and around for a good, long time — but frankly, it's taking much of the fun out of life. If you are on my side (and I hope you are) will you put in a few words in my favor? — Mr. Y.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Comment: You are not the only one who is having the fun in life taken away by over zealous ones who have gotten the notion that special, low - fat diets will prevent coronary disease. It has not been proved, and I don't believe we doctors should build a wall of dietary restrictions until we are sure.

When people like yourself come to me with normal blood cholesterol, normal weight, and are physically healthy, I tell them to continue to eat as they always have in the past. In some cases this diet business has become so ridiculous that a few doctors (very few) believe that we should keep milk away from our youngsters to prevent coronary disease 40 to 50 years later! How silly can we get without actual proof?

I know you will be interested, Mr. Y., (and better show this to your wife) in the closing words of an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association. They were written by William J. Darby, M. D., Chairman of the Council on Foods and Nutrition:

"The Council supports and encourages investigations of American population groups to test the effect of properly supervised diet therapy as a means of prevention of coronary disease. Finally, the Council believes that, despite the promise of the diet in therapy, there is not sufficient information available at the present time to warrant a change in the American diet aimed at preventing heart disease in the general population."

WHOLE BOOK ABOUT IT

Feel better, Mr. Y.? I have been beating this drum for months in this column and in lectures. In fact, I feel so strongly about our right to enjoy life that I have written a boox about it which will be published this summer.

I hope "we" have convinced your well - meaning wife that it is all right for her to keep after you to wear your rubbers on a nasty day — but to leave the final solution of the cholesterol problem to hard - working, conscientious scientists.

For Mrs. J.: If your husband is the sort who becomes restless on month - long vacations, break them up into the weekly variety. Many men are unhappy away from work for prolonged periods.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "What You Can Do for High Blood Pressure," No. 16, will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Rocanroleros Hit

Not Many To Be Found In Cuba But Castro Fighting Them

The Communist regime in Cuba has discovered a new threat to its stability — rock an' roll. The very safety of the state, to believe a big new propaganda campaign, is imperiled by an adolescent craze which has petered out almost everywhere except in the Soviet Union. Fidel Castro's terrors are, moreover, a little odd since rock an' roll never caught on in Cuba, which has music and dances of its own to occupy young and old.

But since Castro scratches every time Khrushchev itches, the explanation for the Castro campaign comes easily to hand. Rock an' roll, for some reason, seems to infuriate the Ineffable Nikita. Not only is it "Western" but he finds it "lewd" and "obscene." The Butcher of the Ukraine, who ordered the deaths of hundreds of thousands in the Stalin days, turns squeamish at the sight and sound of an adolescent phenomenon which has lately seized Russia.

To the bewilderment of the politically unsophisticated in Cuba, the official Radio Rebelde and the magazine Bohemia have been almost literally frothing over the putative effects of what they portray as a rampaging group of "rocanroleros." The "rocanroleros" are being portrayed as a combination of zoot-suiters, beatniks, Teddy-boys, and Dead End kids — financed and encouraged by the U. S. imperialists and dedicated to the corruption of Cuba's "revolutionary purity."

"RADIO REBELDE describes the "ritmos rocanroleros" as "a grave crime against our fatherland, and especially against our youth." Now rock an' roll was never any contribution to the musical or terpsichorean arts — but as fads go it was no worse than swallowing goldfish or crowding into telephone booths. It was a manifestation of glandular exuberance.

For the Communist theoreticians, however, it held something deeply sinister. "It is no secret," they argue, "that rock 'an roll brings with it the idea of unbridled youth, of a youth without purpose, really sick, corrupted by a system which, unable to provide high ideals, gives it the opportunity to relieve their virile impetus in vicious and non-productive expressions." Having seen the rumba as it is done in non-tourist spots in Latin America, I am a little bemused by this description.

This bewilderment persists when I learn that the proscribed "frenzied music" is being used to "haul the very young" into the net of "parasitical elements, homosexuals, and dope peddlers." (I'm sure that Raul Castro, the dictator's sadistic brother, would object to any aspersions cast on the last two categories.)

ONE OF THE ATTACKS on the "rocanroleros" describes what purports to be a typical example: "A long - haired type, wearing a thick red shirt, brown woolen sports jacket, corduroy pants, and curious shoes — and mixture of mocassins and slippers, embellished with grey suede ornaments." If this is an accurate picture, then Fidel Castro need not fear the inroads of rock an' roll. No young man dressed in that fashion could survive the heat of Havana for very long. He will either collapse from a stroke or just melt away.

The "rocanroleros" are clearly depraved, and they are being led even further astray by pornography to go with their pornographic music. The Castro propagandists insist that the U. S. is in league with West Germany in this endeavor. In fact, a man identified as being on the staff of the nonexistent West German Embassy in Havana is accused of distributing dirty pictures to the nonexistent rock an' roll set.

On the face of it, the sight of Communist Cuba straining at the gnat of a half - forgotten fad would be rather funny. But as Radio Rebelde says, giving away the show: "The arts are a subtle form of penetration, and we have to remain on guard against all types of penetration." Rock an' roll is a straw man, easy to knock down. What the Communists fear is not the music, not the dance, but the idea that anything American will find acceptability among the Cuban people. Fidel Castro would object to Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, with its "V for Victory" theme, if he thought the enslaved Cubans would associate it with the freedom once dangled before them by the United States—but now withdrawn.

Kennedy Setback

Wheat Control Rejection By Farmers May Be Worst Blow

President Kennedy may have suffered his worst political setback to date in the smashing rejection by farmers of his wheat control program. It could be the handwriting on the wall so far as his chances of re-election next year are concerned.

This may seem an overstatement, but a lot of arguments can be mustered to support its validity. That's exactly what's being done as the political soothsayers weigh the outcome of the referendum and try to assess its significance. In any event, the Pesident is in trouble, even if he has not now lost the 1964 election.

Even though Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman repeatedly denied it, the Kennedy Administration was committed to passage of the control program and pulled out all the stops to achieve that aim. The vast machinery of the Agriculture Department was cranked into gear and fueled with talent, time and money to put the program over. Kennedy laid his personal prestige on the line in making it clear he felt farmers had little other recourse than to vote his way.

In light of this promotional outpouring, the farmers' revolt is all the more impressive, particularly since it was the first wheat referendum to fail among the 13 that have been held in the United States since 1941.

A two-thirds vote was required for passage, and while some congressional leaders close to agriculture had doubts beforehand the program would carry they at least had convinced themselves it would poll a simple majority. They were shocked when it failed to do even this, and it is here that the enormity of the defeat is so clearly defined.

What, then, does this reflect about what the farmers are thinking? One can not escape the conclusion that after years of bureaucratic red tape they were fed up with controls, with mimeographed memoranda, with inspectors, stamps certificates, quotas and all the other paraphernalia of economic life by governmental dictum. It happened to be Kennedy's lot that the massive disenchantment crystallized while he was the man in the White House.

Another factor undoubtedly was the constant assurances of American Farm Bureau Federation leaders and congressional Republicans that passage of substitute legislation is possible this year, despite Administration claims to the contrary. The farmers will be expecting a follow-through on these promises, and this could put the President and the Democratic leadership on an even hotter spot.

They will be asked why, since they control Congress by party majority, a new bill can't be passed. The Republicans, in fact, are already asking. If Kennedy has lost the farm vote, he won't win it back by balking at fresh legislation. If he goes ahead and sanctions a new approach, it won't win many votes in the big cities—especially since new legislation that would please the farmers is bound to be the kind that will cost the public more. That's because it will have to allow greater production of high-price wheat, and the only way this can be accomplished is through high support prices guaranteed by the government. This isn't popular in urban districts, whose congressmen now feel they've tried to bail out the farmers for the last time.

It may be of some comfort to the White House that every year there are fewer and fewer as automation and agricultural efficiency elminated more and more of the marginal operations. But there are still enough farmers to make the difference in a close election, and Kennedy knows all about close elections from 1960.

The farm problem could, of course, prove to be a two-edged sword. Farm Bureau prestige, now at an all-time high, could plummet if it fails to deliver acceptable legislation. The farmers, if no legislation is forthcoming, could—after a year of low prices on the free market—decide that Kennedy had offered them a good thing, after all. This change of heart occurred among tobacco farmers in the mid-30s in a similar situation involving controls.

If the program stands as now set up, the farmers will vote on another control plan next year, when presidential politics will be three times thicker than now. Kennedy was certainly aware of this when he commented he was ready to accept the farmers' verdict this year and let it stand. To subject farmers to a year of low prices and then submit a control program they would by then be eager to come under is probably the best way out if the Administration can pull it off. It could be Kennedy's salvation.

SWEDISH EXCHANGE STUDENT Ingrid Eriksson has been the house guest this week in West Monroe of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bradshaw and daughter, Beth. SWEDISH EXCHANGE STUDENT

20-Year-Old Girl Warns Against Welfare Statism

By RICHARD TYLER
STAFF WRITER

A young exchange student from Sweden has warned against a trend in the United States toward "welfare statism."

Conceding her own nation to be a welfare state, 20 year old Ingrid Eriksson nevertheless observes that many in this country "are not aware of the gradual drift toward socialism and communism, as it comes by such small degrees."

Sweden is a Constitutional Democracy with a king, Gustav VI, nominally at its head, much as is the case in Great Britain.

HOUSE GUEST

Miss Ericksson is the house guest this week of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bradshaw, 609 N. 4th St., West Monroe, and is on the first leg of a round-about trip home which before she reaches Sweden July 19 will carry her on a whirlwind eight-week jaunt across the United States.

The personable young woman was a neighbor during the past school year at Austin College in Sherman, Tex., of the Bradshaw's daughter, Beth. She studied during her junior year in this country as part of a Rotary International scholarship exchange plan.

Fluent in English, a skill she acquired in 14 years of elementary and secondary education in the schools of her home in Varnamo, Miss Eriksson addressed the noon luncheon meeting Thursday at the Highland Park Country Club of West Monroe's Kiwanians.

She has spoken before some 20 such groups during her visit to this country and finds some of her most pleasant and amusing memories in questions asked her at gatherings of the type.

NO DIFFERENCE

"Many people have the idea that persons of another country are altogether different from those of their own, but it's been a happy surpirse to me that there's very little difference.

"In fact, I thought myself that everyone in Texas would be wearing big boots and hats when I got there.

"People ask me some of the funniest questions—like the bald-headed man at a Rotary meeting who got me aside and whispered in my ear, 'Do they have bald-headed men in Sweden?'"

Mrs. Bradshaw also laughs as she recalls an instance in a local store when a friend carried her out of earshot to inquire, "Does she like the same things we do?"

"Generally speaking though," according to Ingrid, "people are mostly interested in things about another country that they are interested in here — for example, a railroad worker will ask me about Sweden's railway system."

Turning to a closer look at similarities between Sweden and the United States, she found dress, food and most social customs essentially the same but noted that steady dating among youth is even more deeply imbedded in her country than it is coming to be in America.

ONE BOY FRIEND

"A girl who changes boy friends often is frowned on in Sweden and people get the idea that something must be the matter with her," Ingrid points out.

Dating begins in both sexes at ages 15 to 17, though parental restrictions are not generally too severe and girls may move as freely in public places, both during the day as well as after hours, as boys.

"No one thinks very much about it for girls to go off dancing together or alone."

Sweden's standard of living still is slightly behind that of the United States, but Miss Eriksson looks for it to catch up within the next two to three years. With an economy based primarily on wood, iron and the heavy machinery industry, the average annual income per family stands now between $3000 and $4,000, a little less than $1000 below a comparable U.S. family.

"Not many families have two cars in Sweden, a thing which is quite common in this country," Ingrid says. Most of the cars they do have are the Swedish-made Volvo or West Germany's Volkswagen. A United States car is rather a rarity, as American goods have not made much of an influx into Sweden.

LOWER THAN U.S.

Income taxes, the visitor points out, are considerable but still far below those of the United States. Maximum tax take to the government which in the United States would be around 92 per cent, in Sweden would be about 60 per cent. However, Sweden has a general sales tax of seven per cent, and, as here, the middle income group usually is hardest hit.

A political science major, who came to this country last September as the result of answering an ad in the Rotarian Magazine (her father Arvid is a Rotarian), Miss Eriksson hopes to enter Sweden's diplomatic service and perhaps return to the United States to work at the United Nations.

She didn't tell her parents, Arvid and Gunvor, or her brother, Olle, about replying to the ad for a Swedish student to study in the United States, and she recalls with obvious amusement how she broke the news when she was accepted —Coming home from school one day, Ingrid announced simply to everyone's dismay "Guess what? I'm going to Texas for a year."

She finished "lower" studies last spring at the Varnamo Gymnasium (high school) which in Sweden means the completion of 14 years' work, qualifying her to enter any American college as a junior.

STUDIES SIMPLER

Ingrid says she found little difference to speak of in the jump to becoming an American junior "in fact the studies seemed maybe a little simpler."

She will complete her schooling in the fall at the University of Lund, a facility of about 8000 students near Copenhagen, Denmark. Miss Eriksson was born in an extreme northern city, Kiruna, above the Arctic Circle, "where most life consists of Lapps and their herds of reindeer."

Her religion is Lutheran, which in fact is the official state religion, though other professions are, of course, permitted. Sweden is almost entirely Protestant, with most of those professing to Catholicism or other faiths being immigrants.

Ingrid notes pointedly to her hosts in West Monroe, that she knows of no Presbyterians in Sweden. (Dr. Bradshaw is pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church.)

The Bradshaw's young visitor arrived last Saturday night and departs Monday on an itinerary which includes, in order, New Orleans, Atlanta Ga., Oklahoma City, Flagstaff, Ariz., Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., Salt Lake City, Utah, Yellowstone Park, Lake City, Utah, Yellowstone Park, Rapid City, S.D. Minneapolis and Chicago, Ill., Niagara Falls, Boston, Washington and New York City.

Private home accomodations have been arranged for her at every stop by a Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students which she wrote recently. She's travelling by bus.

Squalls, Falling Barometer In Bahamas Noted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Weather Bureau took note Friday of squalls and a falling barometer in the Bahamas but said conditions did not point immediately to development of a tropical storm.

Small craft from Jamaica northward through the eastern and central Bahamas and in the Windward Passage were told to be cautions because of isolated squalls carrying heavy rain and winds exceeding 50 miles an hour in gusts.

The squally weather will drift north, weathermen said, and will cause winds over Florida to range between 15 and 20 miles an hour Saturday.

Forecasters said higher seas between Daytona Beach and Savannah, Ga., were not associated with the Bahamas squalls. Small craft warnings were hoisted Fridy for the area.

The hurricane season starts June 15 and the weather bureau is ready with watchful eyes—and names for developing storms.

The season ends in six months and during the June-November period Air Force and Navy reconnaissance aircraft stand by to keep close tabs on the storms, and conditions that could spawn them.

Here are the names that will be applied to Atlantic tropical storms:

Arlene, Beulah, Cinda, Debra, Edith, Flora, Ginny, Hannah, Irene, Janice, Kisty, Laura, Maurgo, Nona, Orchid, Portia, Rachael, Sandra, Terese, Verna, Wallis.

Airman Admits Winn Burglary

WINNFIELD (Special) — The Winnfield Police Department Friday reported they have recovered $95.17 taken in a Wednesday night burglary and that an AWOL England Air Force Base airman has confessed to the break-in.

Police Chief Percy Roberts said Orlen G. Davis admitted that he burglarized Curry's Cafe on West Main Street.

Roberts said a radio taken in another burglary, at Winnfield Cement Co., located near the cafe, was also recovered, as was a phonograph taken from a Morgan City school.

Local Woman's Sister Dies At Texas Home

Mrs. Jennye Thompson Jones, formerly of Union Parish died Wednesday in Dallas, Tex. She was the sister of a Monroe woman.

Interment was held Thursday in Greenville, Tex.

Mrs. Jones, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Nimrod Thompson, was a native of Ouachita City and had spent much time with relatives in Union Parish. She was a retired employee of the Dallas News newspaper.

Survivors include three sisters, Miss Hattie Thompson, Monroe, Mrs. Clyde Long, Dallas, and Mrs. Mamie Black, Gurdon, Ark.; and several nieces and nephews, including Edgar Powell of Monroe.

Mrs. Eppinette Services Today; Died Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Eppinette, 67, will be held at 2 p.m. today in Southside Methodist Church, with the Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Bruce Lindsey.

Burial will follow in Hall Cemetery under the direction of Hixson Bros. Funeral Home.

Mrs. Eppinette, a native of Union parish, died Thursday afternoon after a five-day stay in a local hospital.

Survivors include her husband Edgar V. Eppinette, Monroe; three sons, Ray R. and E. L. Eppinette, both of Monroe, Wilbur Eugene Eppinette, Port Barre; four brothers, Joe Fatheree of Schonlou; Harvey Fatheree, Monroe; Ledell Fatheree, Transylvania; Lofton Fatheree, Springhill; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Thomas Lee, Lillan Whitten, Armour Miller, Hardy Wells, Cleo Moore and Arnold Mann.

Playgrounds Scheduled By WM Boys Club

Summer playgrounds will be sponsored at Kiroli Woods and Lenwil Elementary schools in West Monroe by the West Monroe Boys Club for two months from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays.

The club voted unanimously to provide a playground director and supervised activities after some 100 boys at Kiroli Elementary stated they would attend the playground. Judge John McCormick indicated that some 300 boys will participate in the playground activities at the two schools.

Lenwil playground will open next Wednesday, with registration slated at Kiroli on the same day. The boys club, located on North Violet Street, will also be open this summer from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 12 - noon Saturdays.

Judge McCormick, club president, said the playground activities are available to any boys in Ouchita parish, ages 7 through 18, provided that they are a member of the Boys Club.

Membership fees to join the club are 25 cents per year for boys aged seven through 10 years; 50 cents for boys ages 11 through 13; 75 cents for boys ages 14 through 16; and $1 for youths 17 and 18.

Club Executive Director Kenneth Taylor will be at Kiroli School next Wednesday to register any boys who desire to join the Boys Club and participate in the summer program as well as other activities offered throughout the year by the club. Boys may register at the club itself any time.

Ellender Says Cotton Support Faces Defeat

WASHINGTON (Special) —Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D)La, asserted Friday he believes the House Agriculture Committee's new support plan for cotton faces a strnog chance of being scuttled by Congress.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the plan will stir up strong opposition because it will cost more than the present program.

In view of the pressure for cheaper programs for wheat, feed grains and milk products, Ellender said it "seems ridiculous to advocate a program for cotton which is more costly."

He added that any attempt to combine the cotton bill with wheat legislation will probably kill both measures.

The cotton, approved by the House Agriculture Committee may 23, authorizes direct subsidy payments to cotton handlers—except the growers—to offset the difference between the U.S. support price and the lower world price.

The system is designed to make cotton cheaper for U.S. textile mills and boost its competitive position with artificial fibers.

Ellender said that during hearings before his own committee, he has repeatedly asked witnesses how the increased cost of the plan could be explained to the Congress as a whole." I might add," he said, "that I was not satisfied with the answers."

Another obstacle facing the bill, Ellender said, is "that the cotton industry is not unanimous in its approach to a cure for the ills of cotton. As a matter of fact, there is a wide diversion within the industry on the particulars of any program."

The House bill is expected to be brought up for debate within a few weeks. Ellender has not indicated when the Senate committee will develop a bill.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D) Ga., has sponsored legislation in the Senate similar to the House bill, except that the cost subsidy would be paid direct to producers.

Former State Senator Backs Elector Bill

WINNSBORO (Special) — The unpledged electors bill passed by the Louisiana House this week is the "key to the South's future," in the view of former State Sen. Ralph E. King.

The bill passed the House 57 to 45 Wednesday and was sent to the Senate.

"Unless several southern states band together to stop the Kennedy wave of interference, I fear to say what the future will be for all our people," King said.

"I hope and pray that the unpledged electors bill passes the Senate," he added.

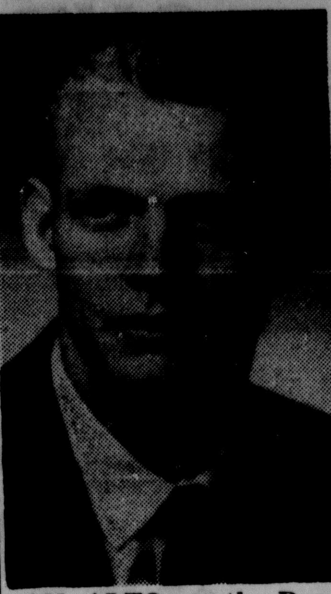
King plans to run for the Senate in the coming campaign.

Under the bill, each congressional district would elect an elector, plus two at large on a statewide basis. Louisiana would have 10 electors.

At present, the electors are selected by political party.

WELCOMES INQUIRY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Congressional investigations into the recent price skyrocket in sugar were welcomed Friday by the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange, which "offered its complete cooperation and full access to its facilities and records."



AN ALTO youth, Donald Ray Smith, who will graduate from the LSU School of Medicine on June 7, has received many honors, including that of "outstanding student". See story on Page 12A.

Jail Term Is Suspended On Drunk Charge

Judge John McCormick imposed a six months jail sentence on Homer C. Hollis in West Monroe court Friday for public drunkenness and then suspended the term.

Hollis, of 507 Cypress St., West Monroe, was placed on two-years probation in lieu of the six months sentence, and fined $50 on the count. He also drew $50 fines for disturbing the peace by use of loud and indecent language and resisting arrest.

Judge McCormick levied a $25 fine on Sherman I. Jones, 202 Glenmar Ave., Monroe, for reckless driving and suspended the fine upon payment of court costs. Three others fined for reckless driving include Charles E. East, 617 N. 2nd St., Monroe, $20 and costs; Cleve R. Glover, Negro, 2104 Cypress St., $25 and costs; and Michale Landrum, 106 Stix St., West Monroe, $20.

Three fined for speeding were Godfrey T. Whitten, 118 Bradley St., West Monroe, $15; Joel C. Pettis, 107 Patton Dr., West Monroe, $15 and costs; and Ross A. Ladart, 403 Audubon St., West Monroe, $10 and costs.

In other action, one was fined $25 for disturbing the peace, two were fined $30 each for public drunkenness, one given a $10 suspended fine for having an improper muffler, three fined $3 and costs for running stop signs, and four fined $5 and court costs for running red lights.

Russell Says ECM Hurting U. S. Poultry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D—Ga., charged Friday that the European Common Market's increase in tariffs on American poultry "amounts to a total embargo."

He said the new tariffs would make it impossible for American producers to export to Europe "without losing money."

Russell, whose state is a leading poultry producer, said in a statement.

"The Common Market countries are demanding the right to export freely to this country while raising sky high tariff barriers on our products to enable them to have time to develop a poultry industry, built on information gleaned from a study of our system of production."

He said the administration should "make it perfectly clear that we will not tolerate such a wholly unfair practice and will demand in no uncertain terms that these barriers be reduced instead of increased."

New U.S. Blast Set Off Friday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Scientists from the United States and Britain blasted high explosives in a plutonium-bearing device Friday to determine the hazards of an accidental nuclear explosion.

There was no nuclear explosion in the test.

It took place on government land near the Nevada test site.

The test, third in a series of four, will be evaluated to help create safety precautions for handling, storing and transporting of plutonium-bearing nuclear weapons.

Picnic Area Closed After Demonstration

ST. JOHNS, Mich. (AP) — A private picnic area was closed Thursday after a racially mixed group of 50 youths picketed the resort because of what they termed "Jim Crow tactics."

Norman White, assistant prosecutor of Clinton County, said the incident occurred at the Alward Lake resort, owned by Raymond S. De Young.

De Young said today that the resort would remain closed indefinitely.

White said several hundred people were observing Memorial Day at the resort when the pickets arrived.

The demonstrators carried signs reading: "Jim Crow Must Go;" "Alward Lake, Mississippi," and "grow up, Mr. De Young." Many of the demonstrators said they were Michigan State University students.

Prosecutor White said the student demonstrators told him they were denied access to the lakeside picnic and swimming area because they had no advance reservations. The students contended the ban was imposed because some of the students were Negroes.

White said that his inquiries to some other picnickers in the area showed they had been admitted without advance reservations.

He said he then notified the resort operators that they could not require reservations from one group and admit another group without such commitments. He said he suggested to the resort management that it close voluntarily today while an investigation was continued.

White said that De Young agreed and the park was closed. The demonstrators left shortly thereafter.

The students told newsmen they were members of such organizations as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Students Union and the Students for Non-violent Action. They said they had been unable to gain admittance to the resort on several previous occasions.

Mrs. De Young said the resort, which she and her husband have operated for 12 years, always has admitted Negroes on an individual basis.

"But this group is trying to push us and force us into a corner," she added.

Tshombe Said Fled In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe was believed Friday to have fled this capital in secret to escape arrest by the central Congolese government.

There were unconfirmed reports the central government had discovered a new plot to set up an independent Katanga State and had issued a warrant for his capture.

Tshombe has tried to take Katanga out of the Congo three times in three years, and only forceful action by the United Nations prevented him from succeeding.

Mosquitos Start New Attack In West Monroe

Monday night's rain revived mosquito breeding places, said West Monroe Street and Sanitation Department Superintendent W. R. Townson, so the department has renewed its spraying of ditches and other low places holding "dead water."

A fogging program has also been started in certain sections of the city by the West Monroe Jaycees.

Townson asked owners to help prevent accidents and improve the city's health and appearance by eliminating blind corners and maintaining vacant lots.

JFK Programs Opposed

Proof of the mounting frustrations of the citizens of this country with Kennedy's New Frontier programs was shown graphically in polls conducted on a number of the leading issues of today.

The polls were those conducted by some Republican members of Congress.

One fact that may surprise those in the north was that the poll revealed that 64.6 per cent of the people are opposed to the Kennedy administration's handling of civil rights. The poll was taken before the mass demonstrations in Birmingham, before the Kennedys announced their intention to use troops, if necessary, to prevent Birmingham citizens from resisting trespassing and intrusion and before the United Supreme Court issued its shocking decision that Negroes have a right to trespass on private property if they do so in the cause of integration. It was also issued before Negroes announced plans for mass integration drives in the north. Undoubtedly, opposition to the Kennedy civil rights program will shoot up even higher on the basis of these appalling actions against individual rights of citizens.

Among other things, the questionnaire asked: "What do you consider the most important problem, either foreign or domestic, confronting the nation today?" Responses included: The menace of communism, Cuba, fiscal irresponsibility, creeping socialism, government centralization, inflation, government competition with private business and the Kennedy dynasty.

Actually all of those things could be summed up in two answers: The danger from Russia and the danger from the Kennedy administration. If we wanted to boil it down even further our one answer would be: The danger from the Kennedy administration. Therein lies the greatest threat from Russia, because of Kennedy's attitude of appeasement and non-resistance, as exemplified by our desertion of and sacrifice of Cuba. Therein also lie the greatest dangers of fiscal irresponsibility, creeping socialism, government centralization, inflation and government competition with private industry, as well as the danger of losing civil rights for the white people while giving special privileges to Negroes. Not since the carpetbag days of the post - Civil War period has the government so denuded justice and espoused violation of state and local laws.

A percentage breakdown on the results of the polls follows:

1 — Do you believe the U. S. should support a free Cuban government in exile? Yes, 76.2; No, 23.8.

2 — Should the Federal Government create a Domestic Peace Corps to help with social problems at home? Yes, 15.9; No, 84.1.

3 — Should the Congress provide for a Government-supervised secret ballot for union members before a strike can be called? Yes, 74.8; No, 25.2.

4 — Should Government spending be cut to compensate for any tax reduction? Yes, 93.3; No, 6.7.

5 — Do you favor stronger action, such as an effective blockade, to counter the threat of Communist subversion and military buildup in Cuba? Yes, 94.8; No, 5.2.

6 — Do you favor medical care for the aged by:

(a) Increasing Social Security taxes to finance such care? Yes, 8.3; No. 91.7.

(b) Expanding present Federal-State (Kerr - Mills) legislation? Yes, 34.5; No, 65.5.

(c) Or do you favor private, voluntary medical plans with no Federal participation? Yes, 91; No, 9.

7 — Do you believe the time has arrived to provide for reduction of the national debt? Yes, 94; No, 6.

If so—(a) By increasing taxes? Yes, 9.7; No, 90.3.

(b) By reducing non-defense Federal spending? Yes, 96.3; No, 3.7.

8 — Do you believe the foreign aid program should be—

(a) Maintained at present levels? Yes, 10.2; No, 89.8.

(b) Reduced substantially? Yes, 88.5; No, 11.5.

(c) Expanded in Latin America? Yes, 50.5; No, 49.5.

(d) Continued to nations with Communist governments? Yes, 6.2; No, 93.8.

About the most conclusive statement that can be made on the results of these polls is that they show, in no uncertain terms, that the people of this country are not ready to turn the world over to Russia and are not ready to turn the United States over to Kennedy, socialism and the Negroes.

Postmen And People

Ordinarily, a postman is just about the most helpless thing in the world when it comes to defending himself against biting dogs.

He could fight back but his boss, the government, won't let him. He could give the dog a taste of his foot with a heavy shoe or caress it with a stick or massage it with an electric cane or throw some rocks for it to chase, but regulations forbid it.

There's only one other situation in which the government says an individual must take whatever is dealt out, without resistance, as far as we know. That is when integrationists, as in Birmingham, knock them down in the streets or in individual places of business and the government says those who are pushed around can't strike back because they would be guilty of violence.

There used to be an old saying that one should fight fire with fire, but President Kennedy, Attorney General Robert Kennedy and the United States supreme court put out the white people's fire while they let the Negroes blaze burn fiercely without interference.

But back to the postman and the dogs.

One postman out in Fremont, Calif., out-smarted government regulations which forbid him to retaliate when bitten, because he came up with a new kind of defense it hasn't yet thought of regulating.

After Postman Ken Lencicome was bitten six times in two weeks, "he got himself a bigger set of teeth," as one story described it. Now accompanying Lencicome is a big German shepherd dog called Schann. Schann weighs 102 pounds — only 50 pounds less than his master — and other dogs don't bother him — or his master.

Now back to Birmingham. There is also a slick way to put down condoned lawlessness in the south. It can be done by piling up a mountain of votes against Kennedy when he runs for president again next year.

Ninety-eight per cent of American homes are wired for electricity.

American girls get an early start in earning and managing money, a teen-age magazine survey shows. Before their 11th birthday 57.5 per cent have earned at least some of their spending money.

Measles continues to rank as the most prevalent communicable disease affecting this country, according to the Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The center estimates there are in excess of four million cases of measles annually.

Rice, the staple of the Asian diet, is the principal daily food for more of the world's peoples than any other food crop.

'Right To Lie' Man Nipped

Arthur ("News Management")Sylvester, Assistant Secretary Of Defense, Is Being Held Down

Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur ("news management") Sylvester is being significently hobbled — obviously to keep him from causing more embarrassing furores.

Several months ago the inside word was that the turbulent Pentagon press chief, whose blustering justifications of official "news management" are still reverberating, was to be "kicked upstairs." That's what happened to former Assistant Secretary Roger Tubby, bumbling State Department press head, who was gotten rid of by shelving him in an innocuous diplomatic job in Geneva.

But Sylvester's close ties with the White House "Mafia" (the inner clique of long-time assistants of the President; apparently has saved him for the time being. He is remaining in the Defense Department, but in a definitely clipped role.

While retaining his title and salary, he has been stripped of two key functions — and there may be others. Following is what has happened:

The all - important authority over censorship has been taken out of Sylvester's hands and assigned to a new agency — the Directorate for Classification Management.

Orville Splitt, able and well-liked long-time director of the Pentagon's news office, has been made a special assistant for the express purpose of handling press inquiries regarding the explosive TFX plane contract, and to assist Defense Secretary McNamara in preparing his presentations to congressional committees on this stormy issue.

Newsmen have ready access to Splitt. They have been told to take up "special problems," particularly relating to McNamara, with Splitt. This is a big improvement for reporters.

George MacClain, veteran civilian Air Force employee with considerable experience in the security field, is the head of the new Classification Management agency. He will function directly under Walter Skallerup, Jr., Deputy Assistant Defense Secretary for Security Policy.

Effect of this change is to take censorship policy away from Sylvester and turn it over to others.

HOW SYLVESTER WAS CLIPPED — Significantly, this major curbing of Sylvester was ordered by Secretary McNamara.

The hobbling was handled by Adam Yarmolinsk, special McNamara assistant.

J. R. Loftis, administrative assistant to McNamara, explained it under questioning by the House Appropriations Subcommittee in charge of the multi-billion dollar Defense budget. The lawmakers were particularly curious about the new Directorate for Classification Management.

Representative George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman, wanted to know "what benefits you expect to derive from this new unit?"

"The hope is that it will make some improvement in the selectivity of what should be classified (censored)," replied Loftis. "While there is a great deal of information that has been given out that we perhaps think should not be given out, there is also a vast amount of information that is over - classified and which should be given to the public . . . I might add that the best decisions have not always been made. There has not always been consistency."

Representative Gerald Ford, R.-Mich., pointed out that the "tendency" has been to over-classify, and in many instances classification involved opinion and not information that had anything to do with security.

"Personally I'm delighted to see this new office established," said Ford. "It was long overdue."

Representative Harold Ostertag, R-N. Y., closely questioned Loftis to definitely establish that censorship policy has been taken out of Sylvester's hands.

"Are you taking it away from the office of Public Information?" asked Ostertag.

"We are taking the declassification function away from that office and placing it under the office that has responsibility for security policies," said Loftin. "That is right."

STILL PLAYING POLITICS — Attorney General Robert Kennedy is still balking at naming James Doyle, prominent Madison, Wis., attorney, to fill a long-pending vacancy on the federal bench. Doyle has been endorsed by the Bar Association and has the vigorous support of Wisconsin's two Democratic senators and other party leaders. But Bobby is refusing to name Doyle because he supported Adlai Stevenson in 1960.

Worry Over Diet

Man Losing Much Enjoyment Because Wife Limits His Food

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My wife keeps after me to be careful about my intake of fat in my diet. I think this dieting business is being overdone to prevent coronary trouble.

I am 42, normal weight, don't smoke, take only an occasional drink, don't overwork, don't overworry, take vacations and am generally a well - balanced citizen.

Yet, whenever I take a glass of whole milk (which I enjoy) or have a good steak, or take butter on my toast, or make myself an ice cream sundae, she becomes actually hysterical.

I appreciate that this shows she loves me and wants me to be healthy, and around for a good, long time — but frankly, it's taking much of the fun out of life. If you are on my side (and I hope you are) will you put in a few words in my favor? — Mr. Y.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Comment: You are not the only one who is having the fun in life taken away by over zealous ones who have gotten the notion that special, low - fat diets will prevent coronary disease. It has not been proved, and I don't believe we doctors should build a wall of dietary restrictions until we are sure.

When people like yourself come to me with normal blood cholesterol, normal weight, and are physically healthy, I tell them to continue to eat as they always have in the past. In some cases this diet business has become so ridiculous that a few doctors (very few) believe that we should keep milk away from our youngsters to prevent coronary disease 40 to 50 years later! How silly can we get without actual proof?

I know you will be interested, Mr. Y., (and better show this to your wife) in the closing words of an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association. They were written by William J. Darby, M. D., Chairman of the Council on Foods and Nutrition:

"The Council supports and encourages investigations of American population groups to test the effect of properly supervised diet therapy as a means of prevention of coronary disease. Finally, the Council believes that, despite the promise of the diet in therapy, there is not sufficient information available at the present time to warrant a change in the American diet aimed at preventing heart disease in the general population."

WHOLE BOOK ABOUT IT

Feel better, Mr. Y.? I have been beating this drum for months in this column and in lectures. In fact, I feel so strongly about our right to enjoy life that I have written a boox about it which will be published this summer.

I hope "we" have convinced your well - meaning wife that it is all right for her to keep after you to wear your rubbers on a nasty day — but to leave the final solution of the cholesterol problem to hard - working, conscientious scientists.

For Mrs. J.: If your husband is the sort who becomes restless on month - long vacations, break them up into the weekly variety. Many men are unhappy away from work for prolonged periods.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "What You Can Do for High Blood Pressure," No. 16, will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this newspaper.

Rocanroleros Hit

Not Many To Be Found In Cuba But Castro Fighting Them

The Communist regime in Cuba has discovered a new threat to its stability — rock an' roll. The very safety of the state, to believe a big new propaganda campaign, is imperiled by an adolescent craze which has petered out almost everywhere except in the Soviet Union. Fidel Castro's terrors are, moreover, a little odd since rock an' roll never caught on in Cuba, which has music and dances of its own to occupy young and old.

But since Castro scratches every time Khrushchev itches, the explanation for the Castro campaign comes easily to hand. Rock an' roll, for some reason, seems to infuriate the Ineffable Nikita. Not only is it "Western" but he finds it "lewd" and "obscene." The Butcher of the Ukraine, who ordered the deaths of hundreds of thousands in the Stalin days, turns squeamish at the sight and sound of an adolescent phenomenon which has lately seized Russia.

To the bewilderment of the politically unsophisticated in Cuba, the official Radio Rebelde and the magazine Bohemia have been almost literally frothing over the putative effects of what they portray as a rampaging group of "rocanroleros." The "rocanroleros" are being portrayed as a combination of zoot-suiters, beatniks, Teddy-boys, and Dead End kids — financed and encouraged by the U. S. imperialists and dedicated to the corruption of Cuba's "revolutionary purity."

"RADIO REBELDE describes the "ritmos rocanroleros" as "a grave crime against our fatherland, and especially against our youth." Now rock an' roll was never any contribution to the musical or terpsichorean arts — but as fads go it was no worse than swallowing goldfish or crowding into telephone booths. It was a manifestation of glandular exuberance.

For the Communist theoreticians, however, it held something deeply sinister. "It is no secret," they argue, "that rock 'an roll brings with it the idea of unbridled youth, of a youth without purpose, really sick, corrupted by a system which, unable to provide high ideals, gives it the opportunity to relieve their virile impetus in vicious and non-productive expressions." Having seen the rumba as it is done in non-tourist spots in Latin America, I am a little bemused by this description.

This bewilderment persists when I learn that the proscribed "frenzied music" is being used to "haul the very young" into the net of "parasitical elements, homosexuals, and dope peddlers." (I'm sure that Raul Castro, the dictator's sadistic brother, would object to any aspersions cast on the last two categories.)

ONE OF THE ATTACKS on the "rocanroleros" describes what purports to be a typical example: "A long - haired type, wearing a thick red shirt, brown woolen sports jacket, corduroy pants, and curious shoes — and mixture of mocassins and slippers, embellished with grey suede ornaments." If this is an accurate picture, then Fidel Castro need not fear the inroads of rock an' roll. No young man dressed in that fashion could survive the heat of Havana for very long. He will either collapse from a stroke or just melt away.

The "rocanroleros" are clearly depraved, and they are being led even further astray by pornography to go with their pornographic music. The Castro propagandists insist that the U. S. is in league with West Germany in this endeavor. In fact, a man identified as being on the staff of the nonexistent West German Embassy in Havana is accused of distributing dirty pictures to the nonexistent rock an' roll set.

On the face of it, the sight of Communist Cuba straining at the gnat of a half - forgotten fad would be rather funny. But as Radio Rebelde says, giving away the show: "The arts are a subtle form of penetration, and we have to remain on guard against all types of penetration." Rock an' roll is a straw man, easy to knock down. What the Communists fear is not the music, not the dance, but the idea that anything American will find acceptability among the Cuban people. Fidel Castro would object to Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, with its "V for Victory" theme, if he thought the enslaved Cubans would associate it with the freedom once dangled before them by the United States—but now withdrawn.

Kennedy Setback

Wheat Control Rejection By Farmers May Be Worst Blow

President Kennedy may have suffered his worst political setback to date in the smashing rejection by farmers of his wheat control program. It could be the handwriting on the wall so far as his chances of re-election next year are concerned.

This may seem an overstatement, but a lot of arguments can be mustered to support its validity. That's exactly what's being done as the political soothsayers weigh the outcome of the referendum and try to assess its significance. In any event, the Pesident is in trouble, even if he has not now lost the 1964 election.

Even though Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman repeatedly denied it, the Kennedy Administration was committed to passage of the control program and pulled out all the stops to achieve that aim. The vast machinery of the Agriculture Department was cranked into gear and fueled with talent, time and money to put the program over. Kennedy laid his personal prestige on the line in making it clear he felt farmers had little other recourse than to vote his way.

In light of this promotional outpouring, the farmers' revolt is all the more impressive, particularly since it was the first wheat referendum to fail among the 13 that have been held in the United States since 1941.

A two-thirds vote was required for passage, and while some congressional leaders close to agriculture had doubts beforehand the program would carry they at least had convinced themselves it would poll a simple majority. They were shocked when it failed to do even this, and it is here that the enormity of the defeat is so clearly defined.

What, then, does this reflect about what the farmers are thinking? One can not escape the conclusion that after years of bureaucratic red tape they were fed up with controls, with mimeographed memoranda, with inspectors, stamps certificates, quotas and all the other paraphernalia of economic life by governmental dictum. It happened to be Kennedy's lot that the massive disenchantment crystallized while he was the man in the White House.

Another factor undoubtedly was the constant assurances of American Farm Bureau Federation leaders and congressional Republicans that passage of substitute legislation is possible this year, despite Administration claims to the contrary. The farmers will be expecting a follow-through on these promises, and this could put the President and the Democratic leadership on an even hotter spot.

They will be asked why, since they control Congress by party majority, a new bill can't be passed. The Republicans, in fact, are already asking. If Kennedy has lost the farm vote, he won't win it back by balking at fresh legislation. If he goes ahead and sanctions a new approach, it won't win many votes in the big cities—especially since new legislation that would please the farmers is bound to be the kind that will cost the public more. That's because it will have to allow greater production of high-price wheat, and the only way this can be accomplished is through high support prices guaranteed by the government. This isn't popular in urban districts, whose congressmen now feel they've tried to bail out the farmers for the last time.

It may be of some comfort to the White House that every year there are fewer and fewer as automation and agricultural efficiency elminated more and more of the marginal operations. But there are still enough farmers to make the difference in a close election, and Kennedy knows all about close elections from 1960.

The farm problem could, of course, prove to be a two-edged sword. Farm Bureau prestige, now at an all-time high, could plummet if it fails to deliver acceptable legislation. The farmers, if no legislation is forthcoming, could—after a year of low prices on the free market—decide that Kennedy had offered them a good thing, after all. This change of heart occurred among tobacco farmers in the mid-30s in a similar situation involving controls.

If the program stands as now set up, the farmers will vote on another control plan next year, when presidential politics will be three times thicker than now. Kennedy was certainly aware of this when he commented he was ready to accept the farmers' verdict this year and let it stand. To subject farmers to a year of low prices and then submit a control program they would by then be eager to come under is probably the best way out if the Administration can pull it off. It could be Kennedy's salvation.

SWEDISH EXCHANGE STUDENT Ingrid Eriksson has been the house guest this week in West Monroe of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bradshaw and daughter, Beth. SWEDISH EXCHANGE STUDENT

20-Year-Old Girl Warns Against Welfare Statism

By RICHARD TYLER
STAFF WRITER

A young exchange student from Sweden has warned against a trend in the United States toward "welfare statism."

Conceding her own nation to be a welfare state, 20 year old Ingrid Eriksson nevertheless observes that many in this country "are not aware of the gradual drift toward socialism and communism, as it comes by such small degrees."

Sweden is a Constitutional Democracy with a king, Gustav VI, nominally at its head, much as is the case in Great Britain.

HOUSE GUEST

Miss Ericksson is the house guest this week of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bradshaw, 609 N. 4th St., West Monroe, and is on the first leg of a round-about trip home which before she reaches Sweden July 19 will carry her on a whirlwind eight-week jaunt across the United States.

The personable young woman was a neighbor during the past school year at Austin College in Sherman, Tex., of the Bradshaw's daughter, Beth. She studied during her junior year in this country as part of a Rotary International scholarship exchange plan.

Fluent in English, a skill she acquired in 14 years of elementary and secondary education in the schools of her home in Varnamo, Miss Eriksson addressed the noon luncheon meeting Thursday at the Highland Park Country Club of West Monroe's Kiwanians.

She has spoken before some 20 such groups during her visit to this country and finds some of her most pleasant and amusing memories in questions asked her at gatherings of the type.

NO DIFFERENCE

"Many people have the idea that persons of another country are altogether different from those of their own, but it's been a happy surpirse to me that there's very little difference.

"In fact, I thought myself that everyone in Texas would be wearing big boots and hats when I got there.

"People ask me some of the funniest questions—like the baldheaded man at a Rotary meeting who got me aside and whispered in my ear, 'Do they have baldheaded men in Sweden?'"

Mrs. Bradshaw also laughs as she recalls an instance in a local store when a friend carried her out of earshot to inquire, "Does she like the same things we do?"

"Generally speaking though," according to Ingrid, "people are mostly interested in things about another country that they are interested in here — for example, a railroad worker will ask me about Sweden's railway system."

Turning to a closer look at similarities between Sweden and the United States, she found dress, food and most social customs essentially the same but noted that steady dating among youth is even more deeply imbedded in her country than it is coming to be in America.

ONE BOY FRIEND

"A girl who changes boy friends often is frowned on in Sweden and people get the idea that something must be the matter with her," Ingrid points out.

Dating begins in both sexes at ages 15 to 17, though parental restrictions are not generally too severe and girls may move as freely in public places, both during the day as well as after hours, as boys.

"No one thinks very much about it for girls to go off dancing together or alone."

Sweden's standard of living still is slightly behind that of the United States, but Miss Eriksson looks for it to catch up within the next two to three years. With an economy based primarily on wood, iron and the heavy machinery industry, the average annual income per family stands now between $3000 and $4,000, a little less than $1000 below a comparable U.S. family.

"Not many families have two cars in Sweden, a thing which is quite common in this country," Ingrid says. Most of the cars they do have are the Swedish-made Volvo or West Germany's Volkswagen. A United States car is rather a rarity, as American goods have not made much of an influx into Sweden.

LOWER THAN U.S.

Income taxes, the visitor points out, are considerable but still far below those of the United States. Maximum tax take to the government which in the United States would be around 92 per cent, in Sweden would be about 60 per cent. However, Sweden has a general sales tax of seven per cent, and, as here, the middle income group usually is hardest hit.

A political science major, who came to this country last September as the result of answering an ad in the Rotarian Magazine (her father Arvid is a Rotarian), Miss Eriksson hopes to enter Sweden's diplomatic service and perhaps return to the United States to work at the United Nations.

She didn't tell her parents, Arvid and Gunvor, or her brother, Olle, about replying to the ad for a Swedish student to study in the United States, and she recalls with obvious amusement how she broke the news when she was accepted —Coming home from school one day, Ingrid announced simply to everyone's dismay "Guess what? I'm going to Texas for a year."

She finished "lower" studies last spring at the Varnamo Gymnasium (high school) which in Sweden means the completion of 14 years' work, qualifying her to enter any American college as a junior.

STUDIES SIMPLER

Ingrid says she found little difference to speak of in the jump to becoming an American junior "in fact the studies seemed maybe a little simpler."

She will complete her schooling in the fall at the University of Lund, a facility of about 8000 students near Copenhagen, Denmark. Miss Eriksson was born in an extreme northern city, Kiruna, above the Arctic Circle, "where most life consists of Lapps and their herds of reindeer."

Her religion is Lutheran, which in fact is the official state religion, though other professions are, of course, permitted. Sweden is almost entirely Protestant, with most of those professing to Catholicism or other faiths being immigrants.

Ingrid notes pointedly to her hosts in West Monroe, that she knows of no Presbyterians in Sweden. (Dr. Bradshaw is pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian Church.)

The Bradshaw's young visitor arrived last Saturday night and departs Monday on an itinerary which includes, in order, New Orleans, Atlanta Ga., Oklahoma City, Flagstaff, Ariz., Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., Salt ake City, Utah, Yellowstone Park, Lake City, Utah, Yellowstone Park, Rapid City, S.D. Minneapolis and Chicago, Ill., Niagara Falls, Boston, Washington and New York City.

Private home accomodations have been arranged for her at every stop by a Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students which she wrote recently. She's travelling by bus.

Squalls, Falling Barometer In Bahamas Noted

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Weather Bureau took note Friday of squalls and a falling barometer in the Bahamas but said conditions did not point immediately to development of a tropical storm.

Small craft from Jamaica northward through the eastern and central Bahamas and in the Windward Passage were told to be cautions because of isolated squalls carrying heavy rain and winds exceeding 50 miles an hour in gusts.

The squally weather will drift north, weathermen said, and will cause winds over Florida to range between 15 and 20 miles an hour Saturday.

Forecasters said higher seas between Daytona Beach and Savannah, Ga., were not associated with the Bahamas squalls. Small craft warnings were hoisted Fridy for the area.

The hurricane season starts June 15 and the weather bureau is ready with watchful eyes—and names for developing storms.

The season ends in six months and during the June-November period Air Force and Navy reconnaissance aircraft stand by to keep close tabs on the storms, and conditions that could spawn them.

Here are the names that will be applied to Atlantic tropical storms:

Arlene, Beulah, Cinda, Debra, Edith, Flora, Ginny, Hannah, Irene, Janice, Kisty, Laura, Maurgo, Nona, Orchid, Portia, Rachael, Sandra, Terese, Verna, Wallis.

Local Woman's Sister Dies At Texas Home

Mrs. Jennye Thompson Jones, formerly of Union Parish died Wednesday in Dallas, Tex. She was the sister of a Monroe woman.

Interment was held Thursday in Greenville, Tex.

Mrs. Jones, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Nimrod Thompson, was a native of Ouachita City and had spent much time with relatives in Union Parish. She was a retired employee of the Dallas News newspaper.

Survivors include three sisters, Miss Hattie Thompson, Monroe, Mrs. Clyde Long, Dallas, and Mrs. Mamie Black, Gurdon, Ark.; and several nieces and nephews, including Edgar Powell of Monroe.

Mrs. Eppinette Services Today; Died Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Eppinette, 67, will be held at 2 p.m. today in Southside Methodist Church, with the Rev. Lea Joyner, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Bruce Lindsey.

Burial will follow in Hall Cemetery under the direction of Hixson Bros. Funeral Home.

Mrs. Eppinette, a native of Union parish, died Thursday afternoon after a five-day stay in a local hospital.

Survivors include her husband Edgar V. Eppinette, Monroe; three sons, Ray R. and E. L. Eppinette, both of Monroe, Wilbur Eugene Eppinette, Port Barre; four brothers, Joe Fatheree of Schonlou; Harvey Fatheree, Monroe; Ledell Fatheree, Transylvania; Lofton Fatheree, Springhill; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Thomas Lee, Lillan Whitten, Armour Miller, Hardy Wells, Cleo Moore and Arnold Mann.

Airman Admits Winn Burglary

WINNFIELD (Special) — The Winnfield Police Department Friday reported they have recovered $95.17 taken in a Wednesday night burglary and that an AWOL England Air Force Base airman has confessed to the break-in.

Police Chief Percy Roberts said Orlen G. Davis admitted that he burglarized Curry's Cafe on West Main Street.

Roberts said a radio taken in another burglary, at Winnfield Cement Co., located near the cafe, was also recovered, as was a phonograph taken from a Morgan City school.

Playgrounds Scheduled By WM Boys Club

Summer playgrounds will be sponsored at Kiroli Woods and Lenwil Elementary schools in West Monroe by the West Monroe Boys Club for two months from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Mondays through Fridays.

The club voted unanimously to provide a playground director and supervised activities after some 100 boys at Kiroli Elementary stated they would attend the playground. Judge John McCormick indicated that some 300 boys will participate in the playground activities at the two schools.

Lenwil playground will open next Wednesday, with registration slated at Kiroli on the same day. The boys club, located on North Violet Street, will also be open this summer from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 9 a.m. to 12 - noon Saturdays.

Judge McCormick, club president, said the playground activities are available to any boys in Ouchita parish, ages 7 through 18, provided that they are a member of the Boys Club.

Membership fees to join the club are 25 cents per year for boys aged seven through 10 years; 50 cents for boys ages 11 through 13; 75 cents for boys ages 14 through 16; and $1 for youths 17 and 18.

Club Executive Director Kenneth Taylor will be at Kiroli School next Wednesday to register any boys who desire to join the Boys Club and participate in the summer program as well as other activities offered throughout the year by the club. Boys may register at the club itself any time.

AN ALTO youth, Donald Ray Smith, who will graduate from the LSU School of Medicine on June 7, has received many honors, including that of "outstanding student". See story on Page 12A.

Jail Term Is Suspended On Drunk Charge

Judge John McCormick imposed a six months jail sentence on Homer C. Hollis in West Monroe court Friday for public drunkenness and then suspended the term.

Hollis, of 507 Cypress St., West Monroe, was placed on two-years probation in lieu of the six months sentence, and fined $50 on the count. He also drew $50 fines for disturbing the peace by use of loud and indecent language and resisting arrest.

Judge McCormick levied a $25 fine on Sherman I. Jones, 202 Glenmar Ave., Monroe, for reckless driving and suspended the fine upon payment of court costs. Three others fined for reckless driving include Charles E. East, 617 N. 2nd St., Monroe, $20 and costs; Cleve R. Glover, Negro, 2104 Cypress St., $25 and costs; and Michale Landrum, 106 Stix St., West Monroe, $20.

Three fined for speeding were Godfrey T. Whitten, 118 Bradley St., West Monroe, $15; Joel C. Pettis, 107 Patton Dr., West Monroe, $15 and costs; and Ross A. Ladart, 403 Audubon St., West Monroe, $10 and costs.

In other action, one was fined $25 for disturbing the peace, two were fined $30 each for public drunkenness, one given a $10 suspended fine for having an improper muffler, three fined $3 and costs for running stop signs, and four fined $5 and court costs for running red lights.

Ellender Says Cotton Support Faces Defeat

WASHINGTON (Special) —Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D)La, asserted Friday he believes the House Agriculture Committee's new support plan for cotton faces a strnog chance of being scuttled by Congress.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the plan will stir up strong opposition because it will cost more than the present program.

In view of the pressure for cheaper programs for wheat, feed grains and milk products, Ellender said it "seems ridiculous to advocate a program for cotton which is more costly."

He added that any attempt to combine the cotton bill with wheat legislation will probably kill both measures.

The cotton, approved by the House Agriculture Committee may 23, authorizes direct subsidy payments to cotton handlers—except the growers—to offset the difference between the U.S. support price and the lower world price.

The system is designed to make cotton cheaper for U.S. textile mills and boost its competitive position with artificial fibers.

Ellender said that during hearings before his own committee, he has repeatedly asked witnesses how the increased cost of the plan could be explained to the Congress as a whole." I might add," he said, "that I was not satisfied with the answers."

Another obstacle facing the bill, Ellender said, is "that the cotton industry is not unanimous in its approach to a cure for the ills of cotton. As a matter of fact, there is a wide diversion within the industry on the particulars of any program."

The House bill is expected to be brought up for debate within a few weeks. Ellender has not indicated when the Senate committee will develop a bill.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D) Ga., has sponsored legislation in the Senate similar to the House bill, except that the cost subsidy would be paid direct to producers.

Former State Senator Backs Elector Bill

WINNSBORO (Special) — The unpledged electors bill passed by the Louisiana House this week is the "key to the South's future," in the view of former State Sen. Ralph E. King.

The bill passed the House 57 to 45 Wednesday and was sent to the Senate.

"Unless several southern states band together to stop the Kennedy wave of interference, I fear to say what the future will be for all our people," King said.

"I hope and pray that the unpledged electors bill passes the Senate," he added.

King plans to run for the Senate in the coming campaign.

Under the bill, each congressional district would elect an elector, plus two at large on a statewide basis. Louisiana would have 10 electors.

At present, the electors are selected by political party.

WELCOMES INQUIRY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Congressional investigations into the recent price skyrocket in sugar were welcomed Friday by the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange, which "offered its complete cooperation and full access to its facilities and records."

Russell Says ECM Hurting U. S. Poultry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D—Ga., charged Friday that the European Common Market's increase in tariffs on American poultry "amounts to a total embargo."

He said the new tariffs would make it impossible for American producers to export to Europe "without losing money."

Russell, whose state is a leading poultry producer, said in a statement.

"The Common Market countries are demanding the right to export freely to this country while raising sky high tariff barriers on our products to enable them to have time to develop a poultry industry, built on information gleaned from a study of our system of production."

He said the administration should "make it perfectly clear that we will not tolerate such a wholly unfair practice and will demand in no uncertain terms that these barriers be reduced instead of increased."

New U.S. Blast Set Off Friday

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Scientists from the United States and Britain blasted high explosives in a plutonium-bearing device Friday to determine the hazards of an accidental nuclear explosion.

There was no nuclear explosion in the test.

It took place on government land near the Nevada test site.

The test, third in a series of four, will be evaluated to help create safety precautions for handling, storing and transporting of plutonium-bearing nuclear weapons.

Picnic Area Closed After Demonstration

ST. JOHNS, Mich. (AP) — A private picnic area was closed Thursday after a racially mixed group of 50 youths picketed the resort because of what they termed "Jim Crow tactics."

Norman White, assistant prosecutor of Clinton County, said the incident occurred at the Alward Lake resort, owned by Raymond S. De Young.

De Young said today that the resort would remain closed indefinitely.

White said several hundred people were observing Memorial Day at the resort when the pickets arrived.

The demonstrators carried signs reading: "Jim Crow Must Go;" "Alward Lake, Mississippi," and "grow up, Mr. De Young." Many of the demonstrators said they were Michigan State University students.

Prosecutor White said the student demonstrators told him they were denied access to the lakeside picnic and swimming area because they had no advance reservations. The students contended the ban was imposed because some of the students were Negroes.

White said that his inquiries to some other picnickers in the area showed they had been admitted without advance reservations.

He said he then notified the resort operators that they could not require reservations from one group and admit another group without such commitments. He said he suggested to the resort management that it close voluntarily today while an investigation was continued.

White said that De Young agreed and the park was closed. The demonstrators left shortly thereafter.

The students told newsmen they were members of such organizations as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Students Union and the Students for Non-violent Action. They said they had been unable to gain admittance to the resort on several previous occasions.

Mrs. De Young said the resort, which she and her husband have operated for 12 years, always has admitted Negroes on an individual basis.

"But this group is trying to push us and force us into a corner," she added.

Tshombe Said Fled In Congo

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — Katanga President Moise Tshombe was believed Friday to have fled this capital in secret to escape arrest by the central Congolese government.

There were unconfirmed reports the central government had discovered a new plot to set up an independent Katanga State and had issued a warrant for his capture.

Tshombe has tried to take Katanga out of the Congo three times in three years, and only forceful action by the United Nations prevented him from succeeding.

Mosquitos Start New Attack In West Monroe

Monday night's rain revived mosquito breeding places, said West Monroe Street and Sanitation Department Superintendent W. R. Townson, so the department has renewed its spraying of ditches and other low places holding "dead water."

A fogging program has also been started in certain sections of the city by the West Monroe Jaycees.

Townson asked owners to help prevent accidents and improve the city's health and appearance by eliminating blind corners and maintaining vacant lots.

SOVIET-RED CHINA CONFLICT

Rusk Says West Has No Reason To Relax Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk cautioned Friday that the West has no reason to relax because of differences between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

On the contrary, he wrote, the dispute may even have the effect of deepening, rather tham moderating the cold war.

Rusk, in an article written for the magazine Nation's Business, said the conflict does not affect the basic Communist objective: The extension of Communist control throughout the world.

He said both the Red Chinese and the Soviets "may feel it necessary or desirable to pursue a more aggressive course."

"We need to be more than ever on guard," Rusk declared.

On the whole, however, Rusk was optimistic in assessing free world strength.

He listed four developments as being to the long-run advantage of the West: rejection of communism by new nations, the growing Sino-Soviet conflict and readiness of a growing number of countries to negotiate settlement of problems.

In a broad review of the world situation, Rusk said the "disappointment of British hopes" of joining the Common Market last winter does not change the basic fact that Europe is moving toward unity.

Rusk acknowledged that the United States has to face more problems with its allies than before. That, he said, is the price this country is paying for the success of its postwar policies in Europe.

The problems, Rusk added, range from such matters as U.S. poultry exports to the nuclear armament.

The central question, he continued, is "How are the burdens of defending the free world and helping the less-developed countries to be shared?"

Describing U.S. efforts aimed at furnishing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with a nuclear force, Rusk said the allies have reacted favorably to the ideas submitted by the United States.

In the economic area, Rusk conceded that some of the industrialized countries are now contributing a higher proportion of their gross national product to foreign aid than the United States. But he stressed "We feel that further contributions can be made by our European allies in increasing the total amounts of aid which they are providing and in liberalizing the terms under which it is given."

Concerning the 1964 round of tariff negotiations, Rusk said the 1962 trade expansion law gave the administration "an important bargaining tool."

"We intend to use it fully in next year's tariff-reduction negotiations," he said.

Negro To Face Jury Probing Death Of Man

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — M. C. Talley, Negro, of Monroe, will appear before a grand jury investigating the death of Tommy Rodgers of Hamburg, June 12.

Talley is being held in connection with the death of Rodgers.

He was sent this week to Tucker Prison Farm pending action of the Grand Jury. He was arrested April 19 by the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department.

He signed a confession to the murder of the Hamburg college sophomore March 1, officials reported.

Rodgers was attending his father's filling station when he was fatally stabbed in the back. Following Talley's arrest, he was taken to Arkansas state hospital at Little Rock for mental tests.

He was pronounced legally sane.

Cyclone Deaths On The Rise; May Hit 10,000

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — The death toll from East Pakistan's cyclone mounted steadily Friday and authorities feared it would go above 10,000.

Delayed reports from the stricken areas along a 178-mile stretch of the Bay of Bengal told of widespread death and destruction and fears of spreading disease.

Officials said the reports indicated the final death figure from the cyclone and tidal waves earlier this week would be between 10,000 and 15,000.

Press reports estimated that 2 million other persons were made homeless.

The district deputy commissioner at Chittagong, 120 miles southeast of here, said 1,200 had died in that area alone.

Still unknown was the fate of a million inhabitants of 500 offshore islands, many of which were said to have been swept away by the tidal upsurge.

The cyclone, which formed in the Bay of Bengal and first hit the coast about midnight Tuesday, cut a 40-mile-wide path of destruction from Feni, 85 miles southeast of Dacca, south to Cox's Bazar in the Chittagong district.

Russians To Win Ideological War

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht predicted in a speech released Friday that the Soviet Union will win the ideological battle with Communist China and prevent a split in the Communist bloc.

He told a Communist youth convention in East Berlin the West would be disappointed in pinning hopes on a split between "the white and yellow races."

He said the dispute is "very complicated" but he believes China ultimately will abandon its "left radicalism" and come around to the Soviet point of view.

ORDERS NEW CARS

CHICAGO (UPI) — Union Pacific Railroad announced plans Friday to acquire 2,100 new freight cars as part of an $80 million capital expenditure program for 1963.

The cars are scheduled for delivery during the remainder of this year and in early 1964, the announcement said.

Trial Dates Set For Five In Court Here

Trial dates were set for five persons on charges ranging from simple arson and theft to burglary and a morals count in a felony session of Fourth District Court Friday.

Judge Jesse S. Heard imposed a 10 - year term at Louisiana State Penitentiary at Angola on a West Monroe man, Ellender Bishop, 607 Vick St., for attempted aggravated rape. Bishop pleaded guilty to the count earlier and had been remanded for sentencing.

Hearings were set next week for two others who had applied for hearings for retrials on convictions during jury trials earlier. Calvin Gullette Jr., Sterlington, will be heard Tuesday, June 4, on a count of attempted agravated rape. Negro Lucille Davis, of Grammont Street, Monroe, will have a hearing June 7 on a manslaughter conviction.

Billy Ray Reppond, whose last known address is listed as 111 Haynes St., West Monroe, was remanded until later for sentencing on two forgery charges.

Sept. 24 was set as the trial date for Earmon V. Young, of over the levee, Wood Street, West Monroe, charged with carnal knowledge of a juvenile. He pleaded not guilty to the count.

Bill Elliot Windsor, Negro, of 1605 Canary St., and Johnny Lee Mitchell, Negro, 3104 Owl St., both pleaded not guilty to two counts of simple burglary and were set for trial Sept. 25.

Negro Fletcher Jones, 4001 Pippin St., Monroe, entered a not guilty plea to three counts of automobile theft and will be tried June 7 while Willie Lardge, Negro, will be tried Nov. 4 for simple arson. Lardge, of 35-C Roy Dr., pleaded not guilty to the count.

Parliament OK's Adenauer Plan With De Gaulle

BONN, Germany — (AP) West German Parliament gave its final approval Friday to the treaty signed in January by President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. The document seeks to end the centuries-old hostility between the French and Germans.

Approval of the treaty by the Bundesrat, the upper house of Parliament, virtually assured that it will go into effect in July.

The treaty commits the two Western European powers to work for similar policies in foreign affairs, defense and other matters. Regular meetings are called for between the chiefs of state, key ministers, and military leaders.

The passage represented a great victory for Adenauer, now 87 and due to retire in the fall. Throughout his 14 years as chancellor he has south French-German reconciliation.

After the brief session, during which no opposition was expressed, Adenauer warmly shook hands with Wilhelm Kaisen, chairmen of the Foreign Affairs Committee. The committee had recommended the upper house raise no objections to the treaty, enabling it to pass unanimously.

All-party support was mustered after the addition earlier on a preamble stipulating that the treaty will not violate West German's obligations to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the Common Market, or other international organizations to which it already is committed.

Long Suggests Stockpiling Of Sugar By U.S.

World Washington Staff

WASHINGTON — Sen. Russell B. Long (D) La., said Friday the U. S. should consider stockpiling tons of sugar to guard against price spurts caused by speculators.

Long said in a statement the recent jump in sugar prices is already coming under control because there is no severe shortage of sugar from the U. S. market.

But he said that a stockpile held by the U. S. government would ensure an adequate supply in the future "so that, in the event some nation goes Communist or has a big crop failure, we could protect ourselves from speculators."

Long is No. 2 man on the Senate finance committee, which began an investigation this week of the sudden boom in sugar prices.

He said part of the spurt comes from a "tight supply" in the world market cuased by a one-third drop in Cuban output and failure of beet crops in Europe. The U. S. however has commitments "for more than we need to meet the demands of the American consumers."

Long blamed the price jumps on speculators who bought sugar hoping for a quick gain and on industrial consumers who began to hoard sugar. Even housewives began hoarding he said. "When everyone knows that there will be plenty of sugar," Long said "the scare buying will stop; the price of sugar has already gone down and will continue to do so, and the speculation will end."

Long said the Sugar Act, which sets quotas of the U. S. market for domestic and foreign producers has prevented a "real sugar squeeze" and made it possible for the American sugar growers to remain in existence and to supply about 60 percent of the U. S. demand.

He said however it might be well to amend the act to force foreign producers to sell sugar to the U. S. at a redetermined price in return for the American commitment to buy a specified quantity.

"THAT'S RIGHT, NO BITE!"

Dodgers Fall To Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—Don Pavletich's bases-loaded single in a decisive three-run fifth inning uprising led Cincinnati to a 7-4 victory over Los Angeles Friday night that dropped the Dodgers into third place in the National League.

St. Louis beat first-place San Francisco 6-5 to take over second place, two games back of the Giants. The Dodgers are 2½ out.

Pavletich's hit drove in two runs while Leo Cardenas also knocked in a pair and Vada Pinson homered in support of Jim Maloney, who beat the Dodgers for the first time and brought his record to 7-2.

Maloney was forced to leave in the seventh when Dick Tracewski bounced a single off his left leg, causing a bruise on the heel bone inside the ankle. Allan Worthington finished up.

Willie Davis homered for the Dodgers leading off the game, but the Reds moved ahead 3-0 in the second on a run-producing single by Cardenas, Pete Rose's sacrifice fly and a run-scoring single by Bob Skinner.

The Dodgers tied it with a pair in the fifth. The Reds came back to go out front for good in the bottom half on Pavletich's key hit following walks to Frank Robinson, Daryl Spencer and an error by Jim Gilliam on Marty Keough's grounder, filling the bases.

Cardenas' single drove in the final run of the inning.

Bunning Snaps Twins Winning Streak, 3-1

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lanky Jim Bunning neatly snapped Minnesota's 10-game winning streak Friday night, pitching a seven-hitter in Detroit's 3-1 victory over the Twins.

Bunning, dealing the Twins only their second loss in their last 14 starts, had a shutout going until one out in the last of the ninth inning, when Earl Battey smacked his 10th homer.

Zoilo Versalles doubled one out after Battey's blow, but Bernie Allen's fly ended the threat and the game. Bunning, 3-5, struck out seven and walked one.

The Tigers, who climbed into eighth place in the American League ahead of Cleveland, beat Perry with a three-run bust the fourth inning. Gus Triandos' bases-loaded single scored two runs, and Rocky Colavito's sacrifice fly the other.

Musial Drives In Winning Tally In 9th

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Curt Flood raced home with the winning run from third base on an infield pop-up by Stan Musial and the St. Louis Cardinals knocked off National League-leading San Francisco 6-5 and moved to within two games of the Giants.

Flood, running at his own risk from third base, scored on the strange play that found the three Giants chasing the pop. Willie Mays, racing in from his shallow center field position, almost made the catch.

Musial, however, was declared out in the bases-loaded situation under the infield fly rule.

Flood opened the last of the ninth with a walk off loser Don Larsen. Bill White reached base when Cap Peterson fielded his grounder and threw late trying for a force out at second. Then Bob Bolin relieved and threw late to third on Dick Groat's bunt, loading the bases with none out.

Musial's pop came off Billy Pierce, the third Giant pitcher in the inning.

St. Louis, trailing 5-2 after five innings, tied the game on singles by Musial, Julian Javier and Tim McCarver in the sixth and Bill White's eighth homer following a single by Flood in the seventh.

Bob Gibson pitched the ninth for the victory, the fourth straight and eighth in the last nine games for the Cards.

San Francisco scored four runs in the third for a 4-2 lead off Cardinal starter Curt Simmons. Felipe Alou singled home one run and Willie Mays got his first hit in 18 at bats, a double that drove home two runs.

Alou's hit in the fifth brought in the final Giant marker.

Howard, Tresh Power Yanks

CLEVELAND (AP) — Whitey Ford, New York's ace left-hander, fired a three-hitter Friday night and Tom Tresh and Elston Howard belted two-run homers as the Yankees blanked the Cleveland Indians 4-0.

Jerry Kindall hit a single to right field leading off the third inning for Cleveland's first hit. Joe Azcue singled in the eighth, and Vic Davalillo beat out a hit in the ninth.

The 34-year-old southpaw pitcher walked four and struck out eight in winning his sixth game in nine decisions.

Ford was in trouble in the seventh when he walked Joe Adcock and Tito Francona with two out. But he struck out pinch hitter Gene Green to end the inning.

Tresh hammered his eighth homer into the right field stands in the third inning after shortstop Dick Howser made an error on Bobby Richardson's grounder. Howard's eighth homer, over the right field fence, scored Joe Pepitone, who had singled in the eighth inning.

Jim Grant, 3-5, was the loser. He went eight innings and surrendered seven hits.

Hurler's Big Hit Drops Senators To Another Loss

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Orlando Pena pitched and batted Kansas City to a 9-3 victory over woeful Washington Friday night, limiting the Senators to five hits and hitting a grand slam homer to pace the A's 14-hit attack.

The loss was the Senators fourth in a row, and their 18th in the last 20 games.

Pena, who had lost his last five games, helped his own cause by hitting a grand slam home run in a six-run fifth inning uprising which put the A's ahead to stay. It was Pena's fifth victory.

The Kansas City right-hander, however, gave up three home runs—the first three hits he yielded in the first three innings. Larry Osborne and Don Lock connected in the second and Jim King in the third.

TO DEFEND TITLE

Johnson Remains Top Choice Saturday Night

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—World light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson of Philadelphia remained a heavy favorite Friday to retain his title in a 15-round fight with Willie Pastrano at North Miami Beach, Fla., tonight.

The contest will be televised nationally over the ABC network, starting at 7 p.m., Pacific Daylight Time.

It will mark the second defense of the title for Johnson since he gained undisputed claim to it by whipping Doug Jones in Phildelphia May 12, 1962, and the fifth since he stopped Jesse Bowdry in New York in 1961 for what was then National Boxing Association recognition.

A less than capacity crowd of around 6,000, including heavyweight champion Sonny Liston, is expected to watch the affair in person.

The 34-year-old Johnson was still listed the betting favorite at 4-1, with not too much action reported in Las Vegas' legal gambling salons.

The match is important for both fighters, particularly the 28-year-old Pastrano. It's his first title opportunity in his 13 years of boxing.

Conceivably, it could be the last for the elusive, hard to catch Willie.

"I'm in the best shape in years," said the ex-New Orleans favorite.

"Every title fight is important and I guess you'd have to say this is one of the most important ones," Johnson conceded. At his age, a defeat would be nearly disastrous to him as a big money draw.

Co-promoters Mel Greb and Jack Doyle guaranteed the champion $37,000 and Pastrano $21,250.

This is not Johnson's biggest purse. He received $50,000 for his bout with Gustave Scholz in Berlin last June 23.

This will be Pastrano's largest purse.

IN IC4A TRACK AFFAIR

Powerful Villanova Is, As Usual, Big Favorite

By JIM BECKER

NEW YORK (AP) — Powerful Villanova, aiming for its fourth straight IC4A track championship, rolled through the trial heats without an important casualty Friday and moved into the role of prohibitive favorite in Saturday's finals.

Maryland popped up with the major threat to the Wildcats, who would be the first four-straight winner since Southern California in 1930-33.

Maryland qualified 12 men for Saturday's events, plus a mile relay team, to lead all 49 colleges in the 87th IC4A meet.

Villanova sent nine to the finals, along with its relay. Manhattan also had nine survivors and a relay team. Morgan State had eight and a relay and Yale eight.

Trials were held in 13 events. Meet records stayed well out of the range of the field except in the triple jump. Favored Chris Ohiri of Harvard and Nigeria went 48 feet, 8 inches in that event, an inch short of the record set by Winston Cooper of St. John's in 1961.

Chris Stauffer led Maryland's forces with a breezing 53.1 seconds in the 440-yard hurdles and 14.5 in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Sprinter Rod Lambert qulaified for the finals in the 100 with 9.8 and also qualified for Saturday's semifinals in the 220.

Mike Cole of the Terps was the broad jump leader at 23 feet, 8¾ inches.

But Villanova, with its main strength still to show, sent every one of its expected point gatherers into the Saturday card.

All 18 finals are scheduled Saturday, with points scored on a 5-4-3-2-1 basis.

Larry Livers of Villanova qualified for both hurdles, and Marshall Uzzle comfortably captured places in both dashes.

Don Webster ran an eased up 48.2 in the 440, the same time established by Hubert Brown and Bob Bagley, both of Morgan State. Yale's Wendell Mottley ran 48.5 to set up a scorching final.

Noel Carroll of Villanova and Ireland cantered to a 1:53.8 to qualify in the 880. He has the fastest half-mile in the nation this year, 1:47.5.

Gary Gubner of New York University, defending in the shot and discus, was 'way off form. He led the shot with a subpar 59 feet, inches and was second in the discus with 163-8, behind John Bakkensen of Harvard, who threw 168-9½. Bakkensen returned to school for an examination after the trials.

Bill Del Vecchio, Pittsburgh sophomore, sprang a mild surprise by winning his heats in both the dashes, in 9.9 and 21.8.

Yale skipped the relay as Mottley, a junior from Trinidad, aimed for a 220-440 double and qualified in both.

THREE SET RECORD

USL's Robinson 2nd In 3-Mile

By RUDI SCHIFFER

SIOUX FALLS, S.C. (AP)—A record-smashing three-mile run of 14 minutes, 1-3-10ths seconds by Jim Keefe of Central Connecticut marked the opening of the 12th annual National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics Track and Field Championships here Friday night.

Keefe, defending champ, outduelled Malcolm Robinson of Southwestern Louisiana and Ireland Sloan of Emporia over the last four laps to win going away. All three finished under Keefe's old mark of 14:14.4.

Maryland State took the early lead in the point totals, scoring 12. Whittier of California, McMurray of Texas and Central Connecticut tied for second with 10 each.

In the other two final events, Rhodes scholar Stan Sanders of Whittier hurled the discus 18 feet, 4½ inches and McMurray's Bill Miller leaped 26-2¾ to win the broad jump.

Clifton May Field of Central Ohio State tied Miller's mark, but was awarded second place on the basis of the second best jump. Miller leaped 25-11¾ on his second try to Mayfield's 25-10½. The mark bettered the NAIA record of 25-7½ set by Ralph Boston of Tennessee State in 1960, but was not allowed because of an excessive wind of 5.9 miles per hour.

Other point totals: Whitworth, 8; Central Ohio, 8; Southwestern La., 8; Emporia, 7; Texas Southern, 4; Omaha U., 4; Western Illinois, 4; Arkansas State, 2; Washburn U., 2; Graceland College 2; Kearney State, 1; Eastern Washington, 1.

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Results Friday night in the NAIA track and field meet:

Finals, discus: 1, Stan Sanders, Whittier. 2, Shaffar, Whitworth. 3, Santio, Maryland State. 4, Renosia, Texas Southern. 5, Ketcheside, Arkansas State. 6, Hawkins, Kansas State. 181 feet, 4½ inches.

Finals, broad jump: Bill Miller, McMurry; 2, Clifton Mayfield, Central Ohio; 3, Charlie Mays, Maryland State; 4, Bruce Huntar, Omaha; 5, Larry Irwin, Washburn; 6, Bob Whitehouse, Kearney State. 26 feet 2¾ inches.

Finals, three-mile run: 1, Jim Keefe, Central Connecticut State; 2, Robinson, Southwestern Louisiana; 3, Ireland Sloan, Kansas State Teachers; 4, Phil Lorenc, Western Illinois; 5, Ralph Strait, Graceland College; 6, Jack Stewart, Eastern Washington, 14:01.3, record. Old record: Kaef, 1962, 14:11.4.

Baltimore Falls Again, Now Tied For First Place

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels tore into Milt Pappas and Dick Hall for 15 hits Friday night, defeating Baltimore 7-4 and dropping the Orioles into a tie with New York for the American League lead.

The loss, Baltimore's third straight following a nine-game winning streak, left the Orioles one game ahead of the Yankees but tied in percentage points. The Yankees defeated Cleveland 4-0.

Right-hander Dan Osinski, until recently a relief pitcher, went seven innings-plus for the Angels and got his first major league victory as a starter. He also got his first major league hit and scored twice.

Joe Koppe and rookie Charley Dees got three hits each for Los Angeles and drove in two runs apiece. Dees led off the Angel fifth with his first major league home run.

Hawkins Strokes Seven-Under-Par

By JERRY LISKA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Fred Hawkins, winless on the PGA circuit since 1956, stroked a 7-under-par 64 in the opening round of the $55,000 Speedway Festival Open Golf Tournament Friday.

In all, 51 players whipped par.

Hawkins, 39, utilized a hot putter and sharp approaches as he reeled off rounds of 33-31. Speedway's par 35-36—71 course played much easier than expected after being partially trampled by the huge crowd at the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race.

Hawkins had 11 one-putt greens and rolled in birdie taps of 35, 26, 16, 15 and 8 feet and finished two strokes ahead of Sam Carmichael, 23, Martinsville, Ind., who is making his first pro tour.

Carmichael, a former Louisiana State golf star, coupled a pair of 33s.

Four players were bracketed at 67, while eight were deadlocked at 68 as the chase for the $10,000 first prize began in pleasant, sunny weather.

The quartet of 67 shooters included Puerto Rican Juan (Chi Chi) Rodriguez; Claude King, former physical education instructor at Virginia Beach, Va.; Miller Barber, former University of Arkansas golfer, and Bill Collins, who opened with a dizzling 30 but needed a 1-over-par 37 on the back nine.

Hawkins, who had nine birdies and two bogeys in his 64 round, twice chipped in with a 6-iron from 60 feet on 337-yard second hole and from 25 feet on the edge of the 574-yard 11th hole.

Skipping this tourney, in which nine holes — from the fourth through the 12th—are inside the famed speedway racing oval, were defending champion Billy Casper; PGA leading money winner Jack Nicklaus; Arnold Palmer, and Gary Player.

Casper has had an ailing left wrist since May 5. Nicklaus was reported visiting his Columbus, Ohio, home. Palmer and Player, the year's third and fourth best csh winners, were sid to be filming a golf series.

Tony Lema, fresh from a Memphis Open triumph and second to Nicklaus in earnings, $57,615 to $44,296, shot 34-36 to land among no fewer than 22 scorers deadlocked at 70, one under par. Included in the batch was Doug Ford, winner of the first two Speedway meets in 1960-61.

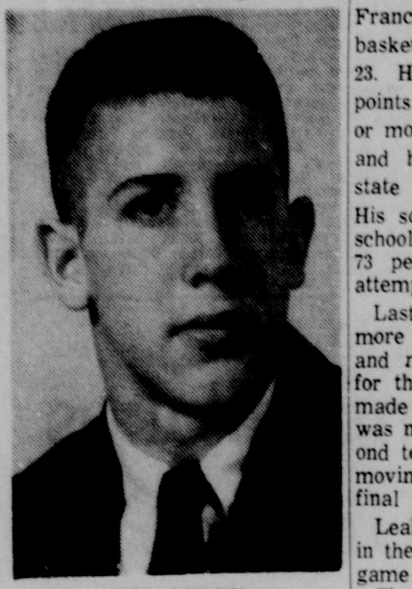
Northeast Signs Basketball Star

An "A" student who has averaged more than 20 points a game for the past three years has been signed by Northeast State Basketball Coach Lenny Fant.

The new Northeast recruit is Bob Leake of St. Francisville, who had the fourth highest scoring average in Louisiana this year — 25.4 points.



BOB LEAKE

A 5-10 guard, Leake averaged 15.1 points as a freshman, 22.3 as a sophomore and 22.4 as a junior before leading his team to second place in class B last winter.

During Leake's career at St. Francisville, the school won 76 basketball games and lost only 23. He scored a total of 2,168 points in four years, scoring 40 or more in one game eight times and hitting a peak of 46 in a state playoff game last season. His scoring average for his high school career is 21.4 and he made 73 per cent of his free throw attempts over the four years.

Last season Leake scored 20 or more points in 20 straight games and made the all - state team for the second straight year. He made all - district four times and was named to the all - state second team as a sophomore before moving up to the first team his final two years.

Leake has been selected to play in the state high school all - star game in Baton Rouge in July.

The basketball star was also a football and baseball standout. He made the Louisiana Sports Writers Assn. class B all - state team last fall after completing 63 of 94 passes for 1,041 yards and averaging 5.4 yards a rush. He was a star shortstop in baseball.

Leake turned down several football and baseball scholarship offers as well as numerous basketball bids from other schools to sign with Northeast. He is undecided about playing football in college but plans to go out for baseball in addition to basketball.

Western Dixies Kick Off Games In Three Places

DUBACH (Special) — The Western Dixie Senior League, including six clubs, starts play Tuesday.

Times and places for the games are at 7:30 p.m. at Ruston's Frasier Field, Dubach High School and Bernice High School.

Tuesday's games are Dubach at Ruston, Bernice at Jonesboro-Hodge and Downsville at Arcadia. Games scheduled for Thursday are Ruston at Bernice, Arcadia at Dubach, Jonesboro - Hodge at Downsville.

The season ends July 25 with Jonesboro - Hodge at Ruston, Dubach at Downsville and Bernice at Arcadia.

Moore With Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Halfback Tom Moore, who gets his chance this year to emerge from Paul Hornung's shadow, has signed his contract for his fourth National Football League season, the Green Bay Packers announced Friday. The Packers also announced the signing of reserve quarterback John Roach.

Race Is Over But Excitement Just Beginning For 500 Star

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The bitter controversy over oil allegedly spilled on the track during the Memorial Day 500 mile auto race erupted into fisticuffs Friday with winner Parnelli Jones landing a punch to the head of fellow racer Eddie Sachs.

Sachs, 17th place winner, and Jones traded at the conclusion of a luncheon both attended at a motel across the street from the speedway, apparently because of remarks Sachs made on a national radio hook-up Thursday night.

Sachs was struck on the ear and his cheek was cut by Jones' ring.

About 50 persons saw the incident or were standing nearby when it happened.

Feud Over Charge

Sachs and Jones feuded over Sachs' charge that Jones should have been flagged off the track before completing the race because, Sachs said, the Jones' car leaked oil that made the track slippery.

Sachs said on the broadcast it was "the first time in speedway history that a 500-mile race has a winner that doesn't deserve it."

After the luncheon, Sachs said he "congratulated him for winning."

"Parnelli replied, 'I don't like some of the things you've been saying about us,'" Sachs said. "I told him I was spinning in his oil. Parnelli said, 'You're a liar.'

"I said 'If I'm a liar, you're a liar.' Parnelli said. 'I ought to poke you in the nose for that.' I told him, 'Go ahead.'

"Then he hit me on the ear and cut my face with his ring," Sachs said, exhibiting blood smudges around his chin and on one cheek.

"I still think he's a great chaminess out on that race track than the man in the moon." Published reports charged that the race was "manipulated" in favor of Jones, who won with a record speed av- Jones "didn't have any more bus- pion," Sachs said, "even if I don't think that of his car owner. If it hadn't been for his powerful car owner, he never would have won the race."

The owner of Jones' car is J.C. Agajanian, a West Coast racing promoter long associated with racing at the speedway here.

Jones admitted he and Sachs had words but declined to comment on the trouble.

A number of drivers and car owners complained because Chief Steward Harlan Fengler refused to flag Jones down in the late stages of the race when smoke vapor trailed from his exhaust.

Sachs and driver Roger McCluskey blamed accidents on the oil slick track. McCluskey said erage of 143.137 miles an hour.

DENIED CHARGE

Fengler, in charge of the event under the United States Auto Club banner, vigorously denied the charges.

"You can't take this race away from a man on snap judgment," said Fengler, himself a former race driver. "Parnelli deserved to win it."

Fengler said he was prepared to stop Jones — just as he black-flagged Jim Hurtubise after 102 laps of the 200-lap grand. He did not, he said, because — while "Hurtubise "dumped" oil in large amounts — Jones' car merely dripped oil until the supply reached a certain level.

Fengler said a check showed that Jones' tire treads were dry disputing charges that he dropped oil all along the 2½ mile course.

Johnny Pouelson, Jones' chief mechanic, said Jones "only had the oil trouble for about 10 laps—it was all right with about 20 laps to go."

Officials said the vapor of smoke trailed Jones Thursday when oil hit the car's hot exhaust pipe. They said a check Thursday night showed Jones' oil supply at the end of the race "compared favorably" with that of other cars.

Junior Golfers Slate First Meet

DELHI (Special) — On Saturday, June 8, at 9:00 A.M., The Junior Golfers will play their first tournament of the year. The event will be open to area players in their teens and sub-teens.

Qualifying rounds have to be played on or before June 7 and the scores turned into the Club Pro. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

If you are a Junior Golfer and interested in playing in this tournament, please check the bulletin board at the Pro Shop for additional information.

Girls Set Teams In Area Softball

DELHI (Special) — The area girls softball league will begin play sometime between June 17 and 21, according to John R. Clark.

Teams from Delhi, Rayville, Crowville, Epps, and Robinson will participate in the league.

Some 57 girls turned out last week to register for teams from Delhi, and some additional coaches and assistants are still needed.

Pete McEacharn and Harry Adcock will manage one of the Delhi teams, girls 13-17, according to Mr. Clark.

Several Heralded Rookies Fail, But All Is Not Lost

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Martinez, Cleveland's "can't miss shortstop" is back in the minors, Tommy Harper is sitting on the Cincinnati bench with a .191 average and Nelson Mathews of the Chicago Cubs is hitting only .154 but all is not lost for the rookie crop of 1963.

Approximately 65 players who qualify under the rules for rookie prizes, still are in the major leagues. Give or take a few options that might have escaped notice over the holiday, the American League had 36 and the National League 29. A rookie is a man who has not had more than 90 at bats, 45 innings pitched or spent 45 days on a big league roster during the period of the 25-player limit.

With cutdown time safely behind them, the rookies head into June with no one outstanding leader. However, there are many who show great promise. Martinez, for instance, probably will be back once he gets into the groove again.

Willie Stargell, a part time performer with Pittsburgh, is hitting .314 according to averages including the May 30 games. Stargell is playing right field while Roberto Clemente sits out his five-day suspension.

Jesse Gonder, Cincinnati's 27-year-old catcher who has been up four times but still qualifies is hitting .400 as a pinch hitter. The only other rookie over 300 is Hector Martinez, (.333) the Kansas City outfielder recalled only last week.

Cap Peterson of San Francisco could be another late bloomer. After a spring trial he was farmed out only to be recalled last week to replace the injured Chuck Hiller at second base for the Giants. Cap is hitting an even .300.

Vic Davalillo, the mighty mite who plays center field for Cleveland, has the best average of any rookie playing regularly in the American League. He is hitting .290 with four homers and 18 runs batted in. Manager Birdie Tebbetts used him as leadoff man and then shifted him to the No. 2 spot when the Tribe acquired Dick Howser. Don Wert who has taken over from Bubba Phillips at third for Detroit is hitting .289.

Ron Hunt of the New York Mets already has been crowned rookie-of-the-year by the trumpet-tooting "Let's Go Mets" fans and he has credentials of a .291 average. Pete Rose of Cincinnati, who was not even on the Reds' roster in spring training, may give Hunt a run for his money. After a slow start Rose has lifted his average to .257.

Bob Bailey, whose bonus at Pittsburgh has been estimated between $125,000 and $200,000, is hitting .240 but tops the National League rookies with five homers and 16 runs batted in.

Pete Ward, installed as the Chicago White Sox's regular third baseman in the spring, has carried his weight with a .267 mark and 27 RBI. Bill Freehan, Detroit's bonus catcher, has a .271 average, alternating with Gus Triandos behind the plate with an occasional day at first base.

The Los Angeles Dodgers beat the drums for second baseman Nate Oliver (.244) in the spring but nobody paid much attention to Dick Tracewski, the skillful shortstop who was overshadowed by Maury Wills. With Wills out of action, Tracewski is doing the job at short and hitting a fair .237. Rusty Staub, most popular Houston Colt, is batting .226 and Ed Kranepool of the Mets has dropped off to .211.

On the pitching side, the big man has to be Ray Culp, who pocketed a big bonus to sign with the Phillies. Culp has come into his own after a 13-8 year at Williamsport and has a 6-3 record going into June. Ron Taylor of St. Louis (2-1) is the only other National League rookie who is close to a regular starter. Tom Sisk (0-0) has developed into a consistent relief man for Pittsburgh and both Larry Bearnarth (1-1) and Don Rowe (0-0) have helped the Mets.

West Monroe Dixie Seniors

Kilpatrick's scored five runs in the third inning and went on to defeat McGuire 7-2 in a West Monroe Dixie Senior game. Kenny George lead Kilpatrick's with a double and Bill Duncan struck out 15 while walking only one man to get credit for the win. Johnny Rachal collected a double for the losers.

Schwall Pitches 4-Hitter; Phils Edge Mets 2-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Schwall doled out only four singles and Jerry Lynch rapped a two-run homer in the seventh inning as the Pittsburgh Pirates overcame the New York Mets 2-0 Friday night.

Carl Willey matched scoreless innings with Schwall through the sixth, but in the seventh the Met right-hander gave up a walk to Bill Mazeroski and Lynch followed with his homer into the Polo Grounds' upper right field seats. The hit was only the third off Willey, who had retired 14 Pirates in order before the walk to Mazeroski.

Lynch's homer was his fourth of the season and his second since coming back to the Pirates last week in a trade after six years with Cincinnati.

Smith Grabs 1st Round Meet Lead

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Marilyn Smith shot a steady 2-under-par 71 Friday to take the first round lead in the $8,000 Bage Zaharias Open Golf Tournament as Mickey Wright, the favorite, ran into trouble just when she seemed on the way to a fine round.

Miss Smith, the second leading money-winner and Miss Wright's chief competition on the women's tour, had three birdies and but for a missed 2-foot putt would have held a two-stroke lead.

Miss Wright wound up with a 72 and was tied for second place with Joann Winter and Betsy Rawls, former Zaharias champion.

Miss Wright, the top money-winner seeking her fourth tournament victory in a row, experienced her usual trouble on the tight, tre e-lined 6,219-yard Beaumont County Club course. She suffered a pair of bogeys to nullify an otherwise consistent game that found her shooting three birdies and missing eagle putts on two occasions.

Miss Smith stayed with par until the 263-yard par 4 sixth where she saank a 3-foot putt for a birdie. She had another birdie on No. 9 with a 6-footer and chipped in from 30 feet out for a birdie on 11. She missed the green and also bobbled a 2-foot putt on No. 8.

Clifford Ann Greed, veteran Betty Jameson, Carol Mann and Kathy Whitworth all had 73s to tie for fifth place.

Falstaff Gets 7-1 Triumph Behind Griggs

Falstaff, behind the five - hit pitching of Gerald Griggs, raced to a 7-1 victory over Piggly Wiggly Friday night in American Legion Amateur league action.

Griggs struck out 11 batters on the way to his triumph and walked only one man.

After PW pitcher Jim Walker held Falstaff scoreless for the first two innings, Charles Haynes doubled to lead off the top of the third inning and Falstaff was on its way.

An important meeting is scheduled Tuesday night for all Amateur League managers and officials, according to general manager Saul Adler.

The meeting, which will begin at 7:00 p.m., is urgent and all officials are asked to attend.

Griggs then hit to the shortstop who threw the ball away at first. Haynes went to third and Griggs to second. Jerry Aulds was then walked intentionally to load the bases.

Howard Bailey promptly came through with a clutch bloop singles over first to plate Haynes. Rosco Holcomb then placed another one in the same place, over first, to score Griggs, leaving the bases loaded.

After the next batter struck out, Fred McEnery hit to the shortstop who threw wild at second, allowing two runs to score. The last run scored on a fielder's choice.

Piggly Wiggly scored it's lone tally in the bottom of the sixth when Darryl Johnson singled, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Johnny Gray.

Bailey went two for three for the winners and Gray had two hits for Piggly Wiggly.

Orioles' Boss Rates As Shrewdest Trader

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lee MacPhail of the Baltimore Orioles rates the raves today as baseball's shrewdest trader.

His Birds are flying high and well may "steal" the American League pennant from the haughty New York Yankees with a cast assembled chiefly through MacPhail's trades since he became general manager at the end of the 1958 season.

And MacPhail's hand - picked manager — Billy Hitchcock — hasn't exactly slowed 'em down.

Like his famous father, Larry, Lee doesn't hesitate to gamble on multi-player trades like the one that brought in shortstop Luis Aparicio and outfielder Al Smith in a four-for-two deal with the Chicago White Sox last winter.

But unlike the flamboyant elder MacPhail, who dearly loved to disturb baseball's status quo before he retired from the game, 46-year-old Lee goes about things so quietly only the final results generally are noted.

Furthermore, he has developed the knack of leaving a trail of satisfied customers. The White Sox, for instance, are delighted with the deal that brought them Hoyt Wilhelm, Dave Nicholson, Pete Ward and Ron Hansen.

The Orioles finished a disastrous seventh last year, partly due to circumstances beyond their control such as injuries and military service for a couple of key men. And Hitchcock was a new man at the field controls, learning the league and his own personnel.

Then during the winter, MacPhail got busy.

He swung the big deal with the White Sox for Aparicio and Smith, who had outlived their usefullness at Chicago but still had plenty of star-stuff left in them.

He landed catcher Dick Brown from Detroit for outfielder Whitey Herzog and catcher Gus Triandos, the latter a slugger who had come disenchanted with Baltimore.

He switched like-for-like with San Francisco, getting pitchers Mike McCormick and Stu Miller, plus catcher John Orsino for pitchers Billy Hoeft and John Fisher, plus catcher Jim Coker.

A lesser deal with Washington brought utility infielder Bob Johnson, a power-hitting handy-man. Also new is outfielder Joe Gaines, purchased from Cincinnati.

Lee took a long chance on veteran Robin Roberts, ex-Philly ace cut loose last year by the Yankees before he had pitched an official inning. Roberts responded with a 10-9 record and recently got back on the beam after a poor 1963 start by reeling off four victories in a row.

How much MacPhail was influenced in other years by former manager Paul Richards, who went to Houston as general manager late in 1961, is hard to say. Obviously Paul had to approve such deals as these:

Purchase of slugger Jim Gentile from a Dodger farm late in 1959; trade for outfielder Jackie Brandt that sent pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes to San Francisco in 1960; acquisition of catcher Charley Lau from the minors in '61.

These are the guys — plus farm-developed players — who are giving the Orioles a good shot at the flag.

Buzhardt Hurls 3-Hitter; Takes Win Over Boston

CHICAGO (AP)—Backed by a 12-hit attack, John Buzhardt hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 6-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday night with a three-hitter.

Buzhardt recorded his fifth victory against two losses as his teammates went to work early and kayoed Gene Comnley in the third inning.

Floyd Robinson singled home a run for Chicago in the first inning and Mike Hershberger singled home another in the second. The White Sox then knocked Conley out with a three-run splurge in the third.

Meanwhile, Boston was unable to get a hit off Buzhardt until the fourth inning when Lu Clinton singled to left.

Smith Another Threat For British Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, (AP)—Big Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C., defied an aching back and a worried surgeon Friday and played a round at St. Andrews, adding one more American threat in next week's British Amateur Golf Championship.

"I'll play if it kills me," the 32-year-old automobile dealer said as he walked off the 18th green with a score he kept to himself.

It was quite a feat for Smit who had to drop out of the Walker Cup matches at Turnberry last week and consult a London specialist.

"I hurt my back four years ago," Smith explained, "and when I was practicing at Turnberry I felt it snap again. There was a displacement between the fourth and fifth vertebrae and a disc got out of place."

The surgeon, Dr. W. E. Tucker, told Smith he would play golf at his own risk.

"If I have any trouble, of course, it would be serious and I'd have to quit."

The entire U.S. contingent sympathized with Smith. He has been the hard luck guy of American amateur golf.

Two years ago he lost the only Walker Cup match the British won at Seattle, beaten by Martin Christmas. At Turnberry he was not playing well and was dropped from the first days foursomes. In the singles he managed only a half with Michael Lunt.

Richard Tufts, U.S. Walker cup team captain, stuck by him, though, on the second day until Smith shambled off the practice tee in pain.

Smith plays Martin Douglass of Scotland in his first-round match.

The eight Walker cup Americans, heavily favored as individuals, played Friday with mostly average performances. They admitted they were starting to find some of St. Andrews' famous trouble spots. Exceptions were Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., who shot a one under par 71, and U.S. amateur champion Labron Harris of Stillwater, Okla., whose 72 included 36 putts.

The original 256 entries for the marathon match play Monday through Saturday were reduced to 250 by scratches for which alternates were not available and byes were granted.

This put one American, Maj. Matt Tatum of Birmingham, Ala., who is on army duty at Bremerhaven, Germany, into the second round without swinging a club. There are 39 Americans entered, including the eight Walker cuppers.

'DO NOTHING' DODGERS

Manager States Views On Deals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan was quoted Friday as saying the Los Angeles Dodgers have a "do nothing" trade policy. He also deplored dealings with St. Louis and New York.

Herald-Examiner writer Bob Hunter gave this account in a dispatch from Cincinnati:

"They say they want a third baseman and a pitcher," Bragan said of the Dodgers. "Then Bavasi refuses to even discuss the matter on the phone.

"Don't you think Mathews or Shaw would help the Dodgers? Of course they would.

"But Bavasi wouldn't even discuss Mathews with John McHale."

E. J. Bavasi is the Dodger general manager. McHale is a Milwaukee executive. Eddie Mathews is a third baseman and Bob Shaw is a pitcher.

"We're going to quit this fooling around and trade Shaw to San Francisco," Bragan said.

"McHale told Bavasi that every man on the Braves was available except Hank Aaron and he still refused to discuss a deal."

He said catcher Del Crandall has been on the block for some time and Bavasi recently said he wouldn't trade Ken McMullen, now at Spokane, for Crandall.

"That's a silly statement for sense. The Cards want Crandall the worst way, but they offer Gene Oliver and George Altman for Del and another star. Do they think we're crazy?"

"The worst outfit of all to try to deal with is the Mets. They offered us Charlie Neal and Frank Thomas for Crandall and another top flight player. Do these people think we are crazy?"

He said he thought Shaw could just about clinch the pennant for either Los Angeles or San Francisco.

RETALIATION DEMANDED

Poultry Raisers Strike Back At Market's Tariff

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of Congress from poultry-raising states struck back angrily Friday at the European Common Market's tariff increase on American chickens. Some promptly demanded retaliatory action against European products.

The administration joined in expressing concern but said it understood the action was not final.

There were echoes of the post-World War I battle over protectionism and high tariffs as senators and congressmen denounced the unexpected increase as inexcusable and unpardonable in view of U.S. economic aid to the countries involved.

Sen. Spessard L. Holland, F-Fla., urged the government to take the "most effective reprisals" possible against the Common Market. He said the increase, coming after American help to the countries, was "too much to accept."

TARIFF RAISED

Agriculture ministers from the six Common Market countries—France, West Germany, Holland and Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy—raised the tariff Wednesday on U.S. frozen chicken from 13 cents to 14.25 cents a pound. The United States has hoped for some slight cut.

Administration officials also voiced concern over the action by the agriculture ministers meeting in Brussels. The State Department said, however, that it understood the action by the ministers was not final and that the matter was still under consideration by the six nations.

Under a 1961 agreement, the United States could request talks on the tariff and, if these did not lead to a solution, there could be U.S. retaliatory tariff action.

The U.S. poultry industry already had been hard hit by the old tariff, a point noted by such critics as Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga. He said the increase amounts to a total embargo that would make it impossible for U.S. growers to show a profit on European sales.

URGES ACTION

Russell urged President Kennedy to make it clear that "we will not tolerate such a wholly unfair practice and will demand in no uncertain terms that these barriers be reduced instead of increased."

Reps. Durward G. Hall, R-Mo., and H. R. Gross, R-Calif., coupled their criticism with an attack on the Kennedy administration trade program approved by Congress last year. Hall called the trade program a "pie in the sky" plan.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, R-Md., told the President in a telegram that he should use his powers to bring about a reversal of the increase. He said the hike would work a severe hardship on the Delmirva Peninsula (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia) where the economy is dependent on the poultry industry.

CITES WARNING

Senate Republic Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., said "those who know most about the problem" had warned that the Common Market might try to "fence out" such U.S. farm products as poultry. He said the Brussels action appeared to be the beginning of such an attempt.

Holland said that under the 1962 trade act, the President has authority to retaliate against such action, and "this would be a first and appropriate occasion" for him to do so. Hall agreed that "this kind of protectionism is a two-way street."

Gross told the House that the European action just about prohibits the shipment of U.S. poultry to Common Market countries. He said he hoped those who voted for the trade program recognized "the wonderful treatment we are now getting."

Alto Graduate Claims Honors At Med School

BATON ROUGE (Special) — Donald Ray Smith, of Alto, who will graduate from LSU School of Medicine on June 7, received many honors while in college.

A 1956 graduate of Mangham High School, he received his pre-medical training at Northeast State College and LSU.

Named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, Smith also served as president of the student body of the medical school. He was recently awarded a Citation of Merit by the Alumni Council to the outstanding medical student of the year.

As the "student who symbolizes the highest ideals of medicine," Smith earned the George S. Bell Memorial Award.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Smith of Alto, he is married to the former Miss Sue Boughton of Mangham.

Dr. Smith will do his internship with the U.S. Army at Tripler Hospital in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Mayor Norris' Statement Asks Work On Homes

Participation by West Monroe residents in "Home Improvement Year in 1963" was recommended by Mayor J. Allan Norris in a proclamation issued this week.

The decline in building of new homes makes this an excellent time for imporvements, according to local home builders.

The mayor's proclamation read in part as follows:

"Whereas, modernization of homes develops and promotes civic pride, and

"Whereas, modernization activity increases business and stimulates prosperity,

"Now, therefore, be it proclaimed that the year of 1963, shall be known as "Home Improvement Year," i nour community, and

"Be it therefore proclaimed that during "Home Improvement Year" all citizens of West Monroe are urged to examine and reappraise the condition, equipment, and facilities of their homes, with the view to instituting remodeling programs when and as appropriate."

First Baptist Licensee Gets Study Degree

For the first time in the history of the First Baptist Church of West Monroe, a minister licensed to preach by this church has received the Doctor of Theology degree.

Rev. Billy Kenneth Smith, a native of Spearsville, was awarded his doctorate at the New Orleans Baptist Seminary on June 24. He was licensed by the West Monroe church in August, 1953.

He was valedictorian of his graduating class at Spearsville High School, and graduated from Louisiana Tech in 1952 with departmental honors in education.

In August, 1959, he accepted the full-time pastorate at the Monte Sano Baptist Church in Baton Rouge, where he is presently located.

The World for WOMEN

Bride-Elect Shower Honoree In Tallulah

A surprise shower honoring Miss Lourdine Shows took place Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Margaret Quale with employees of the Madison Parish Hospital as hostesses. Bouquets of daisies and other spring flowers brightened the reception rooms.

The refreshment table, overlaid with a green linen cloth was centered with an open Bible in a setting of white lilies and greenery, and a candelabrum holding white tapers.

The hostess' gift was an electric steam iron and a gift from the [illegible]ers at the hospital was an elec[illegible] cooking utensil.

Those sharing the party with the honor guest were Mrs. Margaret Quale, Mrs. Virginia Owens, Mrs. Sue Taylor, Mrs. Ruth Redwine, Mrs. Josephine Pryor, Mrs. Johnny Taylor, Mrs. A. H. Shows and Mrs. J. V. Panquin.

Highland Park Members And Guests View Summer Fashions At Splash Party

Gay multi-colored balloons and pennant flags decorated the pool area of the Highland Park Country Club last night for a family Splash Party and outdoor fashion show that officially opened the summer season at the club.

Mrs. George N. Patterson, chairman of the entertainment committee, assisted by members of the club, carried out the nautical theme in their decorations with water play equipment covering the fence surrounding the pool and patio area.

Red and white checkered cloths covered the supper tables placed about the pool, and the area was illuminated with flambeaux and glowing hurricane lamps.

Following the social hour, which preceded the festivities at 5:30 p.m., members gathered about the pool for an outdoor fashion show which carried out the theme of "Fashins for Sand, Pool and Patio Time." Mrs. Mabs Jolissaint acted as coordinator and commentator for the show, with club president, A. C. Williams as master of ceremonies.

Summer sportswear for men, women and children was presented. Modeling children's clothes Cindy and Julie Wilkins, Lisa King, Matt Shepard, Steve Spurlock, Mike Curry, Kathy Kelly, Virginia Ann Reighney, Lisa Crenshaw, Sara Hamilton, and Francie, Lalie and Lee Patterson.

Modeling cloths for the ladies' summer activities were Rene Rousseau, Elaine Turnley, Linda Canterbury Derlie O'Beir, Mary Ann Purvis, Julianna Hales, Ginny Lee, eBcky Harper, Lynn Baughman, Mar-Jo Walker, Susan Etheridge, Linda Haley and Virginia Ireland.

Men's fashions were presented by Johnny Simpson, Howard Barker, Gordy Roy, F. E. Patterson, John Lacy, Bill Kelly, Ralph Bird and Clyde Albritton Jr.

Following the fashions, members of the YMCA under the direction of George Smith, physical director of the Y, entertained with a water show. Participating were Gail Sherman, Leslie Sherman, Kip Suddith, Sandy Sherman, Janelle Gattis, Patty Shoudy and Susan Hartman.

A buffet table was set up in the lounge and guests were served throughout the evening. Following the program, club members and their guests enjoyed a dip in the pool or dancing in the club lounge.

Area Teachers Honored With Faculty Tea

Two teachers of the Harrisonburg High School were honored, and other members of the faculty entertained, at a tea given this week by Mrs. C. C. Crawford and Mrs. Hazel Crawford.

Mrs. Doris Meyers, who is transferring to the Sicily Island High school next year, and Coach Joe Green who will marry Miss Emmilee Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Johnson of Harrisonburg, on June 7, were the honorees.

Mrs. Meyers was first presented with a corsage of yellow roses. After refreshments had been served, principal S. E. Lanier presented her with a silver tray and a sugar bowl and creamer in her crystal pattern on behalf of the faculty.

Coach Green was gifted with a piece of silver.

In addition to the faculty, those attending included Mrs. C. F. Roulton Sr. and Mrs. H. A. Taliaferro.

Patio And Porch Party Compliment Miss White, Mr. Reppond At Leighs

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leigh entertained with a patio and porch party last Sunday morning from 11:00 until 1:00, complimenting Miss Murff White and Jimmy Don Reppond, whose wedding will take place tomorrow at Christ Episcopal Church in Bastrop, with the Reverend Richrd R. Cook officiating.

Magnolias, roses and daisies were used in the decorations for the porch of the Leigh home at 1401 South Grand. The brunch table was centered with an arrangement of white rose buds with cupids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Leigh was assisted in the morning's courtesies by Miss Marjorie Leigh, Mrs. Julia Moore, Mrs. H. W. Greene and Mrs. O. R. Lewis.

The honoree was attired in a pink silk linen model with an A-line skirt. She wore an orchid corsage, a gift from the hosts. The hostess was dressed in green linen.

Guests were Miss White and Mr. Reppond Mrs. Douglas Pettis, mother of the bride - elect, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Announcement Made Of Approaching Marriage Of Lynne Jeanne Escoe

Mr. and Mrs. Lytt Mayhon Escoe of Houma have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Lynne Jeanne Escoe of Lake Charles, to Bruce Houston Richardson of Ruston, son of John T. Richardson and the late Louise Richardson.

Miss Escoe and Mr. Richardson have chosen Saturday, June 15, at 7:00 p.m. for their wedding at the First Baptist Church in Houma. Dr. Leon Hyatt Jr. will officiate at the wedding ceremony.

Miss Ranna Jane Leake will serve as maid of honor and Miss Jane Ann Sokolosky, bridesmaid, for the wedding. John T. Richardson III will be his brother's best man, with Ralph G. Richardson and Thomas J. Smith as ushers.

Miss Escoe received her bachelor's and her master's degrees at Louisiana Tech, where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority. Mr. Richardson is also a graduate of Louisiana Tech.

After their marriage, the couple will reside in Ruston.

Miss Escoe is the granddaughter of Mrs. Robert F. Litton of Houma. Mrs. John T. Richardson of Ruston and Dr. and Mrs. S. H. Guess of Greenwood, Mississippi, are the grand-parents of the groom.

Gay Hargrove Named Honoree For Luncheon

Miss Gay Hargrove, graduating senior of Neville High School, was guest of honor at a luncheon given by Mrs. W. A. Colvin and her daughters, Phamie and Jean, at Highland Park Country Club, Wednesday, May 29th.

Yellow and orange daylilies in a bitter-sweet wicker basket were used on the luncheon table, where 14 guests were seated. Specimen roses were used in a white tureen in the entrance hall.

Those attending were Misses Gay Hargrove, Nancy Crossland, Diane West, Cathy McSherry, K K Kite, Carol Koontz, Diane Clark, Linda Ladner, Susan Sperry, Polly Parrish, Phamie Colvin, Jean Colvin, Mrs. H. B. Hargrove and Mrs. W. A. Colvin.

Checks Slated For Summer On Ouachita Boats

Safety inspections are now being made on all motorboats operating on the Ouachita river by a four-man Coast Guard team, announced E. A. Timmons, officer in charge.

"All boats operating on the Ouachita River will be inspected as the summer boating season gets underway," said Timmons.

Among other things, citations will be issued to reckless and negligent operators, and ski rigs will be closely observed.

"We are not here to harass nor destroy enjoyment on the river, but instead we hope to instill a feeling of safety responsibility among those who use the river," Timmons said.

The Coast Guard inspection will be coordinated with local authorities on the river, according to Timmons.

Chief Timmons said inspection requests were welcome. Any boat-owners who would like to have inspections to arrange them by contacting him at the Penn Resort Hotel through Sunday.

Rehearsel Supper Honors Winnsboro Couple Prior To Wedding This Evening

Miss Linda Faye Wiltshire and John Haynes Landrum, whose marriage will take place this evening at the First Baptist Church in Winnsboro, were honored at a rehearsal supper last night by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olin H. Guyton.

Miss Wiltshire, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wiltshire, was outfitted in a blue printed model of whipped cream material for the party, which took place in the private dining room of the Motel Owen in Winnsboro at 8 p.m. Friday evening.

A centerpiece of pink and white mums trailing ivy and candles on each side graced the supper table.

The couple chose this time to present their gifts to their attendants.

Guests for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wiltshire, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Moore Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Bond, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pinckard, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McCain, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wink, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moudy, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Eppinette, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Landrum, Mr. and Mrs. J. Miss Patricia Tompkins Is Luncheon Honoree

A luncheon at the Paragon Supper Club last Saturday noon honored Miss Patricia Tompkins, bride-elect of Thomas Beall, whose marriage will be solemnized next Saturday, June 8, at the Highland Baptist Church in West Monroe. Hostesses for the party were Misses Virginia and Sheila Watson.

Miss Tompkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Tompkins Jr. of West Monroe, and Mr. Beall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Beall of Wilson, Arkansas.

An arrangement of pink roses combined with delphinium and soft green fern in an alabaster compote formed the centerpiece for the luncheon table.

Luncheon guests were Mrs. E. B. Tompkins Jr., Mrs. Richard Burgoyne, Miss Linda Tompkins, Mrs. Jane Crawford Rice, Mrs. Judy Martin, Miss Pat Calhoun, Mrs. Linda Stricklin, Mrs. Joe Ford Jr., Miss Tompkins and the hostesses.

Byrd, Robert L. Stokeld, Larry James and Leonard Wall.

LUNCHEON

Mrs. Dee O. Cox and Mrs. Walter Scott III entertained with a luncheon Saturday noon at the Cox home complimentary to Miss Querrey and her bridal attendants. A yellow and white color theme was employed in attractive floral decorations.

The bride's table held a unique arrangement extending down the center. It was fashioned with gilded coil springs that tapered to small points at the ends. Inserted between the coils were sprigs of white yarrow, yellow marigolds and yellow pansies and at the center nandina blossoms and foliage. Bowls of lemon yellow and orange marigolds, yellow pansies and greenery formed the centerpiece for each of the round tables. Other flowers were placed at vantage points in the reception rooms. Appointments of amber crystal and accents of gold on the china added to the effectiveness of the luncheon tables.

Those enjoying the luncheon were Miss Querrey, Miss Yvonne Crothers, Miss Carole Ursery Mrs. Walter Scott III, Miss Mary Jane King, Mrs. W. H. Querrey, Mrs. Ben Black, Mrs. T. W. James Jr., Mrs. T. HINTS FROM HELOISE

Tape Sewn Inside Cuffs Takes Wear Off Trousers

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear little friend:

Here's a thought I would like to pass on to you all — especially those who are afraid to stay home alone at night . . . or even during the daytime for that matter . . . . because they have old-type, common mortise locks on their doors. Just remember, if someone should try to get in, they first have to remove the bit key from your lock before they can use their own key.

Did you know that you can take a coat hanger and a pair of pliers or wire snippers and cut a piece of wire (from the bottom of the hanger about 12 inches long, and bend it into the shape of a "U". This means it will look like an old horseshoe.

After locking your door (leave the key as far as it will turn after locking) then put the wire over the doorknob and through the little hole in that old skelton key! The key cannot possibly be turned from the outside then! Nor can it be "jimmied" from the hole itself. And, gals, don't you ever doubt it. I had those on both my front and back door.

Outside of this you can go to any dime store and buy a door bolt or lock and chain that fits on the top of the door. These are worth every dime we spend on them.

Just the thought that an intruder will have to open at least two or more locks relieves our minds somewhat.

I send my special love to all of those who are scairdy cats like me.

Heloise.

Dear Heloise:

When a man buys a suit he usually only gets one pair of trousers, so I SEW a piece of iron-on tape at the bottom of the cuffs where it rubs against his shoes—real close to the inside bottom edge. The tape takes the wear . . . not the trousers.

The next time they are cleaned the iron-on tape comes back really ironed-on.

If you do not stitch this tape it will roll on the edges.

Virginia Pairsson.

Dear Heloise:

Here is a household tip.

To keep those appliances which have rubber slides and footsies from sticking on your drainboard just buy a twenty-five-cent piece of felt and apply it to the bottom! Apply this with glue.

The twenty-five-cent piece of felt will be plenty to fix your mixer, radio, toaster, cannister set, bottom of your kitchen chairs and various vases, ceramics, figurines which might scratch a nice table top. . . .

When I make a pie crust the first thing I do is to put an ice cube in a half cup of water. By the time the flour and shortening are blended . . . I measure and pour this ice water in my plastic clothes bottle and then sprinkle the water into the flour through the dough. There will be no lumps of wet dough.

My Symons.

And, gals, it plainly states in a lot of recipes that we should use cold water when mixing pastry. It makes a much light and fluffier crust.

Heloise.

Dear Heloise:

After I clean and polish our shoes I put them into a small plastic bag — such as fruit or laundered shirts come in — before I place them in our shoe bags.

Just fold the bag at the end and this will keep the dust and lint off the shoes. When they are needed they are nice and clean. Especially if it is a pair of shoes you don't use very often.

Area Students To Get Degrees At Centenary

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Three Northeast Louisiana students are among the 140 Centenary College seniors who will be awarded degrees at the annual Commencement exercises to be held in the college's amphitheatre at 8 p.m., June 2.

They are Joan Williams of Monroe, Charlotte Stodghill of Rayville and William N. Nelson of Bastrop.

Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Williams, 3435 Westminster, will graduate with a major in education. Miss Stodghill, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin D. Stodghill of 1101 Louisa, Rayville, is also an education major. Nelson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble W. Nelson, 1112 Cherry Ridge, Bastrop, is an English major.

Commencement exercises will feature an address by Dr. William A. Benfield, Jr., senior minister at Shreveport's First Presbyterian Church. The Baccalaureate service will be held at Brown Memorial Chapel at 9 a.m., June 2, with the Rev. William L. Hattaway, superintendent of the Houston-East District of the Methodist Church, delivering the sermon.

Measle Vaccine Said Effective In Med Journal

CHICAGO (UPI)—Two types of measles vaccines have proved "highly effective," according to studies reported Friday in the Journal of the American Medical Asssociation (AMA).

A killed virus measles vaccine was studied in 601 children ranging up to 13 years of age by six doctors at Long Island Jewish Hospital, New Hyde Park, N.Y. A live vaccine study was conducted in Chicago on 206 children.

In 250 children given one dose of killed virus vaccine, immunity was produced in 66.8 per cent of cases, the report said. In 89 given two doses a month apart, 98.9 per cent were immunized, and in 106 given three monthly doses, the vaccine was 100 per cent effective, the report said. The remaining 156, who had some degree of immunity prior to vaccination, showed a rise in the level of measles antibodies, the report said.

In the live vaccine study, 97.5 per cent of 79 chlidren vaccinated showed a significant buildup in measles antibodies, it was reported.

U.S. Oil Heads Tied In Talks In Indonesia

TOKYO, Saturday (UPI)—American oil men and diplomats were locked in round-the-clock negotiations with high ranking Indonesian officials early Friday with the fate of multi-million dollar foreign oil investments in Indonesia hanging in the balance.

The Americans began their meeting with Indonesian Basic Industries Minister Chaerul Selah at 9 p.m. Thursday.

There were two brief recesses after the meeting started, but each time it was reconvened.

At 12:30 a.m. The negotiators still were at work, and an official U.S. spokesman said that the meeting would continue. He declined to issue any progress report, but said:

"I think They're trying to get it wound up before (Indonesian President) Sukarno goes home on Sunday."

The team of American negotiators met with Saleh after he bluntly declared that Indonesia is not going to be intimidated by threats of the withdrawal of American Aid.

The American negotiators were headed by Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt of Kentucky, special envoy for President Kennedy.

Minnesota Whip Pledges Rights Laws In June

CHICAGO (UPI)—Senate Majority Whip Hubert Humphrey said Friday new civil rights legislation aimed at bolstering present laws will "be introduced very soon—probably in the middle of June."

The Minnesota Democrat told a news conference the legislation would allow Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to begin civil rights suits on his own initiative, act to guarantee desegregation of public accomodations, and implement the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court desegregation decision.

Humphrey was in Chicago to address the National Association of Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Contractors convention.

In a wide-ranging conference, Humphrey also said he anticipates the administration's proposal for medical care for the aged through social security "will have the votes necessary for passage this time." It was defeated in a Senate try last summer.

EARL R. HESTER

'Hester Day' Will Be Held In Area Today

ARCADIA (Special) — Today is "Earl R. Hester Day" here, in honor of the Arcadia High School principal who has served as head of the high school for the past 35 years.

Hester retired at the end of this session. He has served 42 years in the public schools of the state.

Arcadia Mayor Robert L. Taylor urged citizens to attend a special program honoring the retiring education tonight in the school auditorium.

Hester is a native of Downsville in Lincoln Parish and was educated at Downsville High School, Louisiana Tech, LSU and George Peabody College of Nashville, Tenn.

He holds both the bachelor and master's degrees with advanced graduate studies.

Hester said future plans are indefinate at this time.

Harold Tinsley, who has been assistant of the school for 16 years, has been appointed to be principal and will assume his official duties July 1.

Quick Release Of Cardinal Is Not Anticipated

ROME (UPI) — Franziskus Cardinal Koenig of austria said Friday he does not expect a quick release of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty from Hungary.

Cardinl Koenig, who has played a key role in the negotiations with Hungary's Communist regime, said efforts are continuing but there are problems blocking an agreement.

"I do not think there will be a rapid solution," he said. But he did not express discouragement.

"I feel the very fact that there have been contacts between the Holy See and the Hungary government represents a positive evolution," he said.

Cardinal Mindszenty has been in the U.S. Legation in Budapest since the collapse of the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary in 1956.

Fisher Still Liz's Partner; To Get Half Of Earnings

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A spokesman for Eddie Fisher said Friday the singer is a partner with his estranged wife Elizabeth Taylor in a corporation that brings him 50 per cent of her earnings.

Fisher and Miss Taylor separated last year following the romance between the actress and her co-star, Richard Burton, on location in Rome for the movie "Cleopatra."

Fisher's business associate said that the corporation still is in force.

It could bring as much as $5 million to Fisher from Miss Taylor's role in "Cleopatra," which 20th Century-Fox studio chief Darryl Zanuck said may earn the star $10 million.

Red Chinese Buy Australian Wheat

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—Wheat Board Chairman James V. Moroney announced Friday that Communist China has bought another 46 million bushels of wheat from Australia on credit.

The sale brings to 236 million bushels the total amount China has bought from this country since December, 1960. The latest shipment will be paid off over a 12-month period.

The total deal has cost Peking more than $358 million and has enabled Australia to dispose of its entire export surplus.

Heart Council Slates Awards

Awards and Recognition Night will be held by the Ouachita Parish Heart Council Wednesday at the Paragon Club, said Council President Joseph Kern.

Tech professors S. S. Kilgore and Dr. Roland Abegg will discuss Undergraduate Research, and Sol Snyder, chairman of the board of directors of the Louisiana Heart Association, will present special awards to participate in the Heart Fund drive.

They've come out with a "First Family Photo Album," which the comedian feels is going too far—he doesn't want to have anything further to do with the JFK tie-in.

A girl singer just got $50,000 in cold cash under the table as a bonus for signing with an eager booking agency . . . Colleen Lanza, daughter of the late Mario Lanza, may make her screen debut in a remake of a Deanna Durbin film . . . Marlon Brando looked miserably unhappy and bored during his recent TV appearance on the "Tonight" show, but it wasn't a total loss. He met Freda Payne, the beautiful young singer on the program, and took her home after the taping . . . Warner Brothers paid a $200,000 advance for the music rights to "Hot Spot," but shelved plans to record a cast album when the show folded.

COMMUNIQUE FROM OXFORD, MISS.: "This town is still a big story, and likely to be in the news indefinitely. More than 300 soldiers are still on the job guarding James Meredith around the clock. He's probably the most carefully guarded person in the world. His every move is tabulated on a wall map that has lights flashing to show his location at all times. Military police patrol around his dormitory, in the halls and outside his door.

"Despite his presence, the other students at the university don't consider that the school is integrated.

"One thing is certain: Meredith has more spending money than any of his classmates. Since he enrolled at Ole Miss he's received thousands of dollars from well-wishers all over the country.

"There's a Broadway angle to the story down here. One of the military police assigned to Meredith is Robert Shea, Martha Raye's last husband."

SOPHIA LOREN IS DUE BACK in the U. S. in August. She and Carlo Ponti will make an extensive tour to ballyhoo her big new movie, "The Condemned of Altona" . . . The short-lived romance between Rip Taylor and Nancy Eisner is over. Rip announced their engagement on the Ed Sullivan show a couple of weeks ago, but they had a rousing fight and she's telling friends the whole thing is off . . . Sammy Davis Jr. has been signed to sing "Katherine's Theme" behind the credits of Merle Oberon's upcoming picture, "Of Love and Desire."

Shirl Conway, star of "The Nurses," is doing a commercial for the Air Force Nurses recruiting program . . . Brigitte Bardot and her latest flame, actor-producer Christian Marquand, are making Rome's paparazzi happier than they've been since Liz and Burton left town . . . Johnny Mathis' recent Philadelphia Story wasn't a happy one . . . Phil Greenwald has scored a show biz coup. He's just returned from Hollywood where he signed Harry Richman to appear at the Concord this Summer — on the same bill with Sophie Tucker and Toe E. Lewis. The Catskills may never be the same.

SEXY REXY HARRISON has long been known as a rather slow fellow with a buck, but it would appear that the new Mrs. Harrison has changed all that. The New York shops love her, as do the London stores, because she adores clothes and buys and buys and buys. When she and Rex left for California the other day, their overweight cost more than $400 — and that was just for a few little essentials; she left two trunks at the Plaza, and the Rolls-Royce went ahead with luggage in the front with the chauffeur, in the rear, and in the trunk . . . A famous Hollywood lawyer is so worried about his fading looks he's undergoing a series of beauty treatments — including mud packs.

Jean Pierre Aumont is all excited. Wife Marisa Pavan may do a TV show in Hollywood and if she does she'll be coming in from Rome and spending a couple of days with him . . . George Maharis has been working out at a local gym every morning. When he started two months ago, after his bout with hepatitis, he was wan, pallid and weak, but now he's a tiger, lifting weights and hefting barbells . . . With ex-Queen Soraya's memoirs due for publication in England soon, and the Duchess of Argyll's reminiscences coming out with the title "My Marriage to the Duke," the British won't have to turn on the telly for entertainment.

NEW YORK MUSIC CIRCLES were shocked at the news that 39-year-old Barney Speiler, bass fiddle player in the Netherlands State Symphony, was killed in an auto accident in Holland. Barney came up the ladder as a jazz bass player and worked with Benny Goodman in 1946 just before he decided to turn longhair and make Holland his home . . . Oscar Homolka has written a play . . . Olivia DeHavilland is the latest star to put the rap on Hollywood. She finds "the obsession with success and sex is so juvenile, so boring." She likes Paris — where, as everyone knows, they don't give a hoot about sex.

Pro-Red Forces Attack Outpost On Plain Of Jars

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces Friday attacked a neutralist outpost on the Plain of Jars, killing 4 men and wounding 10, despite a peace appeal from Russia and Britain.

Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma announced the attack shortly after a cabinet meeting at which the Pathet Lao reported its reaction to the peace appeal. Details were not disclosed but the attack indicated they were ignoring it.

The Canadian member of the three-nation International Control Commission (ICC) asked the government for permission to investigate reports that Chinese Communist troops have entered northwestern Laos.

The request was expected to run into a roadblock from the Pathet Lao which has prevented all efforts at independent investigation by the ICC.

The Chinese are believed to be in the area in connection with a road-building project. In addition, Western officials believe 11 battalions of North Vietnamese regulars are helping the Pathet Lao.

Rev. Wineinger Named Chaplain At Glenwood

Rev. Don Wineinger, pastor of the McGuire Methodist Church of West Monroe, is to be appointed as the first full-time chaplain of Glenwood Hospital by the Louisiana Conference of the Methodist Church.

Ministers are now serving the hospital on a voluntary basis each week, with one calling on each patient daily.

Rev. Wineinger, who had been pastor of the McGuire Methodist Church since 1957, is to leave today to participate in a special course in chaplaincy at the Institute of Religion in the Texas Medical Center in Houston.

His appointment will be effective June 1, and he will be given a leave of absence until he completes the course on Jan. 1.

Supervisor Post Given Childers

COLUMBIA (Special) — The Caldwell Parish School Board had appointed Billy Childers, of Grayson, to fill the vacancy left by K. R. Russell, classroom supervision of eduction for Caldwell Parish, who was killed last week in a car accident.

Russell, at the time of his death, was also building supervisor for the new Caldwell Parish High School being constructed in Caldwell Parish. Childers will assume this position until the building is completed sometime this summer.

Also, the school board appointed Tillman Gregory, Columbia carpenter, to fill the vacancy left by the death of Clyde Horn who was employed with the school board as maintenance supervisor for the school buildings in the parish.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 6-1

YOUR PROBLEMS

It's Important How We Take The Hits Of Life

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My problem may seem trivial to you but it is breaking my heart.

Ever since I can remember I have looked forward to the biggest social event of a teenager's life — the Junior - Senior Prom. I used to dream about what I would wear and how I would have my hair fixed. I even planned things to say, and how to say goodnight to my folks when we left the house.

Well, all my dreams are shattered because nobody has asked me to go. All my friends have been invited to go and I've been hoping that maybe a few of the boys who have been pleasant to me were just bashful, and holding off. But now I am sure I will not be asked at all.

How can I hold back the tears when I hear the girls discussing their gowns and all the last minute details? I hate for them to pity me but I am sure they are doing that right now. Please give me some help. I am — Crushed

Dear Crushed: If you knew of the number of letters I have received similar to yours you wouldn't feel so "alone." And this is one of the sad things about proms or any special event where some people are bound to be left out. It DOES hurt.

But it isn't the end of the world, Honey. You will survive the blow and it will fade from memory. Life can be tough and disappointments and heartaches come to everyone sooner or later. Nobody escapes. So consider this disappointment as one of the trials that must be faced. And remember, it's not what happens to us but how we take it that counts.

Dear Ann Landers: It's obvious that you don't know anything about brewing tea — or the proper use of teabags.

When a woman wrote and asked what to do with the sloppy-looking thing, you said a guest should not be faced with the problem — that the hostess should remove the tea bag in the kitchen.

The idea of the tea bag is so that each person can brew tea to his own taste. Some people like it weak, and others like it brisk. What sense is there in having a tea bag it it's going to be removed in the kitchen? It's a good thing you aren't the food editor or you'd starve to death. — Tea Lover

Dear Lover: Many food editors who are not starving to death wrote to tell me I was off base with my answer. Your letter, however, was the sweetest. Thank you. So, three lashes with a wet tea bag for me. And thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I have been a widow for ten years. The man next door lost his wife about a year ago. Our relationship has always been a pleasant one. A few months ago this man began to show an interest in me. He began by inviting me to an art exhibit, along with his sister and brother-in-law. We had a delightful evening.

He invited me to other affairs after that, usually with his sister and brother - in - law along, but sometimes alone. I got the definite impression that his fondness for me was increasing and that he would ask me to marry him. I would have said yes.

Suddenly he stopped calling and it was as if he had dropped off the planet. I thought perhaps he might be ill, so I called him. He said, bluntly, "My sister felt I was becoming too interested in you and that people were talking. I thought it best to terminate the relationship."

I am heartsick. What do you suggest: — M.R.T.

Dear M. R. T.: A man who could be so easily influenced by his sister is no red-hot bargain. You've lost nothing, believe me.

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. ANN LANDERS' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive your copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BIG CHEESE

MADISON Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Cheesemakers Association has asked the legislature to spend $35,000 to help pay for a 24-000-pound cheddar cheese for display at the World's Fair in New York next year. The cheese — 9½ feet in diameter and 7 feet high — would be billed as the world's largest.

It would be made in Denmark — Wisconsin, this is.

STILL ONLY SLIGHT

Fallout Level In U.S. Increases, But Not Deadly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear fallout levels probably will be heavier this year than last but exposure is still too slight to cause concern, the Federal Radiation Council reported Friday.

The council blamed the increased fallout levels largely on Soviet nuclear testing which dumped large amounts of fallout materials into the atmosphere last year.

Council spokesmen estimated that the fallout radiation dosage to new bone formed this year would come to perhaps only a fourth of the radiation that bone would receive from naturally occurring background radiation from earth.

Still the increase in terms of Strontium 90 was estimated to be twice the levels of last year, four times the levels of 1961.

Even then the increase would not change the risks of leukemia and bone cancer issued in last year's report, partly because last year's estimates were high and because the current exposure is still slight.

Those estimates held that there might be up to 40 deaths of bone cancer and leukemia a year that could be attributed to fallout radiation against some 1,400 deaths a year that might be attributed to natural background radiation.

The council reported that the Soviet Union's nuclear-test program last year had produced a total yield of 180 megatons of explosive capacity and that a third of this was in fission explosions, the kind that produces fallout materials.

The United States conducted tests in the Pacific in 1962 with a total yield of 37 megatons of which 16 megatons produced radioactive fallout, about a fourth the fallout production of the Soviet Union.

Spokesmen indicated that the possible long-term genetic effects of last year's testing would be about twice that noted last year largely because longer-lived radioactive elements are involved.

One product of last year's tests Carbon 14 will be a long time in raining down out of the atmosphere. Once in the earth, it has a long life, losing half of its radioactivity in 5,760 years.

Because of this, a council spokesman said, the risk to the next generation stated in last year's report would be doubled. That risk was one chance in a million of a gross physical or mental defect attributable to fallout.

Spokesmen acknowledged that the council had hurried publication of its report, approved last Wednesday, to make data available before scheduled congressional hearings on fallout Monday.

Why Grow Old

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is often a puzzle when we see adults and children who look so very healthy when we know that they have little money to spend on food. We wonder how they do it and what they eat. Here are a few of the answers.

Many people shun food items which should be a part of their everyday diet for more expensive, exotic and more highly seasoned foods. The lowly dried bean is one of these. It is a splendid source of calcium, phosphorous, iron, manganese and copper. It also gives you vitamins.

Whole what is high in phosphorous, copper, iron, manganese and also has some calcium and iodine content.

Oatmeal gives you iron, manganese, iodine, phosphorous and calcium.

IRON WARDS OFF ANEMIA

Molasses gives you phosphorous, calcium, manganese and it is a rich source of iron. Carrots, lettuce, cabbage and all of the green are very valuable but inexpensive foods. Brown rice, liver, eggs and milk rate tops, but are a bit more expensive than some of the foods above. Powdered milk may be the answer if your family drinks a lot of it.

Phosphorous affects the bones, teeth, glands and muscles and is thought to be especially happy in its effect on the nervous system. It has also been thought by some that this mineral is beautifying to the hair.

We all know that anemia will result unless we have enough iron. Here are a few of the richest sources: egg yolk, dried lima beans, liver, beef, oysters, molasses, whole wheat, oatmeal, dates, raisins, prunes, spinach, green peas, brown rice, beets, mushrooms, lettuce, strawberries and graham flour.

Don't pass up these foods which are so vital to your health and good looks.

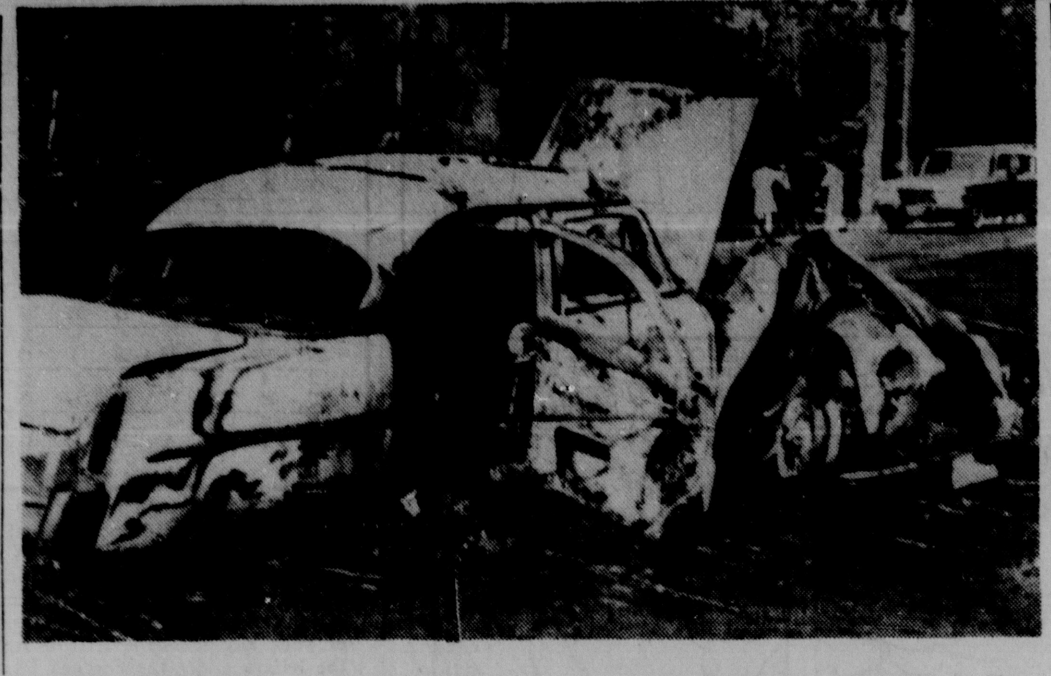
Writer Of Popeye Sailor Man Dies

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alfred Baldwin Koppel, 65, the man who wrote "Popeye The Sailor Man," died of a heart attack Friday at work.

He also wrote "That Old Red Flannel Shirt My Father Wore," which was featured by the Happiness Boys in the early days of radio, and "Singapore Sal," one of the first songs to be used in motion pictures.

Koppel had worked for many years in the offices of song writer Irving Caeser.

He was born May 6, 1898. He is survived by his widow, Laura. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.



SEVEN PERSONS including three children died in Cornwall, Conn. Thursday afternoon as a sports car and sedan collided. Six died in the flames and the seventh en route to a hospital in Torrington. All the dead were Torrington residents. (AP Wirephoto)

Here's A Letter For Parents And Children

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have followed your column for years and have quietly applauded your advise to teen-agers. In raising my own daughter I went through all the normal trials and tribulations. Half the time I had a deep sense of failure.

Our daughter is now married and lives 800 miles away. We correspond regularly. Her last letter made me so happy I want to share part of its contents with you. You may publish it to let other parents know that the long hard fight they put up to raise good children is well worth the effort:

"Dear Mama:

Since I have been married, and now that I am approaching parenthood, I've done a lot of thinking. To you and Daddy I want to say 'thank you.' I don't believe any child ever really appreciates its parents while they are under the same roof. First, I want to thank you for being a good husband and wife to each other. Mom, by just being you, you taught me so much about being a good wife without saying a word. If I can be just half the mother to my children as you were to me, I'll be satisfied. I mean all the love and attention, and even all the "hounding" you did when you thought it necessary to get after me about brushing my teeth, practicing the piano, and going to church fellowship. For teaching me right from wrong, for teaching me to love and to share. And for giving me faith when everything seemed lost, I thank you with all my heart. I love both you and Daddy very, very much."

That's it, Abby. Can you blame me for being —

A PROUD MAMA

DEAR PROUD: Certainly not. And the pride you feel at this moment is well deserved. Congratulation!

DEAR ABBY: The girls in my department got together and gave our foreman a surprise party for his 50th birthday. We had a birthday cake and all pitched in to buy him a wallet. After we sang "Happy Birthday" we lined up to give him a kiss. When it was my turn, I offered him my cheek. He said he didn't want THAT kind of a kiss from me. Abby, he is a grandfather and I am only 19, and I wouldn't think of kissing him on the lips. Now every time he sees me he kiddingly tells me I "owe" him a kiss and he makes a grab for me. I feel so self-conscious around him I find myself dodging him. Am I being childish? How can I keep him in his place?

OLD-FASHIONED

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: You can keep him in his place by "kiddingly" calling him "Grandpa." I don't think you're being childish — I think you'be being wise.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning a party to which I would like to invite a sister - in - law of mine who is separated from her husband. Another one of my sisters-in - law says she will not come if the one who is separated from her husband is invited. I do not want to cause hard feelings. I want them both. What should I do?

PUZZLED RELATIVE

Dear PUZZLED: Invite the one who is separated from her husband. The OTHER sister - in - law has no business putting you on the spot.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LENA: To remind your husband not to lift those heavy tool boxes, label them HIS and HERNIA.

For a personal, unpublished answer to your letter, write ABBY, in care of News-Star.

Art Objects Said Stolen

NEW YORK (UPI)—An important Picasso sculpture and at least six other art objects valued at more than $7,000 have been stolen from Manhattan art galleries in the past two weeks, the Art Dealers Association of America announced Friday.

Gilbert Edelson, secretary of the association, said there has been a "wave" of petty thefts from art galleries in the past year. He said the recent thefts of six small bronzes and a drawing indicated an intensification in the activities of art thieves.

The Galerie Chalette put out a flyer Friday advertising the loss of a $5,000 statuette by Pablo Picasso on May 21. The 10-inch nude figure was removed from an unlocked glass case.

Financier, Adviser Having 'Checkup'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bernard Baruch, 93, multi-millionaire financier and adviser to presidents, is in New York Hospital for a "routine checkup," a hospital spokesman disclosed Friday.

Baruch was admitted to the hospital last week. It was uncertain how long the elder statesman would remain.

The hospital spokesman said the checkup was "strictly routine" and that Baruch was planning a trip to Europe this summer.

PROTEST SUCCESSFUL

Argentine 'Life' Halted By Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Argentine business and industrial life slowed to a virtual halt Friday as a 24-hour general strike by Peronist labor unions protesting unemployment proved almost 100 per cent successful.

There were no reports of violence or disturbances and the government made no attempt to interfere.

However, with one eye on the strike, the government also kept a careful watch for possible trouble from diehard anti-Peronists in the military ranks.

Railroad and port traffic halted at midnight. There were no buses or trucks on the roads. Factories closed.

The 2.5-million member General Confederation of Labor, dominated by followers of former dictator Juan D. Peron, did not interfere with operation of hospitals or such services as lights, gas, water and telephones.

The calm was in stark contrast with battling between police and workers Thursday night. About half a dozen demonstrators were injured by tear gas and fire hoses during marches by about 12,000' persons.

The CGT called the strike to climax a "week of protest" against unemployment estimated at about 700,000 and a sky-rocketing cost of living which has squeezed the working man's standard of living.

It was the most successful work stoppage since October 1955 — a week after Peron was overthrown.

Although it was peaceful, rumors circulated that high military men might use it to cover a move against President Jose Maria Guido in order to halt the scheduled July 7 presidential election.

Brig. Eduardo McLoughlin, secretary of the air force, and army commander in chief Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania visited garrisons to reassure uneasy personnel that "elections will be held as planned.

Ongania also declared formally, "I am not and will not be a candidate of any political party."

There had been reports he might be a compromise choice if voters fail to give any candidate a clear majority.

HE SCOOTS AROUND

MADISON (AP) — When Bruce Mohs applied for a motor vehicle license he was asked what kind of a vehicle he wanted it for.

"Here it is," he said, as he hoisted a gadget to the counter. It was his home-made, collapsible, 35-pound, 25-mile per hour motor scooter.

Mohs explained he carries the scooter around in his airplane for trips to and from airports.

Friend's Lynching Affected Outlook Of Negro Leader

By BEN THOMAS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The lynching of a close family friend years ago in a small community 80 miles east of Jackson left vivid memories with a small Negro boy.

Later, after Army overseas service during World War II, he returned to his home state with a burning conviction to gain equal rights for Negroes.

Medgar Evers, now 37 and Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is helping to guide the Negro's desegregation fight in Mississippi's capital city.

In an interview, Evers recalled the lynching at Decatur in Newton County.

Evers said the victim, Albert Tangle, was lynched in 1939 for allegedly using insulting language toward a white woman.

'The man's clothing remained in the field where it occurred," he said. "For a long time, there were still shreds of cloth lying about. I used to see them when I went hunting and I always remembered."

During his nine years a NAACP field secretary (he is one of the organization's 100 salaried workers), Evers has been in constant hot water not only with white persons determined to continue segregation policies but with many members of his own race.

He was convicted of contempt three years ago for saying a state judge's court was a "mockery of judicial justice." The Mississippi Supreme Court reversed the conviction but in a blistering decision it labeled Evers' statement intemperature, unwarranted and false in several respects.

Percy Greene, editor of a weekly Negro newspaper and himself a Negro, brands Evers a "fanatic and a fool." Greene once charged that Evers had planned to organize Mississippi Negroes into a Mau Mau society similar to the African terrorist group which opposed British rule.

Evers denied the charge, saying, "I don't believe in violence either by whites or Negroes. That is why I am working tirelessly with the NAACP in a peaceful legal struggle for justice."

But Evers' oldest child is named after the leader of the now defunct African Mau Mau — Jomo Kenyatta. Darrell Kenyatta Evers is now 10 years old.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

BROWNISH, SCALY SPOTS

Most of us will develop flat, dry, scaly, brownish lesions on the skin after age 50. They are called senile keratoses and usually appear on the exposed parts of the body. Persons with reddish hair, dry skin, and a tendency toward freckling are more susceptible than are those with darker complexions.

Except for their unsightly appearance, these patches may exist for years without causing trouble. But they can become cancerous and, as a result, should be watched carefully. Malignancy is suspected when they begin to grow, peel, and fail to heal or become surrounded by a reddened inflamed base. Thickening or roughening of the lesion may be a meaningful sign. At any rate consult your physician if these growths become warty - like or larger.

Anyone with senile keratoses should avoid excessive sunshine, [illegible] and dryness. Wear appropriate clothing such as a brimmed hat and gloves. Walk on the shady side of the street. Keep the skin soft with oils and ointments which also will help protect the epidermis.

There are several ways to remove the lesions and they ought to be eradicated when they pose a cosmetic problem.

Surgical excision is done when there is any question about the diagnosis. This is wise because the removed lesion can be sent to the laboratory for microscopic examination. The ensuing cosmetic results are good and there is no doubt about the wisdom of eliminating the kerotosis if it proves to be malignant.

WHIRLING SENSATION

C. V. B. writes: My husband has been having dizzy spells on arising from his bed but not when on his feet. The doctor has diagnosed it as vertigo. Please explain the difference between dizziness and vertigo.

REPLY

A true vertigo is a particular type of dizziness in which the individual develops a sensation as if the room were turning around when the eyes are closed or that he is spinning in space when they are open. This is in contrast to other forms of dizziness in which the individual feels lightheaded, giddy, or as if walking on straw or descending rapidly in an elevator. Send stamped, self - addressed envelope for leaflet on dizziness.

LAUGHING AND YAWNING

L. K. writes: I'm an 8th grade pupil and our class would like your opinoin on the following question: When you yawn or laugh, does the heart have to work harder or does it benefit from the relaxation of these actions?

REPLY

The heart rate is altered only slightly by a good yawn or laugh.

USELESS KIDNEY

F. F. R. writes: If a kidney quits functioning, will it have to be removed?

REPLY

The answer depends upon the reason why the organ does not function, whether it is producing symptoms, and whether the health of the individual is adversely affected by the condition.

VISION IN ALBINISM

H. H. writes: My son is an albino and his eyesight is very poor. Is this due to his condition?

REPLY

Yes, because the albino has a deficiency of pigment and this condition often is associated with lowered visual acuity and refractive errors.

Negro Principal Resigns Post; Claims Threat

WINNSBORO (Special) — Principal E. J. Blount of Waverly Negro High School has resigned and told Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department that five white men who beat him told him to quit or be killed it was reported.

School superintendent M. D. Peel accepted Blount's resignation Thursday. Peel said that he had advised Blount to resign, but did not request that he do so.

The sheriff's department reported it received a call from Blount at 7:30 p.m. May 18, saying he had been beaten.

Deputies Ray Cureington and Claude Fray investigated the report, and found a card said to be a Ku Klux Klan card by Blount's daughter, Della Fay. She had torn up the card.

Blount told deputies he could not identify the man who allegedly attacked him about 6:45, beat him with a leather strap, and torn a telephone from the wall.

The sheriff's department is continuing its investigation.

Man Fined Here For Barbituate

A Tennessee man, Bill Essary, was fined $100 in Fourth District Court Friday for illegal possession of a barbituate.

Essary, of 222 Cleveland St., Martin, Tenn., was fined an additional $25 for disturbing the peace.

Judge Jesse S. Heard fined a Ruston man, John T. Johnson, 111 Hilly Ave., $300 and costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages. Johnson, a second offender, was also sentenced to 125 days in the parish jail on the violation.

Five others were fined for DWI, while bond was called on Lucian H. Prious Jr., 101 Fortune Dr., Monroe, on the count. Three cases of DWI were continued without date, one man reset for trial on the charge and the count against James V. Garner, 102 Benton Dr., West Monroe, was nolle prossed.

Those fined include Granville H. Pankey, 2804 Dick Taylor St., $300 and costs; Glenn M. Thompson, 118 Westwood Dr., West Monroe, $300 and costs; Fred Powell, Rt. 4, Box 85, West Monroe, $300; Gene G. Hallman, Shreveport, La., $300, and Marvin Dean McBee, Rt. 1, Ruston, $300 and costs.

Trial date for a Winnsboro man, John C. Cook, was reset for June 28 on a DWI charge. Other DWI counts continued were against Minnie B. Martin, Rt. 2, Box 110, West Monroe; Willie L. Martin, 2300 Jonesboro Rd., West Monroe, second offense; and Rurel Rathmuel Wood, Rt. 1, Eros.

A Fairbanks woman, Florence C. Clarke, was fined $25 and costs for reckless driving, while the same count against Negro Abe McFarland Jr., 2309 Burg Jones Ln., was continued until June 28. A warrant was ordered obtained for Spencer Ware Jr., 420 Benson St., West Monroe, charged with reckless driving. A similar count against Larry J. White, 2710 Lee Ave., was continued until June 14.

In other action, Judge Heard set June 14 as the trial date for a prisoner from the Parish penal farm, Robert E. Elliott, charged with simple escape. Other counts handled include two disturbing the peace counts handled, along with minor driving violations such as no chauffeurs license, no driver's license, simple obstruction of the highway, switched license plates, and failure to yield right - of-way.

THE FIRST Billups service station for this area was opened yesterday. Located at 902 Winnsboro road, the station will be managed by Billy Ray Brown. It is ultra modern in every respect. (Staff Photo)

McCarthy, Jr., Arlington, Tex.; three sisters, Mrs. Eloise Miller, Covington, La., Mrs. Wade Jolliff, Shreveport, and Mrs. Katherine Bosbeshel, San Antonio, Tex.; and three grandchildren.

Court Rules On Letters To The Editor Attack

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Supreme Court decided Friday a Winchester newspaper does not have to publish letters to the editor which are sharply critical of President Kennedy, his family, and other public persons.

The court made its ruling on a suit brought by Herbert Lord, Winchester attorney, against Richard A. Hakanson, publisher, of The Winchester Star, and Paul Sullivan, onetime editor of the weekly.

Lord brought the suit seeking a court order to compel the newspaper to publish his letters without editing or deleting names.

President Soon To Sign Proposal Retiring $1 Bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy soon will sign legislation empowering the government to retire all present $1 bills from circulation and replace them with a new kind of $1 bill.

The new bills will be backed by gold. Those now in circulation are backed by silver. The changeover, which probably will not take place before late 1964 or 1965, will "unfreeze" big stocks of government-owned silver that must be held now for currency backing.

The object is to avoid need for the Treasury to go into a high-priced market for coins. Rapid development of a huge vending machine business has increased for coins.

World consumption of silver by industry, silversmiths and photographers is running far ahead of production. The market price in the last 18 months has soared 35 cents an ounce to a level close to the U.S. monetary value of slightly more than $1.29 an ounce.

Treasury officials had warned Congress that if the government was forced to buy silver buillion for coinage, the added market demand could push the price above $1.29 an ounce. Then, it would be difficult for the Treasury to keep its present $1 bills, or "silver certificates," in circulation.

Holders would find it worthwhile at those prices to exchange their certificates for the Treasury's silver—at a rate of about ¾ of an ounce of silver for every $1 bill. Moreover, if the market price cleared above the $1.38 monetary value of silver coins, it would then become profitable to melt down coins for the silver in them.

In avoiding these dangers, the new law will end a modified policy of bi-metallism that was adopted with the enactment of the Silver Purchase Act of 1934. That 29-year-old law — now obsolete—was designed to aid western miners by raising the price of silver from depression levels.

The new $1 bills, like all federal reserve notes, will be backed by one-fourth of their value in gold.

C. L. Upton, 70, Dies Friday At Jonesboro

JONESBORO (Special) — C. L. Upton, 70, died at his home in Jonesboro around 2:30 p.m. Friday after an illness of several months. Among his survivors are a son and two sisters living in Monroe.

Funeral services will be held 10 a.m. Monday at Beech Springs Baptist Church near Quitman with the Rev. Loy Baird officiating. Burial will be in Beech Springs Cemetery under the direction of Edmonds Funeral Home in Jonesboro.

Mr. Upton was a retired farmer and a veteran of World War One.

His survivors include his widow, Mrs. Evie Upton of Jonesboro; two sons, Charles Upton, Monroe; Clyde Upton, Jonesboro; six daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Sanders, Mrs. Evelyn Freeman, both of Jonesboro; Mrs. Effie Katherine Futrell, Quitman; Miss Edith Upton, Shreveport; Mrs. Helen Graham, Brownsburg, Ind.; Mrs. Muriel Kramer, Anchorage, Alaska; one brother, J. D. Upton, Delhi; six sisters, Mrs. Roma Nelson, Mrs. Ruby Dyer, both of Monroe; Mrs. Ellie Warren, El Dorado, Ark.; Mrs. Ruth Harville, New Orleans; Mrs. Mary McNair, Sicily Island; Mrs. Sara Yates, Delhi; 17 grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at the funeral home from 10 a.m. Saturday until time for services.

FANCY MEETING YOU

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Detective Joseph Kelly of the forgery squad really put his heart into his work when he was assigned to bring in a rubber check artist. The fellow was signing his worthless checks with the name "Joseph Kelly."

Kelly—the real one, arrested Kelly—the bogus one, at his home. Reported the detective: "When I flashed my badge and introduced myself as Joe Kelly, the detective, the man grinned and shook his head in disbelief. "Well, how about that? he said."

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP)—The broadest advance in many weeks boosted butcher hog prices as much as 75 cents a hundredweight Friday and the top to $18, another high for the year.

With demand very active for the offerings of 5,000 head, mixed No. 1 and 2 grades brought $17.75-18 for 190-225 lb weights. Shipper accounts took about 70 percent of the supply and paid the top fairly freely. Mixed 1-3 grades in the 190-270 lb range cleared at $16.75-17.75. Heavier mixed 2s and 3s topped at $16.75.

Demand was not more than moderately active in the slaughter steer trade and prices there were steady to 25 cents lower at $23.75-24 for a few loads of mostly prime to prime and $23.50-23.75 for mixed high choice and prime. Choice grade reached $23.25 and the good $22.25.

Heifers were steady at $20.50-23.25 for good to high choice.

There were no sales in the sheep market. Offerings were only 100 head.

Stocks Rise Sharply In Active Trade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks rose sharply in active trading Friday, paced by motors, electronics and drugs.

Some profit taking occurred in the early part of the last hour, but a spurt of buying near the bell managed to pull a number of issues back up around their highs.

Dow-Jones industrials rose 4.46 to a new 1963 high of 726.96, just 7.95 below the all time peak set in December 1961. Meanwhile, Standard & Poor's more comprehensive 500 stock index jumped 0.47 to a new high of 70.80.

Trading swelled to 4,680,000 shares from 4,320,000 shares Wednesday. Advances again outnumbered declines nearly 2 to 1 with 706 issues moving higher and 377 declining. Of the 1,337 issues traded, 121 rose to new 1963 highs and 13 dropped to new lows.

The market's continued strength surprised some brokers since there was nothing unusually bullish in the overnight news picture.

Motors dominated the most active list with Chrysler taking the top position. It was up 2 go a new 1963 high of 63⅞ on a turnover of 150,800 shares.

Steels were fractionally mixed. U. S. Steel and Bethlehem moving ahead while Youngstown and Republic backtracked. Du Pont jumped 2½ in the chemicals where Eastman Kodak slipped ¼ and Union Carbide tacked on 1½.

Sugar shares again came under selling pressure following price cuts made by major refiners. American Crystal dropped 3½, Great Western gave up 1½ and South Puerto Rico Sugar lost 2 on profit taking. The stock had a run up earlier in the week on dividend news.

On the American Exchange prices were irregularly higher on a turnover of 1,350,000 shares compared with 1,290,000 shares Wednesday.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade in the grain futures market was dull Friday but selling pressure was virtually absent and nearly all contracts finished with at least small fractional gains.

Scattered late offerings left wheat slightly easier but it had never been more than small fractions higher at its best. Brokers said speculators in that grain seemed reluctant to alter positions until some more substantial market factors materialize.

There was some commercial buying of corn and soybeans but brokers said the near scarcity of offerings was the most significant factor in those pits.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel lower, July $1.85¼-⅜; corn ⅛-½ higher, July $1.23¼-⅜; oats ⅛-⅜ higher, July 67¼-⅛; rye ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.28-27⅞; soybeans 1⅛-1⅝ higher, July $2.59⅝-¾.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅜ cent a bushel lower, July $1.85¼-⅜; corn ⅛ to ½ higher, July $1.23¼-⅜; oats ⅛ to ⅜ higher, July 67¼-⅛ cents; rye ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, July $1.28-27⅞; soybeans 1⅛ to 1⅝ higher, July $2.59⅝-¾.

Soviets Claim Plans Broken On Laos Plan

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has charged the Indian and Canadian members of the International Control Commission (ICC) have broken the principles of the Geneva accord on Laos, Tass news agency reported Friday.

Tass said the Soviet Foreign Ministry handed draft message listing the violations to Britain. Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the conference which set up the Geneva accords on Laos in 1962.

Tass said the Polish representative on the ICC complained that the "main principles of the commission's activities are being violated.

"Representatives of India and Canada in Laos are trying to settle the questions of major importance by a simple majority disregarding the opinion of the third commission member," it charged.

The Soviet message, according to Tass, said that against the objections of the Polish member two other commission members sent a "permanent group" to the Plain of Jars on April 28.

PLANS SALE OF FIRMS

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)—Representatives of the American and Forign Power Co. said Friday the U.S. firm expects to complete the sale of eight Brazilian subsidiaries to the government "within a month or two."

Lawrence MacQuarrie, chief of A&FP operations in Brazil, said the company expects to receive $135 million for its properties. This figure would include compensation for three other subsidiaries seized by provincial governments.

Deep down

Inside, It's A Volkswagen

A Volkswagen built for 2.

It's the VW Karmann Ghia. It wasn't brought up with the other VWs at all. Ghia of Turin designed it as a runabout. With lines so sculptured half the work has to be done by hand.

So Volkswagen called in one of the finest coachmakers in Europe, Karmann of Osnabruck. Where it takes 185 men for the handwork on the body alone. Every seam is welded, ground down, filed and sanded by hand.

It corners with any sports car. And holds the worst barreltop roads at 70.

But don't let its prima donna look fool you. The engine and chassis are right out of the Volkswagen Sedan. No $100 carburetors. No $40 tuneups.

And the price includes: A defroster for the rear window. Adjustable bucket seats. A sound-proofed interior. Even the electric clock.

All for $2,295.00 for the coupe, $2,495.00 for the convertible. $4,790.00 a set.

Pope's Illness Chronology On

VATICAN CITY (AP) — In a Vatican medical bulletin Tuesday it was made known for the first time that Pope XIII had been ill for a year. His illness became known publicly only in November. Here is the chronology since then:

Nov. 28, 1962: General audience canceled; the Pope reported to have influenza;

Nov. 29, 1962: Vatican announced he was suffering a gastric disorder.

Dec. 1, 1962: His condition reported improving;

Dec. 2, 1962: resumed normal activities, including a general audience.

Feb. 2, 1963; reported suffering a cold.

Feb. 3: blessed crowd from behind curtained window because of cold.

March 18: tripped on steip while mounting his throne during an audience. He fell to the floor but was not hurt.

May 8: reported continuing duties but attended regularly by doctors.

May 21: suffered another crisis in his fight against illness: given blood transfusions.

May 22: Canceled audience because of deteriorating health.

May 23: reported struggling against serious relapse and given massive transfusions; audiences canceled.

May 26: Canceled Sunday appearance at Vatican apartment window and reportedly gravely weakened by loss of blood.

May 28: illness revealed to be gastric heteroplasia, an abnormal stomach growth; also revealed to have been suffering from it for a year.

May 29: Vatican and doctors reported him showing improvement and that Pope hoped to live to see end of Ecumenical Council.

May 31: took sudden turn for worse and lost consciousness at nightfall.

Pool Patrons Given Warning On Valuables

Monroe police urged Twin City residents Friday to leave their valuables at home and lock personal possession in lockers to avoid thievery at local swimming pools.

Police Chief James C. Kelly pointed out that since the pools opened Thursday, some $44 and several articles of clothing have been stolen from the Swayze Natatorium in Forsythe Park. Kelly said that Thursday, $4 was taken from an unlocked locker.

Friday, Jack Blanks, reported that the lock was broken off one of the lockers and around $40 and several items of clothing taken.

Blanks said that $30, a pair of shoes and shorts belonging to Mrs. Jimmie Burks, 1319 N. 6th St., West Monroe, were taken, along with $2 and a pair of shorts and a blouse belonging to Mrs. J. B. Cheeks. A purse, containing $8, and belonging to Linda Willingham, of 713 Lakeshore Dr., was also stolen from the Forsythe Park pool.

Monroe police Friday were probing several other minor thefts. Dorothy Smith, 1108 S. 3rd St., reported that a toy and a pair of children's shoes were stolen from her car while it was parked at Baker's Parking lot Friday. Mrs. J. R. Strickland, of 215 Peach St., reported the theft of a fishing rod, a spin casting reel and a 17-jewel, yellow-gold ladies wristwatch, from her home. The items were valued at around $100.

Meanwhile, West Monroe officers booked a 42-year-old Negro, Willie Hiley, Rt. 2, Box 328, West Monroe, for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages and reckless driving late Friday. Hiley, apprehended in the 600 block of Coleman St., was booked at 8:15 p.m.

A 23-year-old Monroe man was being held for medical observation at a local hospital Friday night after having two separate auto accidents in West Monroe in the same day. Sonny Hoffler, of 916 St. John St., ran into a ditch in the 1000 block of N. 7th Street Friday afternoon and was taken to Glenwood Hospital for treatment and released, police said. Shortly before 10 p.m., he crashed into a car parked on Drew Street. The parked car, belonging to George Fields, 316 Drew St., West Monroe, was knocked 36 feet by the impact and crashed into a telephone pole. Hoffler once again was carried to the hospital.

Banquet Slated; Directors Named By WM Jaycees

West Monroe Jaycees Friday elected four directors and set plans for an installation banquet next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Highland Park Country Club.

Re-elected to a directorship was Gene Newsom, while first terms were assigned Bill Norris, John Cordaro and J. P. McKee, replacing Jim Watts, Gerald Arrant and Bob Kidd.

New president Gary Burford announced plans for the banquet, which include appearances by these installing officers:

Burford will be installed by State Jaycee President Charles Hickman of Alexandria, while past State President Billy Hargiss of Monroe will install new vice presidents Ray Gable and Jim Watts.

Bastrop's Layton Stephenson, regional vice president, is scheduled to install the directors, and Monroe Jaycee President Jack Murphy will install West Monroe secretary-treasurer Billy Watson.

Negro Students Demonstrate In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — About 100 Negro students, ranging in age from 9 to 18, demonstrated Friday against segregation of public facilities in Louisiana's capital city.

The students, most of them from Capitol Junior High School and Capitol Elementary School, marched through the streets in the vicinity of the schools singing and chanting slogans, "Segregation must go," "We want freedom," "God Bless America."

The Rev. Arthur Jelks, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the demonstration was planned at a five-hour meeting Thursday night in his home.

He said other demonstrations would be staged Saturday "in various parts of the city." Jelks declined to detail the plans because he said stores and other targets of the intended demonstrations might close to avoid them.

The student demonstration coincided with the first meeting of a 3-member bi-racial committee appointed by the city-parish council Tuesday to seek solutions to the citys racial problems.

The committee, composed of 15 white and 15 Negro ministers and businessmen, went into executive session to organize itself.

Liquor Seized Near Winnsboro In Dry Parish

WINNSBORO (Special) — Franklin Parish Sheriff's Department and State Police raided a grocery store one half mile north of Winnsboro and confiscated a quantity of beer, wine and whiskey.

Franklin parish is dry.

A. J. Earle, operating the store said to be owned by Purvis Braswell and J. W. McCain, was charged with illegal possession of alcoholic beverages for resale and placed under $500 bond.

Sheriff A. J. Stephens said that "the sale of alcoholic beverages will not be tolerated."
